MODERN LINNER ALL

Physician Declares That Appurtenances and Menu All Tend to Promote the Digestion.

Dinner as a social institution has been so sedulously attacked by gasronomic experts in recent years that the banquet has been held responsible for many untimely deaths of public men. One of the most conspicuous statesmen in America was said to have been killed by dining out. The consumption of course after course Where One Bushel of Corn Grew Beupon a menu is held by various au-thorities to be inconsistent with long life and even with continued health

Now, all these notions, according to Dr. R. S. Levenson, are based more or less upon delusion. Discoveries in the physiology of digestion during the past dozen years do not discredit the modern dinner, he says. They vindicate it. Man has unconsciously established a routine of courses in the dinner that takes thorough cognizance of the physiological principles upon which digestion is founded. Take, for instance, the elaborate gowns worn by the women and the evening suits by the men, the floral decorations and the music. There is no doubt that of composing a generally favorable work. This will lay a foundation for every few days, when the windows stage setting for digestion. It has much practical work to the later throughout the windows each of these items serves the purpose usual parsing and other grammar been shown in recent years that the moods created by these details have a directly favorable bearing upon the -Current Opinion.

KEEPING THE LINEN IN ORDER .

Well Ordered Closet is a Joy and With a Little Care May Easily Be Provided for in Any House.

A well ordered linen closet is a joy to every housewife who fortunately possesses one. The really ideal linen closet, of course, is one that is big enough to have a window; but the usual line closet is built into some cranny of the upper hall, in a rather dark, out-of-the-way corner. This sort of closet is, of course, just as useful as the larger, airier one, and with a little attention can be made to look almost

Keeping the Body in Repair

Nature intended that the body should do its own repairing-and it would do so were it not for the fact that most of us live other than a natural life.

Nature didn't intend that we should wear corsets, tight collars or shoes, nor live in badly ventilated and draughty houses, nor eat and drink some of the things that we do, nor ride in street cars when we should walk. The consequence is that the body when it gets out of order must look for out-side help to make the necessary repairs.
