To Tell the Age of a Horse.

To tell the age of any horse, inspect the lower jaw, of course. The six front teeth the tale will tell. And every fear and doubt dispel. Two middle nippers you behold. Before the colt it two years old. Before eight weeks two more will come.

Eight months the corners cut the gum.

The outside grooves will disappear. From middle two in just one year. In two years from the second pair. In three the corners, too, are bare. At two the middle nippers drop. At three the second pair don't stop. When four years old the third pair goes.

At five a full new set he shows. The black spots will pass from view. At six years from the middle two. The second part at seven years. At eight the spot each corner clears. From the middle nipper upper jaw. At nine the black spots will withdraw. The second pair at ten are white. Eleven finds the corners light. As time goes on the horseman knows. That oval teeth three-sided grow. They longer get project before. Till twenty when we know no more.
