

LOCAL NEWS AND TOWN HAPPENINGS

H. E. Willson has his new tonorial parlors installed in the building formerly occupied by Schweitzer & Manz. It is a four-chair shop and a credit to Lents.

Prof. Lent has moved his household effects to Fairview, where the family will make their future home. The family went to their new home Saturday, I. F. Coffman taking them in his auto.

Fred Katsky, of the firm of Katsky Bros., is the owner of a new Flanders roadster. The new car carries only two passengers and is of 30-horse power. A new garage has been completed for the car.

Mrs. Walter Webb is visiting with relatives and friends at Womic, Or. She will be absent about three weeks.

Mrs. George Wise is recovering from an attack of whooping cough.

Chas. Shanda, a well known local musician, has been suffering from poison oak, his eye being afflicted.

J. Woods Smith, democratic candidate for state senator from Multnomah county, was in Lents the latter part of the week interviewing local voters and getting the pulse of the public prior to the opening of the campaign. Mr. Smith says that he is going to make an honest effort to secure the election and believes he will be successful.

Schweitzer & Manz, the well known tailors are now comfortably located in their quarters in the Hashim building. The firm is pleased with the change and hope to meet all old customers, and as many new ones, in their new location.

C. I. Shaw, of Albany, and B. G. Leedy, of Corvallis, members of the executive committee of the State Grange, were visitors in Lents Saturday. The Herald acknowledges a pleasant call.

Children's Day exercises at the Baptist church Sunday were well attended and an interesting program was rendered.

Four candidates were baptised at the Baptist church Sunday evening, and were fully ordained as members of that church.

C. J. Holoway has opened a store on N. Main St., opposite Saginaw Heights. He will carry a general line of groceries, feed and hay.

The small boy, the fire cracker and cap pistol have been in evidence several days in Lents and served as a reminder of the near approach of July 4th. Some that are not boys have been seen exploding the above mentioned weapons.

E. L. Rayburn & Sons report an excellent trade Monday and Tuesday, the days on which they celebrated the fifth anniversary of the establishment of a merchandise store here. They used a liberal amount of printer's ink, from which they received excellent results.

Mrs. Wm. Heald was the hostess of an afternoon tea party held by the ladies of Shiloh Circle No. 19, L. of G. A. R. The house was appropriately decorated for the occasion in colors of that order and the afternoon was one of extreme pleasure to all in attendance.

Officers of Shiloh Circle No. 19 announce that there will be no meeting of that organization on July 4th.

Various improvements have been made to the public play-ground during the past few days. Other work is to be carried on and it will not be long until the grounds will be in the best of shape and present an attractive appearance.

Guy Rogers, who was one of the graduates of the Lents schools this year, has accepted a position in The Herald office for the summer. Guy has served considerable time as an apprentice and ere long will be a full fledged printer.

Several local people contemplate purchasing automobiles and within a short time Lents will be represented in the chug chug line.

Roy Courtwright, a former well known Lents barber, has accepted a position in the new shop installed by H. E. Willson. Roy has a host of friends in Lents who are glad to learn that he will again be one of us.

Fishing parties are not so numerous as during the early part of the season. We are unable to say whether there is an over supply of fish, or whether the supply does not warrant further efforts.

H. E. Pease—Undertaker—Lents, Phone 3311.

The various couples of newly weds that emanated in Lents last week were given some warm receptions by local kids, young men and others. Some of them who were trying to make their getaway in taxicabs were held up and the bride and groom showered with rice.

H. E. Pease the local undertaker, received this week a photograph of his mother that was taken on the day of her 90th birthday. The aged lady resides at Blair, Nebr., and is still hale and hearty.

If you are having any trouble in receiving The Herald regularly kindly report the same to this office at once. We have added several hundred names to our list during the past few weeks and it is our aim that you receive the paper regularly.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Elliott left Monday evening for their former home in Illinois, where they expect to remain permanently. Mr. Elliot disposed of his clothes cleaning and pressing establishment.

It is said that "Bill" Goggins is contemplating having the entrance to his garage made wider. The reason for this is that he was unable to make the entrance the other night and nearly demolished one side of the building with his auto.

Mrs. W. A. Hall and daughter, Mrs. Fred Geisler, left a few days ago for Union, where they will visit relatives and friends. Union was their former home and they will be gone several weeks.

LENTS I. O. O. F. HAS INTERESTING SESSION

The Lents Lodge of I. O. O. F. held another interesting session Tuesday evening and gave a class of eight candidates the third degree work. The initiatory work was put on by Samarian Lodge No. 2, of Portland, in a manner that was decidedly impressive. At the close of the degree work the lodge members enjoyed light refreshments. The evening was finished in speech-making, with F. R. Peterson as toastmaster. Those who responded were County Commissioner Lightner, the Noble Grand of the visiting lodge; Brother Stringer, librarian of the I. O. O. F. Temple, of Portland; T. J. Kreuder; Chas. Kirtscherman, of Mt. Scott Lodge; I. F. Coffman, O. E. Lent and L. Tussey, who were members of the class, also responded in an excellent manner.

