CHERRYVILLE

(Too late for last week)

It never rains but it pours Yankee Doodle! keep it up!

All the old timers say this weather has got them beat a mile.

Perhaps we will have a spell of good weather after awhile if the weather Master General will get back on his job.

The Murray family returned last week after a week's sojourn up on Wild Cat Mt. where they had been huckle-berrying. They got 30 gallons. Good luck!

Snow has fallen on both Wild Cat and Baldy mountains and they are now coated among the snow-caps.

Mr. Alword, of Kansas, has rented "The Sisters" farm on the lower Sandy road for a term of years. Mr. Alword suffered a sun-stroke in Kansas and was unable to stand the excessive heat.

Mr. A. H. Averill, a prominent business man of Portland, was out this way last week and in the course of a conversation said "that he had been a Republican all of his life but this Fall he would vote for Wilson." A large per cent of the business men of the city who have formerly been Republicans he stated would also vote for Wilson as they simply could not stand for the foolishness and rather incompetency of Taft nor the noisy wild talk of the wild man from Lobster Bay.

On Wednesday of this week occurred the wedding of George W. L. Eaden, of Logan, this county to Miss Olive Averill of Cherryville. Mr. Eaden is a sober, industrious young man of good habits and manly honest ways. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Runyan, the minister of the M. E. church of Cherryville. Both of these young people are well known in this vicinity and have the best wishes of all. After a short wedding trip to Portland they will return to the groom's home near Logan where they will begin their life work on a ranch.

It is announced that the post office here will be discontinued on the 30th. of the month, as according to a late ruling all fourth class offices will be abolished except those at the terminus of the route. It seems like an unmistakable blunder to stop delivery mail that is on a direct route at a location where the business has increased more than four fold in the last year. There is no trouble about letting the Trust have full sway in this country nor in letting the Wall street sharks when in a financial squeeze as in 1907 have $25,000,000 out of the public treasury without any shadow of law but when it comes to doing anything for the common people who do the work, fight the battles and pay the taxes then there is nothing doing. Never mind, there is a hereafter.

On account of the weather the commercial club postponed their meeting from last Saturday night until three weeks from the first announcement.

A resident pastor is expected to locate here at the M. E. church as Mr. Runyan has decided not to accept the position for another year.

RAIN HINDERS STATE FAIR

Exhibits Excelled Any Former Year, Rain Prevented Expected Attendance—Multnomah Sixth in Line.

Oregon's annual state fair at Salem was one of the best ever held in the history of the state, but was greatly hindered by the incessant rains. The fair was a loss, financially speaking, but the class of exhibits displayed there excelled all previous attempts and, everything considered, the event was the most successful ever held.

In the county exhibits Multnomah county took sixth place, which it justly deserved, but the exhibit was not representative of the resources of this county, and in fact did not make the showing that Multnomah county should have had there. The principal feature of the Multnomah county exhibit was the dahlia exhibit furnished and arranged by Gill Bros., well known local florists.

The Multnomah county exhibit demonstrated one thing, and that is that the agricultural, horticultural and stock resources of the county are greatly neglected in the state even by the citizens of the county. There is untold wealth invested in these resources in the county, but the people as a whole, take little or no interest in displaying the same in the annual fairs. Thousands, almost millions of dollars are spent annually in advertising the resources of the county through various mediums, but an insignificant sum always covers the amount expended in displaying the Nature's resources at the agricultural and horticultural events. People of Multnomah county should realize that there is something of value in the county aside from the tall sky-scrapers of Portland. True, we are proud of Portland, but that magnificent city does not cover the whole of Multnomah county, and that portion that it does not cover should not be neglected from an advertising standpoint. The citizens of that metropolis should recognize the truth of this statement as well as those who live outside the city limits. The greater the development brought about in the whole county the greater Portland will become. Portland cannot hope to cover the whole of Multnomah county, even though it will some day be a city with a population reaching the million mark, and the necessity of developing the whole county is of as much importance as the development of the city located within the county boundaries.

Multnomah is to hold a county fair at Gresham October 2 to 5 and it is hoped that all the people of Multnomah county will display the proper interest in that important event.
