COLUMBIA HEIGHTS

A merry Christmas to the Editor and all the readers of the Beaver State Herald.

Columbia Grange held an evening session last Saturday night for the purpose of conferring degrees. A dainty feast was spread for the candidates, and a jolly time was spent by all present.

Mr. A. Loeb was elected at the December meeting to organize a degree team for Columbia Grange. We are looking forward with interest toward the new movement, and hope it will prove a benefit to the Grange. The Grange ritual work is beautiful and can not help make a good impression, when conducted in the right style.

At the last meeting of the Farmers' Equity M. F. Brown was elected president and P. Anderson vice-president. Two delegates were chosen to the county Union, which meets some time in January at Gresham. The delegation consists of the following gentlemen: W. Flicks, F. Bream, F. Talmann, and Mr. Rogers.

The Sunday school will give a Christmas entertainment on December 23rd at Taylor school house, including a Christmas tree, which, no doubt, will be enjoyed by the little folks.

Miss Alice Rasmussen has returned home after attending the teachers' institute in Portland. Miss Alice numbers among those who do not need to take the annual examination, as she will soon receive her life certificate by teaching a few more months.

Mr. and Mrs. Shults were over at Orient with relatives Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Anderson were in Gresham last Thursday. A great many ranchers were in that day taking advantage of bargain day.

Mrs. Graig is quite sick with the yellow jaundice. Dr. Bitner, of Gresham, is attending her. That makes about seven or eight cases of that disease on the heights. We hope the malady is on the decrease.

Mr. J. Deaver is slowly recovering from her late illness. We shall be glad to see her up and around, taking hold of her household duties again.
