Household Hints, Fashions and Recipes

Spring cleaning may be an evil, but it is a very difficult one for many housekeepers to escape, for it is really essential from the hygienic point of view that carpets should be taken up and beaten and cleaned, heavy curtains taken down and cleaned before being put away for the summer; repapering, painting and white-washing done where necessary, floors stained and repolished, etc., only to mention a few items to which attention must be paid.

The work should be arranged in a methodical fashion; also arrangements should be made to have the cleaning carried out while the family is from home, for it is manifestly unfair to expect the servants to get through the work of housecleaning and have their ordinary work to do at the same time.

If, however, it is impossible for all the members of the family to be away the rooms should be done systematically, so that the whole house shall not be in a state of upheaval, for, although a man may appreciate the fact that his house is dainty and attractive in appearance, he usually fails to realize that a certain amount of work and trouble is essential to keep it up to the height of perfection to which he has grown accustomed.

There is one great advantage of a spring cleaning, and that is the necessity for going through all the drawers and making a clearance. Every member of the household should make a point of discarding everything for which he or she has no use, for there is nothing more inimical to real tidiness than the hoarding of quantities of unnecessary and often utterly useless garments or knickknacks. It is well to remember in this connection that many charitable organizations are glad to have and are prepared to collect unconsidered trifles in the way of clothing, etc.

There should be a sufficient supply of rubbers, dusters, house flannel, dusting sheets, scrubbing brushes, brooms, ammonia (which is simply invaluable for all kinds of cleaning), soap, metal and furniture polish, etc., so that everything will be on hand with which to do the work. Remember to procure the requisite outside help if there is more work than one woman can reasonably get through with. Last, but by no means least, provide those who are working with kneelers for use when scrubbing.

All the blankets should be washed and those that are not required put away in tin lined boxes, with cushion strewn between the folds. The mattresses, pillows and bolsters, falling more through cleaning, must be well beaten and brushed in the open air, while the mattress covers, etc., should be washed before being put back on the beds. The bedsteads must be thoroughly scrubbed and the ironwork rubbed over with paraffin.

All pictures, etc., must be taken from the walls. The walls should be brushed down with a soft broom round which has been tied a clean duster, and where necessary they should be rubbed down with a stiff douch of flour and water. All the furniture, of course, should, if possible, be removed from the room, being well dusted and washed with vinegar and water.

The carpets should be lifted and beaten and the floors well scrubbed. First brush the floors well to remove all dust and have ready two pails of warm water. Make a mixture with one part of lime, two parts of soft soap and three parts of silver sand and scrub the floor with this. Place a little of the mixture on the boards, rub thoroughly with a wet scrubbing brush, rinse with clean water and wipe dry. This is particularly good for whitening the boards.

It's a Safe Playground For Baby.
Keep the baby from bumping his head against tables and chairs with one of these luxurious play boxes lined with shirred silk over cotton batting. The play box has no bottom and moves readily on casters, and the sides are too high for the small occupant to climb or fall over. When not in use this playground may be folded up flat.

For Icing.
When the icing becomes too hard to spread easily, soften it by adding a little water drop by drop. Beat it constantly while adding the water.
If the icing is too thin it may be thickened by adding powdered sugar.

Matchmaking.
"Now they claim that the human body contains sulphur."
"In what amount?"
"Oh, in varying quantities."
"Well, that may account for some girls making better matches than others."—Pittsburgh Post.

FIG DAINTIES.

Novel Ways of Using This Popular Fruit.

English Fig Pudding.—Mix together two-thirds of a cupful of chopped suet, one cupful finely chopped figs, two and a half cupfuls of breadcrumbs, a half cupful cocoa, one cupful sugar, a quarter teaspoonful of salt, a teaspoonful orange or vanilla extract and then three well beaten eggs. Put into a well greased mold and steam three and a half hours. Turn out and serve hot with a ginger sauce or cold with a garnish of whipped sweetened and flavored cream.

