GET READY FOR COUNTY FAIR

Lents Grange Will Have Charge of Lents Exhibit at Annual Fair—Exhibits Can be Left With Herald.

It is time that the people of Lents and the farming sections adjacent thereto were getting their exhibits for the coming county fair to be held at Gresham, October 2 to 5. The Lents Grange has made provisions to care for any of the exhibits that may be brought in from the Lents section and will see that they are properly placed and cared for at the fair. Anyone having any article of whatever nature that is fit for exhibit is urged to prepare the same and leave it in charge of the local grange. Any persons having any products or any article that is suitable for exhibit can leave the same at The Herald office where it will be cared for and turned over the grange.

The local grange has assumed the responsibility of providing a good exhibit for Lents at the annual fair, and this together with the fact that this section produces almost everything in the vegetable, fruit and grain line should insure an excellent display.

Farmers, owners of gardens and all others should begin selecting exhibits now. Not only should the exhibits be of good quality, but there should be a good quantity and if Lents is to make a proper showing work should commence immediately.

The coming fair will undoubtedly eclipse any former event and offers an excellent medium of advertising and Lents cannot afford to miss that opportunity. Let's get busy immediately and start the work of collecting a creditable exhibit. Bring your products to The Herald office.

NEW BRIDGE SPANS JOHNSON CREEK

ISIS THEATRE CHANGES HANDS

Well Known and Popular Show House Opened Thursday Evening Under New Management.

The Isis Theatre, Lents' popular moving picture and show house, and one of the best places of its kind in this section, changed hands this week. Mr. Rockwell transferring the same to B. F. Monroe, of Portland.

The new proprietor assumed charge of the place Monday but closed the house Tuesday and Wednesday nights while various improvements were being made. The house was opened Thursday night by the new manager under the most auspicious circumstances, the evening's performance consisting of several reels of the finest motion pictures and a good vaudeville bill by well known artists. Mr. Monroe has been engaged in the show business for a number of years and expects to give the people of Lents a nightly performance equal to any maintained in the city for the same money.

The Isis is the best known place of the kind in the Mt. Scott district and gained that popularity through the untiring efforts of Mr. Rockwell, who is a highly capable man in that line. Not only has Mr. Rockwell made hundreds of friends through his capable management of the show house, but by his upright dealings and general good fellowship and it is with regret that Lents people note his retirement. Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell will continue residents of Lents for a time at least, but expect to locate elsewhere as soon as a suitable place is found. Wherever they go they will carry with them the best wishes of every resident of Lents and this section.

Mr. Monroe, the new manager, has already shown that he will maintain the excellent standard of the Isis, and will improve the same as the occasion demands. He purchased the local house after an inspection of numerous places in the state and elsewhere, and that he located in Lents speaks well for the town and the show-going people. His investment here shows his faith in the town and he is welcomed by Lents citizens.

EXPLAIN ADVANTAGES OF CO-OPERATIVE STORE

B. O. Kane, secretary-treasurer; J. A. Randall, K. S. Ogle and Dr. L. M. Davis, directors of the Albina Co-operative Store, attended a meeting of the Montavilla Board of Trade last night and explained the operation of the Albina store. Mr. Kane said that the co-operative store had been in operation in Albina but six weeks and that it had met with even better success than had been expected.

Mr. Randall gave figures to show that the sales of the Albina co-operative store had steadily increased from the opening day until the average sales per day for last week were above $100, and for Saturday the sales totaled $200. For the first week the average daily sale were a little over 49, and all cash, no credit being given.

The representatives explained in detail the workings of the co-operative store, and pointed out its advantages, suggesting that Montavilla would benefit from such a store by reducing the cost of living. It was further explained that it is hoped to establish a chain of co-operative stores in different portions of the city, including Montavilla, Mount Scott and Vernon, thereby making it possible to purchase in larger quantities.

After considering the co-operative plan for some time, it was decided to invite all the people of Montavilla to a mass meeting next Monday night, when further explanations will be given and effort will be made to start such a store in Montavilla.—Oregonian.

NEW ATHLETIC HALL OPENED

Opening Night Witnesses Fast Boxing Bout, Good Preliminaries—Lou Young Bested By "Kid" Exposito

The opening of the Lents Athletic Club took place in the club hall Monday evening and the opening program was witnessed by a large number of fans who enjoy the various athletic sports.

An excellent program of boxing and wrestling events had been arranged and were pulled off with due precision and order. The main event of the evening was the four-round bout between Lou Young, of Lents, and "Kid" Exposito, a well known lightweight boxer. The bout was good a one and fast from start to finish, resulting in a victory for Exposito, who outpointed and outfought Young in every round except the first. The relative merit of the two men was an unknown quantity to most Lents people, and if ever a match was decided by real merits the Young-Exposito bout was a leader. The first round was somewhat tame, both men playing a careful game, but the last few seconds wound up in good style with honors even.

The second round displayed the merits of both men and was an excellent exhibition of the fist game and both showed up in excellent form. The first half of the round ended in even honors for both, but at the close it was evident that Exposito had a shade the best of the game.

