DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL TICKET!

GEN. WINFIELD S. HANCOCK. VICE-PRESIDENT, WM. H. ENGLISH, OF INDIANA.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS, J. G. OWEN, of Coos County, JAS. FULTON, of Wasco County, J. K. WEATHERFORD, of Linn County.

EDUCATION. There is perhaps no one subject in which people appear to be more interested than that of education.

About school meeting time and sometimes during a political campaign, it receives no small share of public attention.

But for the greater part of the time the question of education is apparently almost forgotten.

Very few people visit the school in which their children are being taught, unless on some Friday afternoon upon which there is an "exhibition" or "speaking."

These "speaking" and "exhibitions" give no insight into the progress which the pupils are making, and the "delighted" visitors come away with no knowledge whatever of the real advancement the school has made.

It seems to be very seldom that parents trouble themselves to ascertain by actual observation the methods which the teachers employ to expand and shape the minds of those entrusted to their keeping.

Their opinions are too frequently founded on hearsay, or on the reports of the teachers themselves, which should always be received with the utmost caution, not that they mean perhaps to wilfully deceive, but it is something in which their feelings are too much involved to allow their judgment to be unbiased.

Besides such matters of importance should not be left to the judgment of mere children. An error too many are apt to fall into is to regard the acquisition of knowledge as the chief aim of a common school training.

No greater mistake could be made. A man may be a moving cyclopedia of knowledge and yet be very poorly educated. Crap is not education; and we have in our schools too much of the former and not nearly enough of the latter.

The teacher who can succeed in drawing out the latent powers of his pupil, who can carry him from one gradation of thoughts to another without making him feel how difficult it is to climb, who can make his pupil exercise all the powers of his mind, thus giving it a healthy tone and growth instead of stunting and warping it with the dull drudgery of memorizing dry facts; the teacher who can do this with firmness and kindness, and a due appreciation of the character of his scholar, is worthy of all commendation.

From this it is not to be inferred that it is unnecessary for the preceptor to possess a goodly amount of learning. On the contrary it is imperatively important that he have a mind well stored with facts, matured by observation and sound judgment, that he be able to foresee the difficulties which his pupils will encounter and deftly pave the way to overcome them.

Children trained in this way will be able to take higher and broader views of things and will have laid a solid foundation upon which any superstructure of learning may safely rest.

The editors of the LEADER can't get a line to suit them. Boys take your lines and go fishing. Fish will be good for you, for your brain-power must be nearly exhausted. Pendleton Tribune.

Thank you; as you practice what you preach, you certainly mean it. Spoke when one gets back from eating fish at the Warm Springs, the other of you will his way to fill his yawning vacuum. We wish you success, but have not much hope.

THE HARVEST.—Our mechanics are busy repairing harvesting machinery. The prudent husbandman should learn to house his machinery from sun and winter rains.

ONE OF OUR BENEFACTORS.—A new house is what occupies his mind, and he is seen to pull off his coat and industriously devote himself to seasoning the lumber after business hours. It is a labor of love, you know.

THE GOY LOTARIO who absquatulated with his neighbor's frau, has to interview the next grand jury. This is not the funny part of the dirty business. Send him to Salem.

FISH.—More mountain trout are being caught in the Umatilla river this season than at any previous. The sportsmen are flocking thither to luxuriate in the delights of angling.

DEPARTMENT LINE.

Under the above caption the E. O. of Pendleton "rises to explain" its position on Division of the county. Of course it begins by misrepresenting the LEADER.

We published the report of that Pendleton meeting, signed by the chairman and Secy., making our comments on said report. We think that journal would do well to admit that it was thwarted by the people of this end of the county, who, contrary to their expectations, attended the "County Convention."

Either a line was adopted or not at that time; the officers of the meeting reported the lines to us, and we were governed by the information. But just consider the tale of the E. O.: they "agreed on a convention from the various precincts, to which no one should be admitted unless he had been regularly elected, and that no proxies should be allowed. (We find in the proceedings that J. H. Turner had a party at the convention in his stead.) The E. O. continues: "This was acceded to and the day fixed for the 10th of July."

So far, so good. This much was made public. But now comes the little side-show, which the E. O. ingeniously avows: A meeting was called the night before and a motion carried "that we send delegates to the convention to be held on the succeeding day with instructions that they should enter into the deliberations of the body as delegates upon the sole condition that there was a full representation from all the precincts in the county present."

Was there ever a more vain display of puerile egotism than this? The same men that take upon themselves to call a county convention, apportioned the number of delegates, forbid proxies &c. meet coolly the evening previous to the Convention and resolve that they will not be formal delegates unless every precinct in the county is fully represented!

Could arbitrary coxcombry go further? What better were the delegates from Pendleton Precinct than from any other? These same men absolutely knew that every precinct in our immense county would not be fully represented. Such a thing has never happened and probably never will. The transparent trickery is not surprising, but the arrogant conceit betrayed is truly amazing.

The plan then was to bring all the simple delegates to Pendleton, while the great chief of Pendleton would say, "Go home again, we have concluded not to go into our Convention as delegates." And the minutes of the meeting show the first motion made by a Pendleton "individual," not delegate, was to adjourn!

Again the E. O. says a proposition was made for a line dividing the county into two. This is liable to convey a wrong impression. The members of that convention were in favor of three counties. This end was fully represented, hence they adopted a line cutting off nearly one-third of the county, leaving the balance to be again divided by those living therein.