Chocolate Fig Pie.—Beat the yolks of four eggs, add one full cup of sugar and stir well together. Add eight heaping tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate and beat again. Put into a saucepan and as it heats stir in slowly two tablespoonfuls of flour dissolved in a quarter cupful of cold milk. As it begins to thicken take from the fire and add one large cupful chopped figs. Line two pie tins with pastry and bake. Then put in the filling and return to the oven a few moments to "set." Beat the whites of the four eggs with four scant tablespoonfuls of sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Spread lightly over the pies. Set back in a coolish oven to puff and brown.

Stuffed Figs.—For this purpose use the bag figs that have not been pressed. Cut a small slit at the stem end of each fig and fill with salted pecans or almonds. Press together and roll in powdered sugar.

Fig Sandwiches.—Chop the figs very fine, add water to make a thin, smooth paste and cook gently until of spreading consistency. Add nut meat chopped fine, with orange juice or extract to flavor, or, if preferred, use grated candied lemon or orange peel, with fresh fruit juice to taste. Spread between thin slices of buttered brown bread cut in fanciful shapes or between thin slices of angel food or sponge cake.

Effective Use of Bordered Material.
Borders this season are not used straight around a skirt. Graceful oblique effects have the preference.

This striped gray and white marquisette is most effectively draped, and the contrast of the dark border and white lace flounce is excellent.

How the Flounce is Used.
There is such a variety of opinion about the best way to use a flounce among the dressmakers this season that one can see almost any kind of experiment, good and bad, among the new models. The majority cling to the feeling that the flounce must be arranged without fullness, so on the new taffeta frocks, as well as the smart little serge and corduroy ones, either five or six flounces are put on without a gathering string and are shaped like petals at the lower edges.

EASTER FASHIONS.

The Bow Blouse Is a Charming Spring Novelty.

A dainty blouse for Easter is called the bow blouse. Made of charmeuse to match the costume with which it is to be worn, the blouse has a velling of nixon in some contrasting color, and between nixon and foundation there is a huge bow in satin of some bright color or which extends across the entire front of the figure. Black blouses in this style have bows of bright gold, royal blue or cerise satin, and very smart they look.

Illustrated is a morning gown of white printed batiste, which is very charming and dainty for summer wear. It is easy to make, and now that the shops are showing such delightful cotton materials a selection for the costume is a real pleasure.

JUDIC CHOLLET.
These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes for the skirt from 22 to 30 inches waist measure and for the jacket in three sizes—small 34 or 36, medium 38 or 40 and large 42 or 44. Send 10 cents each for the patterns to this office, giving numbers—skirt 2313, jacket 706—and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery. When ordering use coupon.

BROKE HER PROMISE.

She Hated to Do It, but Then She Felt That She Was Justified.

A widely known motor racer was asked by a friend if he would be so kind as to allow three young women to accompany him while he was trying out a new racing car.

"Why, I can't be bothered with passengers at a time like that, and especially with women. They always talk to me, and I can't have my mind distracted. It might prove dangerous, you know."

"But these girls won't bother you. I'll tell them not to. One of them is my sister. They are crazy to go; want to say they have ridden with you. You know how girls are."

"Well, if you will tell them they mustn't speak to me while I am driving they may go. They mustn't move around or do anything to distract my attention. You impress this upon them. If they are willing to do this they can go."

The promise was made, and they started. At one place the driver ran over a water guard and there was a tremendous bump. He did not try to look around, as he was going at a rapid rate of speed, but presently he felt a timid touch on his shoulder.

"What is it?" he growled.
A weak little voice answered him: "Really, I hate awfully to bother you. I know I shouldn't and promised not to. But I feel I must tell you Helen isn't with us now."—Harper's Magazine.

The Proof.
"Apropos of international marriages," said a Texas congressman, "I am reminded of a saying of Viscount Foligno."
"These American heiresses," grumbled the viscount to his friend, the Chevalier Tete de Veau, "are a cold, calculating, designing lot."
"Yes?" said Tete de Veau.
"Yes," said Foligno. "I've just been accepted by Miss Billie Nare and, though Billie is worth twice as much as Lotta Golde, the latter declines positively to release me from our engagement."—Washington Star.

PRACTICE IN ALL COURTS
ABSTRACTS A SPECIALTY
Residence at Fairview.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.