In the third round both men started in earnest and gave an exhibition of the best there was in them. Young showed a cleverness in defensiveness that was not displayed by Exposito, who in turn, showed an aggressiveness that Young was unable to compete with. In fact Exposito landed a blow in the second round that placed Young in an extreme defensive mood, and from that time on until the end of the third Exposito was the aggressor. The last half of the third was clearly his round, but Young was apparently fresh and took his corner in a position to hold his own.

When the fourth was called both men mixed blows right and left but after a few seconds it appeared evident to all that Exposito had Young going and at the close of the round Exposito was not half exerting himself, while Young had spent his energy and science in trying to keep points even. When time was called referee Danny O'Brien tapped Exposito upon the shoulder and declared him winner from the standpoint of aggressiveness and points scored. The decision met with the approval of all so far as the merits were concerned, despite the fact that Lou Young is admired by every Lents resident who knows him.

A two-round boxing event between young Wands and Barker, two local bantam weights, formed an interesting event in the preliminaries. The bout ended in a draw and was an excellent exhibition.

The main feature of the preliminaries was a wrestling match between Walter Arndt, of Portland, and Emil Otto, a Lents boy. One finish fall made up the match and was won by Arndt in 27 minutes of a rattling good exhibition. Arndt is one of the best lightweights on the Pacific coast and won through his superior knowledge of the game. Otto, the local lad showed up in excellent form and clearly demonstrated his superior strength over Arndt but lacked the science and inside knowledge of the mat game. Their exhibition alone was well worth the price of admission.

Young Stevens and Forte also gave a wrestling preliminary, which resulted in an easy victory for the former, each fall requiring less than two minutes.

Among those in attendance were several well known glove and mat artists of Portland, chief among them being Danny O'Brien, who referred the main boxing event in a manner highly satisfactory to all. Danny still has a number of ribs bandaged, as a result of his fight in California with Burns, but is

WILSON CAMPAIGN HATS ARE MUCH IN EVIDENCE

Broad-rimmed, white hats of the Kentucky colonel type now adorn the heads of several Wilson men of Lents. "Mayor" Coffman paid for the first installment as a result of a bet. The new hats have been designated as Wilson campaign hats, and Lents democrats claim to be the first to adopt a campaign hat. "Bill

ROSTAD HOME FROM TRIP

Local Bank Cashier Spends Enjoyable Outing in Various California Points—Still Loves Oregon

H. Rostad, cashier of The Multnomah State Bank, returned the latter part of the week from a two week's visit and outing in San Francisco, Los Angeles and various other California points.

In speaking of his trip Mr. Rostad said: "The trip down the Pacific on the palatial steamer and the enjoyable visits enjoyed in California was one of the most delightful times of my life. In San Francisco I witnessed many interesting scenes, but was somewhat disappointed with the business outlook there. I found many vacant apartment houses and residences and taking everything into consideration San Francisco is not the place of old.

"I made a trip through Salinas Valley to Los Olivos and viewed the extensive oil fields at that point. The trip to Santa Barbara was one of the best events of my journey and that place is one of the most beautiful towns I ever saw. From there I visited Los Angeles, which is undoubtedly a busy and rapidly growing city. New buildings are being erected on every corner and that city presents a much livelier appearance than San Francisco.

"After leaving Los Angeles we visited Santa Monica, Venice and Ocean Park, the latter place being destroyed by fire this week. Long Beach also came in for a part of our time, and is a great beach resort."

Mr. Rostad and friends visited other points of interest. During the trip Henry Harkson, a Portland banker who accompanied him, made arrangements for the establishing of a new state bank at Santa Ynez, Santa Barbara county. Mr. Harkson and associates expect to have the institution ready for business within two months.

Mr. Rostad says that after leaving the cities and irrigated farming sections that California is decidedly dry and barren and that he is of the firm opinion that Oregon has "got 'em all skinned" and is content to remain here.

Mrs. G. W. Hartung, of Missoula, Mont., who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Meyer at Lents Junction, was taken suddenly ill last week and removed to the Good Samaritan hospital where she had a serious operation performed last Saturday. At last reports she was resting as easy as could be expected.

Mr. M. I. Sunday, of Gresham, and Miss Katie Camp, also of Gresham, Ore., were married at the home of Mr. Noble, 107 Seventh Ave., Lents, Sunday at high noon. Lev. Boyd Moore officiating. A wedding lunch was served and a number of relatives and friends enjoyed the occasion. Mr. Sunday will work at his trade and they will make their home among us. Their friends and acquaintances wish them success and much happiness.

Harold Harkson, son of H. Harkson, the well known Portland banker, has joined the force in The Multnomah State Bank, where he will be for a couple of months learning the finer points of the banking business preparatory to going to Santa Ynez, Cal., where his father and associates will start a new bank.

Al. Boland and family returned a few days ago from Albany, where Mr. Boland has been employed in construction work for several weeks.

In the best of spirits and says that he is content to quit the ring and make a mark in the world along other lines. Danny O'Brien is not a pug pugilist as many people think, but is a young man, only 21 years old and should make good in most any line.

Moose, men are already jealous and will soon be decorated in the red bandanas. "Mayor" Coffman has been very liberal in the matter of providing those already here and all Wilson men desiring one of the hats will be supplied by that staunch democrat.
