COLUMBIA HEIGHTS

All of the schools in this vicinity will be hard at work by this coming week. The Latourell school have chosen as their instructor Miss Alice Rasmussen, Egypt Dist. has selected Miss Grace Ferguson for another term, and our Heights school will be in charge of a newly arrived young lady from Mich., Miss Nesbit. We are all expecting and looking forward to an interesting and progressing term and should do all possible to aid the teachers in their responsible position. It is only by co-operation from the parents that the teachers fully succeed in their work, and I believe the parents should make the teachers one of their best friends as it is she or he who is helping us raise our children, and right at the tender years when the child's future is formed. Let us make an effort to visit the school more, it will make the children glad to see their friends take an interest in their studies. Many a little girl and boy will enter school for the first time. It seems I see their interesting and expressive faces, as each one takes in the school house, the children and their teacher. Boys and girls, as I am writing these few lines, my thoughts bring me back to my own native land and I see a class from between 60 and 75, all wearing wooden shoes, and what a noise they made any one can well imagine. It really was a wonder that the teacher's ear-drums did not burst.

A little baby girl arrived at the home of James Pounder lately—both Mrs. Pounder and daughter are doing nicely.

Mrs. W. Hicks entertained the Ladies Sewing Circle last Thursday and kept the ladies busy quilting.

Mrs. Alvin Floss, of Milwaukie, for many years a resident of the Heights, was here last week visiting old friends.

R. P. Rasmussen, of Corbett, who is serving on the Grand Jury spent Sunday at his home.

C. J. Littlepage, of Mosier, was seen at Columbia Grange hall last Saturday night.

J. Deever recently sold three acres of land to a Portland party for $500 per acre. A summer resort is now under construction.

Laura Ross entertained company from Portland on Saturday.

The dance at the hall Saturday night was a success both socially and financially. The Latourell orchestra furnished excellent music.

FAIR NOTES: THINGS DOING

Activity in preparation for the coming Multnomah County Fair, is now the chief thought of everyone in any way responsible for its arrangements and a small force of workmen are on the grounds putting the buildings and grounds in readiness says the Gresham Outlook. It is safe to say that Secretary Kardell and President Lewis Shattuck are two men on the fair board who have their minds full of ideas and are facing a month's hard work.

The dates for the fair are Wednesday to Saturday, inclusive, October 2, 3, 4 and 5. A glance at the calendar will show that the opening day is less than three weeks off.

It is probable a man will be kept on the road from now on, helping everyone select the best things for exhibit. E. L. Thorpe has been suggested for this. There will be a meeting of the fair directors next Tuesday afternoon.

The machinery hall is about completed and is being painted. Newton Mewhirter is at work in the pavilion overhauling the tables and display stands and improving the arrangements. The office building will be moved to its new location next week.

During the week several directors and officers including Shattuck, Kardell and Cleveland, visited the Clark county fair at Vancouver and while enjoying the fine displays there, did not fail to boost for the big Multnomah fair. Among other good workers there this week are Chas. E. and Wendie Cleveland who have fine stock exhibits. They have the only sheep at the Vancouver fair.

Secretary Kardell says he is getting many requests for premium lists.

ISIS THEATRE COUPON awards will be made each Thursday evening. Only winners, or their representatives present, will receive their awards. Bring your coupons. Winning numbers not present next highest takes the prize.
