SPECIAL NOTICE.

Episcopal Church, Sunday School every Sunday at 10:30, A. M., and service at 7 P. M., by Rev. J. D. McCook. Methodist Church South, Rev. F. Warren pastor, services held on the 1st Sunday of each month, at 11 A. M. and 7 P. M.

LOCAL LEADERS.

THANKS.—For kindness from the Tribune office. For Lead, Oils and Colors, call at the City Drug Store, Weston.

STOVE.—The stove is not very big, even for its years, yet Doc. is happy.

DUNS.—Now is the season for duns, and the crop promises to be a plentiful one.

SERVICE.—There will be service in the Episcopal Church to-morrow at 7 P. M.

Webfoot oil is the chief in putrid sore throat or diphtheria. For sale by McColl and Miller.

FINISHED.—Mr. Bradley's new brick dwelling is quite an ornament to the upper part of town.

LATE.—It is considered rather aristocratic to come late to church. The minister delights in it also.

FOLDED.—Charlie Powers, a prince among "type slingers," has left us for a situation on the Bulletin.

CROCK.—Send our advertisement of Redington's Florida Water, then go and invest in a bottle.

BLANKS.—All kinds of legal blanks—deeds, mortgages, summons, &c for sale at the LEADER office.

TASTE.—It is not considered good taste for a lady to be obstinately argumentative, any more than for a gentleman.

TOO MUCH.—Last Sunday, Rev. J. D. McCook, in order to meet his appointments, had to travel a distance of 84 miles.

President Hayes will visit Walla Walla about October 4th. As yet we have heard nothing of his coming to Weston.

COMPLETED.—The sidewalk on the south side of Main St. is completed and will prove a great convenience in muddy weather.

NOTE.—The LEADER is indebted to Dr. Egan for a handsome, gold-mounted McKinnon pen. His modesty forbids our saying more.

LO.—Some seventeen Indians, preachers or members of the Presbyterian Church, from Lapwai, are in the city attending the Presbytery.

CABBAGE HEADS.—D. Dealy of our city produces the largest cabbage of the season. Some of them weigh over 25 lbs. Who can beat that?

ENTREPRENEUR.—S. A. John supplies the Pendleton Hotel with meat, while Mrs. Wood's Bakery furnishes the best quantity of bread to the Milton Hotel.

SOUND.—Mr. Walker has followed his previous letter on No Fence, to a practical conclusion, and in this issue demonstrates not only its feasibility but utility.

HARROWING.—The party who has my harrow is well known. Prudence would dictate its immediate return. I concur with prudence. JOHN M. HARTMAN.

NUISANCE.—A big-mouthed, long-voiced, rattle-brained individual can come into the city and be more disagreeable to the citizens than a pack of cats under a bed room window at night.

DANGEROUS.—The sidewalk extending along Franklin St. from Main to Pomerooy is in a dilapidated and dangerous condition. It would be better to repair it than to pay damages for accidents.

TROUBLESOME.—Some men still persist in sitting themselves on tilted chairs, on some of the porches of Main street, much to the annoyance of ladies who frequently have to wait until sufficient room is made for them to pass.

SELECT SCHOOL.

I will open a select school in Dealey's Hall on Monday, the 27th day of September. Tuition as heretofore, $3, $7.50 and $10 per term. No pupil admitted for less than half a term. THOS. G. TAYLOR.

FREIGHT.—There are several tons of Grande Ronde freight at Blue Mountain, its storage there being free. In a few days the steamers will land all the freight at Grande Ronde landing and it will then come by way of Blue Mountain entirely.

DRUMMERS.—If the tide of drummers continues to pour in on us at the present rate, not a few of us will be converted to the belief of the Portland merchants, that all traveling salesmen, not belonging to the State ought to be taxed. At present, they, like the poor, are ever with us.

DESERVED.—A worthless, bullying braggart undertook to insult and intimidate one of the quietest and most respectable young men in town, and was repaid for his insolence by a box on the ear that sent him sprawling on the ground. The cowardly bully picked himself up, growling like a bear with a sore head, and walked off disgraced.

DUST.—The greatest dust storm that has "come upon us" in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, occurred last Wednesday. It came driving up from the south-west and at its densest point rendered the atmosphere darker than during an eclipse of the sun. It was immediately followed by a grateful shower that had the effect of laying the dust.

MARBLE WORKS.—D. J. Coleman, Walla Walla, is proprietor of the Marble Works, and prepared to furnish Head Stones, Monuments and everything else in his line, at reasonable rates. B. F. Mansfield is agent for Centerville and Weston, and is authorized to take orders and give receipts.

THE BEST WAY TO KILL SQUIRREL.—Provide yourself with a package of Holmes' Spirit of Poison and have all the boys and girls go after 'em. It will clean them out sure. Put up in large packages and is the cheapest and best in the market. Made and for sale by H. E. Holmes, Druggist, Walla Walla, or to be had from your nearest Druggist.

W. G. JAMESON.—Watch-maker and jeweler, corner Main and 3d St. Walla Walla solicits your patronage—Having 17 years practical experience and keeping competent workmen in his employ, is prepared to do all watch repairing, jewelry work, seal cutting, etc. promptly and at reasonable prices. Watches, Clocks, Spectacles always in stock and sold cheaper than any other store in Walla Walla.