Again, during the late canvass the Divisionists did not propose to divide whether the majority wished it or not. They proposed division into three new counties and took that as their platform, but they also said, of course, that the right of petition remained. However everybody knew that a majority favored division, if details could be agreed on. In short we conclude that the E. O. is sipping grasping at any pretext, however specious, that offers any excuse for opposing and division.

DEPARTS.—Mr. Markewitz, our watchmaker, leaves us to-morrow for San Francisco. We are sorry to lose such a splendid workman and hope he may succeed in his new enterprise.

HOTEL.—When you go to Centerville remember that Mr. James Froome keeps the only hotel in the place, and also that he always keeps on hand a good supply of fresh bread for sale.

BEST.—When S. A. John has completed all the apprentices belonging to his butcher shop, he claims justly that he will have the neatest and most elegant shop east of the mountains. Call and see it.

TEAMS.—No less than seventy-eight teams hauling cord-wood, passed on the road in one day from the mountains.

PERSONAL.—Ed. Sharon, of the Tribune, accompanied by "Spot," gallantly came down on us and made us happy.

CROPS.—The crops in Greenwood present the best appearance of any in the country, taken as a whole. This finishes the delusion that formerly existed of proximity to the mountains being essential to success.

WOUND.—A young grandson of David Pinkerton was with some other boys playing round a Separator, when he got his hand in between the cogs of two wheels just as another boy was turning them. Portions of his fingers were cut off and the four fingers badly lacerated. The thumb escaped.

PROPOSED FREIGHT REDUCTION.

The managers of the W. W. & C. R. R. Co. want to obtain a share of the carrying trade of Grand Ronde Valley. To that end they propose reduced rates on freights shipped to Blue Mountain Station.

As the charges have heretofore been, it was cheaper and quicker for the merchants of La Grande, Baker City, Union and Sunnerville and other points on the eastern side of the Blue Mountains, to have their goods shipped to Umatilla Landing and hauled thence by team. By that route the charges are as follows:

Freight from Portland to Umatilla, $18 per ton. Storage and forwarding, $2 per ton. Freight from Umatilla to Grand Ronde, $30 per ton.

Total present cost via Umatilla, $50 per ton. The W. W. & C. R. R. Co. proposes to carry freight from Portland to Blue Mountain Station for $25 per ton. At that point they will store and forward the freight without charge.

From Blue Mountain to La Grande the freight charge is $15 per ton. Total charge from Portland to La Grande $40 per ton, or a clear saving of $10 per ton on all freight shipped via Blue Mountain Station. In addition to this saving of money, there will be a saving of 18 miles teaming on the round trip, and an entire avoidance of the miles of heavy sand road leading from Umatilla, which in itself should be a great inducement for teamsters to advocate the Blue Mountain route.

We are informed that if the business men of the town east of the Blue Mountains will signify their desire to ship by rail to Blue Mountain Station, that the freight tariff will be at once made in conformity with the foregoing proposal. It does seem to us that there should be no hesitancy in accepting this proposal of the railroad company. The merchants are offered ten dollars a ton to do so, and so far as we are able to learn, without the slightest show for them to lose a dollar.—W. W. Union.

We would simply add to the above plain statement of facts that the proposed reduction of freight has already been made. It now remains with the people of Grand Ronde Valley to say whether they will accept the offer to have their goods stored and forwarded at Blue Mountain Station free of charge and make an actual saving of ten dollars per ton. More than this it is a well known fact the road over the Mountains by way of Warm Spring and Sunnerville is a much better one than the Meachem road. The Thomas and Ruckles road is shorter, has fewer and less steep hills and is always kept in excellent condition. This in itself would make no small saving in transportation. We feel confident that the people of Grand Ronde Valley will not be slow to recognise the many advantages in time and money, which this route has over the old one.

CENTERVILLE ITEMS.

The citizens of Centerville and vicinity met at the office of Cook & Irvine on the 20th inst and organized a joint stock company for the purpose of erecting a city hall building. It is to be of brick, 28x60, and three stories high. When completed, the first story will be occupied as a store room, the second as a city hall, and the third as a lodge room for the different secret organizations. The amount of capital stock is $6,000, divided into shares of $50 each.

J. V. Gum, is the J. Pleuvius of Centerville—he runs the street sprinkler.

Mr. James Bamford, of your city, has a force of hands at work on the new Methodist Church to be erected during the present season; he also has the contract for building a house of worship for the Christian denomination. Both will be completed before cold weather.

Coppick & Adam are making an addition to their already large and commodious livery stable. When completed, it will be one of the best buildings of its kind in Eastern Oregon.

Charley Frey is erecting a building on the lot formerly occupied by B. E. Hervey as a residence and harness shop. We learn that it has been rented and will be occupied soon as a restaurant.

A grand ball was given at the new hotel now in process of construction on the evening of the 23d inst. There were some twenty-five couple present, all marriageable but a few who had already crossed the matrimonial Rubicon. The ladies were most tastefully and richly attired; the gentlemen were very appropriately dressed, and seemed to look with becoming respect at the bright-eyed beauties whose penetrating glances sent the hot blood of bachelorhood back on hearts that have stood out against such influences for forty years, more or less. It is said to have been one of the most pleasant convivial gatherings that has ever taken place at Centerville. They continued to trip "the light fantastic toe" until the wee sma' hours, when "the boys went home with the girls in the morning."

LOCATE.—Dr. Whitcomb, of Pendleton, spent a few days in the city during the week. We understand that he intends purchasing property and locating among us for the practice of his profession and the benefit of the air in proximity to the mountains. His reputation as a physician is so well known here that we need add nothing. Thus we move.