Mail Carriers Will Fly

This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs, Colds, and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. J. F. Davis, Stickney Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or any bronchial affection its unequalled Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at all dealers.

Scales In the House.

Scales in a bedroom are not a novelty in this era of fighting flesh. In the bathroom or bedroom are certified scales of white enamel on which a woman can weigh herself night and morning, before and after meals, sick and well, in her clothes and out of them.

Besides keeping strict tabs on her own weight, her babies are being utterly neglected unless they are brought up now under a weighing regime. Daily charts are kept of the gain or decrease of pounds.

Fascinating are the scales intended for a baby. A favorite gift to the new mother is a pair of scales of white enamel or French gilt, with special contrivances to hold the tiny infants for weighing.

From Paris come the most glorified scales. Some one has invented a pair concealed in a handsome stool, and the woman with the weighing habit can indulge in it without standing up.

WASTE IN APPLE POMACE.

Hand Presses in Ordinary Use Don't Get Out Half the Sugar.

"Johnny, come along. You've been so bad I'm going to lock you up in the cellar."

"Why, ma, you wouldn't have any bad apples down cellar, would you?"

"Certainly not."

"Only good apples go down cellar, don't they?"

"Of course."

"Is it the good apples or the good cellar that makes the bad boy good?"

Here ma's patience became exhausted and Johnny was not only hustled down to darkness, but he got something that kept him warm down there for a long time.

All of which leads up to the point that an apple cellar should be the tidiest and sweetest corner of the house.

Nothing else should ever be stored in it. Its walls should at least be twenty inches thick, and it should have abundant windows to be kept open all summer to draft of air and kept entirely free of any decay. There should be no moldy boards nor any smell of mildew; in other words, the air should be fit to breathe.

When the apples are stored the draft should be stopped, and when steady cold sets in you should shut the cellar tight, and let it stay closed until May. You can place such a cellar as this conveniently under part of your barn, possibly, or under your carriage house, only there should be no stable adjacent. The floor overhead should be covered with autumn leaves, spread thickly.

The thermometer all winter should ment to the floor to keep out rats, and if barrels are used set them up some what from the floor.

Of course every apple grown on the farm will not be worth putting down cellar, but the lower qualities are worth going into cider if they could be so thoroughly pressed as to extract all the sugar instead of leaving a big proportion of it in the pomace.

"Three pounds of sugar to a bushel of apples is a high result with the ordinary hand mills. But with an eighty ton hydraulic press I have been able to recover four gallons of juice from fifty pounds of fruit, double the quantity I could recover with the hand mills, and yet I left in the pulp about 12 per cent of the juice," says Professor W. B. Alwood of the United States department of agriculture.

"Practically 25 per cent of the total weight of apples went out in pomace, or from 4 to 8 per cent of the sugar. With the best power mills under a most efficient working system it is certain that practically 5 per cent of sugar is thrown out in the pomace."

"There are something like 5,000,000 bushels of apples worked up every crop year in New York state alone for byproducts. If we assume that 25 per cent of this fruit will be left as pomace we will have about 625,000,000 pounds of pomace, which will contain 3,000,000 pounds of sugar, or 1,500 tons. Data collected for 1909 indicate that this quantity of pomace is produced and that 5 per cent of this pomace is sugar."

"I am not able to tell how much of this pomace is wholly or partially lost, nor can I tell precisely how to recover all the sugar it contains, as this investigation has just been begun, but I want to emphasize this idea, that this 1,500 tons of sugar, if recovered, would make 3,000,000 gallons of vinegar, which would go a long way toward paying the expense of manning the orchard. One of the largest manufacturers of vinegar in the state told me recently that he expected pure cider vinegar to go to 30 cents wholesale in the next two years.

"In regard to the large amount of sugar that goes out in the pomace as waste, I have never yet seen a manufacturer or a farmer who hauled this pomace so as to recover nearly all the sugar left in it. Thousands of tons of pomace are thrown out without the slightest attempt being made to recover the sugar. Some people put it back on the soil, but it ought not to be put on the soil at all until well tested.

"It has been well established that it can be successfully used for cattle food. In France and England it is fed very successfully. Vermont and Massachusetts experiment stations have also experimented with it and for several years have been feeding it successfully to milk cows."

Doing hard work in a bent or stooping position puts a stitch in the back that is painful. If the muscles have become strained, you can't get rid of it without help. The great penetrating power of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT will appeal to you most strongly at such times, because it is the very thing you need. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.
