symptoms that indicate worms.

CHERRYVILLE

This harvesting is Ceres business.
All jokes are free in harvest.
Work in the hay fields is being pushed rapidly to a finish and the crop is very good.

Dave Douglas, who lives on the Revenue ranch between Sandy and Bull Run, says he has a piece of oats that he thinks will go 100 bushels to the acre.

John Vanderhoof, across the river from Cherryville, says his barn is already full of grass hay and his crop of oats is unusually heavy.

Mr. F. E. Clark recently sent for a setting of Crystal White Orpington eggs from a reliable firm and when they hatched, one of the chicks was coal black. This is a clear case of atavism or reversion to a former type as the White Orpington sprang from the black Sussex fowl of England more than twenty years ago.

Potatoes will be a better price this year as dealers are already contracting for $1.25 a hundred.

A part of the hatchery has been moved down to Camp Six and a large number of Chinook salmon are held there ready for spawning.

Joseph Kreis of Chicago and an acquaintance and friend of the writer, dropped in one day last week. Mr.
Kreis is a metallurgical and military engineer having graduated from a technical college at Vienna, Austria.
In his professional capacity he has been employed by the English Government, the Republics of Ecuador and Peru in South America and our own Government. He has visited every country in the world and can relate some very interesting experiences.

He is now looking for a location for a large colony partly for the White Cross Providence and partly for the American Homes Association, a humanitarian proposition. He thinks quite favorably of this section on account of its great fruit growing possibilities and the excellent health of everybody living here.

This proposition is to sell small tracts to home seekers of limited means, build them a house, clear a portion, help them to start up and give them employment in an industry which they establish and let them found a home, giving them ample terms at a low rate of interest and furnish a market for their output.
