"IT CAN BE DONE"

(The following is a sample of literature found upon the desk of M. K. Hedge, of the Lents Hardware Co.)

Somebody had said that it couldn't be done, but he, with a chuckle replied, "That 'maybe it couldn't,' but he would be one

Who would not say so till he tried. So he buckled right in, with the trace of a grin

On his face. If he worried he hid it. He started to sing as he tackled the thing

That couldn't be done--and he did it. Somebody scoffed: "Oh, you'll never do that;

At least, no one ever has done it;" But he took off his coat, and he took off his hat,

And the first thing we knew he'd begun it;

With the lift of his chin, and a bit of a grin,

Without any doubt or quiddit; He started to sing as he tackled the thing

That couldn't be done--and he did it. There are thousands to tell you it can not be done,

There are thousands to prophesy failure; There are thousands to point out to you, one by one,

The dangers that wait to assail you; But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,

Then take off your coat and go to it; Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing

That "can not be done"--and you'll do it. —Edgar A. Guest.

Art in Dress

Not the least wonderful or interesting feature of the photodrama is the elaborate growing of the women companies. There has been running at the Isis recently a series of plays of the higher order of scientific dressmaking and dramatic art. We must confess unblushingly that it is a pleasure to observe the "creations" and creations there are in every sense of the word--exhibited in the highest degree by the artists.

Those who saw the principal leads in "The Sacrifice" saw the modern wife and mother wearing to very excellent advantage a rare and wonderful combination that cost, we are informed, not a cent less than $500. The leading ladies of the big film producing concerns have carte blanche in the matter of wardrobe. The result is such as to at first bewilder, then amaze and finally to charm the spectator. There is art and science and beauty in fine clothes. While most everybody and his wife are quite content to dress modestly, we all enjoy the demonstrations of the sartorial fancies.

The exquisite of the film drama are our grown-up's fairy story book just as the Arabian Nights were for our children--these lead us pleasantly along the paths to the castle of Make Believe Land. There our dreams are visualized, realized, and we meet the pretty princesses and the gallant knights and live with them, their romances in fine clothes.

OPEN LETTER TO WHITE RIBBON VOTERS OF MULTNOMAH CO.

The Labor Department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union worked earnestly and faithfully for the passage of the Workman's Compensation Bill at the last state legislature. Our State Superintendent of legislative work made trips to Salem specially in the interest of this and other social legislation. Everything was done by us for the measure that we could do without the decisive weapon--the ballot, and now we have that, we call on every white ribboner to stand by this measure, and VOTE 308, Yes.

It is essentially a temperance preventative measure, as any one can readily see, inasmuch as it is in the interest of the home and family, discouragement under adverse conditions brought about through industrial accidents to the father depriving the mother and children of bread, and want staring them in the face, we know has all too often led to intemperance.

This measure is preeminently a woman's measure as it assures woman a security when she sees her husband go forth to support the family in some of the dangerous trades. We believe the act is one of economy, inasmuch as it will prevent a large proportion of the social waste now going on in industrial circles through the destruction of human life.

I feel sure that those of our number who have been closely studying social economic problems, as so many have, need no argument in its favor, as it will at once appeal to them as a great and hopeful sociological step forward. Why has it been attacked? Your answer must come from the casualty companies and fraternities who fatten on the tragedies in the wage-earners families when righteous adjustments and justice fail them.

One great feature of this measure is that through it the injured woman gets immediate relief, without the intervention of a claim agent or any unscrupulous lawyer.

Do not fail to vote November 4th and let your vote stand for this righteous measure. VOTE 308, Yes.

Yours for Justice,
Lucia Faxon Additon,
National Associate Superintendent of Labor Department of the W. C. T. U.
