George Tells His Father in Clever, but Roundabout Way, Why He Should Have a Bicycle.

"Papa," said Georgie, "it worries me awful to think how much trouble I give mamma."

'She hasn't complained."

"No, she's very patient. But she often sends me to the shops for things, and they are a good ways off. and I know she gets cross waiting when she's in such a dreadful hurry. "Not often, I fancy."

"Oh, she's nearly always in a hurry. She gets everything all ready for baking, and finds at the last minute she hasn't any yeast, or she gets a pudding all mixed and finds she hasn't any nutmeg or something; and then she's in an awful stew, 'cause the oven is all ready, and maybe visitors are coming, and I can't run a very long distance, you know; and I feel awful sorry for poor mamma." "Humph! Well, what can you do about it ?" "I was thinking you might get me

Drew the Line at David. Sir Frederick Wedmore, a wellknown art critic, has published a most interesting volume of memories, in which he tells good things about interesting people whom he has met. One of the best stories is that of Queen Victoria and her statement that she "would not meet David." She evidently championed Bathsheba. The story runs thus:

"In some such terms as the following, Lady Southampton felt herself inspired to address the queen one day: 'Do not you think ma'am, one of the satisfactions of the future state will be, not only our reunion with those whom we have loved on earth, but our opportunities of seeing face to face so many of the noble figures of the past -of other lands and times? Bible times, for instance. Abraham will be there, ma'am; Isaac, too, and Jacob. Think of what they will be like! And the sweet singer of Israel. He, too. Yes, ma'am, King David we shall see, And, after a moment's silence, with perfect dignity and decision, the great queen made answer, 'I will not meet meet David!' "-Public Opinion.

Give Credit to Suspenders.

"Notice what a difference the first nip of cool weather makes in the carriage of most men?" a prominent physician asked the other day. "See how their shoulders are thrown back, their chins thrust forward and the general elasticity of their step?" "Yes, I've noticed it," his companion replied. "Cold weather certainly braces a man up." "You are right there," the doctor replied, "but there is something that plays a more important part than the mere fact that the air is cold. What? Suspenders? Yes, sir! Soon as the weather gets cool a man wears a vest. That means that he lays his belt aside and resorts to suspenders. No man can walk erect and with that air of alterness without them. The reason is simple. The natural way to walk is with the chest thrown out and the allowance drawn in. When a man wears a belt he cannot do that because his trousers will slink down and he will be very uncomfortable generally. When his trousers are suspended from his shoulders he can walk naturally."