At an adjourned meeting of the City Council held Tuesday Sept. 21st, Lounsbury & Double's bonds for the completion, according to contract, of carpenter work on City Hall was approved. At the same meeting, complaint being made, the Marshal was ordered to serve short notice on all parties occupying premises wherefrom arise offensive smells, to abate the same and remove log pens.

Personal.

Dr. W. S. Zeilin of the well known Drug house of Redington & Co., San Francisco, was in the City last Saturday and gave us a pleasant call.

Dr. Egan has been called to Pendleton on professional business once or twice during the week.

Mr. A. A. Jones, brother to our popular hardware man is here on a visit.

Miss Ella Miller who has been visiting friends in the Valley returned to-day.

Our old friend, H. C. Skinner, made a descent on us this week.

Rev. E. W. Morrison of this city is quite sick. The Presbytery being in session here at this time, makes it more unfortunate for him. We trust he will soon be around to resume his usefulness.

SCHOOL MEETING.

Pursuant to call a school meeting was held in the school-house last Saturday to decide the question of tax or no tax. The interest manifested may be judged by the number present. The whole number of votes cast was 34, of which 31 were "no tax" and 3 "tax". This shows that we are strongly in favor of free schools and education generally—it they cost us nothing. On the question of tax for improving the school-house and grounds the vote was more creditable, and an assessment of four mills was ordered for that purpose.

Outside patent, Weakly Tribune, Pendleton: All its talent, Other papers, Boiled down.

A Remarkable Result.

It makes no difference how many physicians or how much medicine you have tried, it is now an established fact that German Syrup is the only remedy which has given complete satisfaction in cases of Lung Diseases. It is true that there yet thousands of persons who are predisposed to throat and lung affections, consumption, hemorrhages, asthma, severe colds settled on the breast, pneumonia, whooping cough, etc., who have no personal knowledge of Boschee's German Syrup. To such we would say that 50,000 dozen were sold last year without one complaint. Consumptives try just one bottle. Regular size 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists in America.

Last Saturday night Mr. Marks, formerly of Harris & Marks, merchants of this city, who had just returned from Germany, stepped off the platform at the depot, in the dark, and broke his right leg just below the knee. There ought to be plenty of lights at the depot when the train comes in at night. Broken legs are painful and inconvenient.—H. W. Union.

FROM HEPPNER.

HEPPNER, Sept 20, 1880. EDS. LEADER: A stranger visiting our town at this time and seeing the number of persons upon our streets, in our Hotels, and filling our saloons, would naturally wonder what there could be in or around this little isolated town to support so large a population; but ere he has been here an hour he would learn that various causes were working together to bring the motly crew here, the greatest attraction perhaps for the average Oregonian is the horse race which comes off the 23d of this month; next in order comes the M. E. Church commencing now under full headway, engineered by the Rev. Mr. Pettis, who has the enviable reputation here of being a much married man, and consequently quite an attraction to the ladies, but he, seemingly unconscious of the storm of indignation that is being poured out upon him by those of us who can boast of but one wife, as we gather around the card tables at our usual resorts, (the saloon) and spend what little we earn, while that wife of ours sits sewing the rags together that are to shield herself and children from the inclemency of the weather, and with aching head and heart waits patiently far into the night for our coming—goes on with his work of love, trying if perchance he might lead some of us from the evil of our ways. And so the world moves along, while day after day and year after year we continue to thank God that we are not like that publican.

But moralizing is not our forte so we will change the subject. Will Theodore & Morrow have returned from their trip below, looking hale, hearty and happy, and (sans upon tons) of new goods which they purchased while below, are arriving daily. They both came home single, though seemingly sadder men, much to the joy of a couple of young ladies, who, rumor says, are some time to have the legal right to stay at home and like the rest of our wives, wait the coming of their lord and master. Lecher's new hall is about enclosed, and the Hancock and English Club, of this place, intending giving a grand ball on it on the evening of the 28th. Tickets including supper $3. A grand time is anticipated.

There will be three new general merchandise stores started here this fall. I fear that kind of business is likely to be overdone.

There was a slight misunderstanding between two old friends here a few days ago, which culminated in one of them speaking disrespectfully of the others near relations. The language having been used in the hearing of Justice Clark, he caused the offender to be brought before him and very properly required him to increase the school fund to the tune of $15, which luckily for the fund he was able to borrow. He has since grown older, and it is to be hoped wiser.

We hear some talk of the starting of a sewing machine factory here by the Matlock Brothers, in connection with their other business. They are energetic men and ought to succeed.

We have just learned that there will be another horse race over the Heppner track Sept. 25th, for a purse of $100, raised by the lovers of the sport. The race will be one half mile, and free to all horses entering.

Why is Fred Hawker like Dr. Shobe's new stable? Because he looks squatty—but they are both ornaments to the town.

There are facts coming to light which we are not at liberty to disclose at present, which leaves but little doubt of the guilt of the boy Brooks, charged with the murder of Thompson, near this place last May.

But I must close this long letter with the promise of more anon. AJAX.

It seems to be an inevitable concomitant of civilization that people will make pretensions to knowledge of which they are entirely innocent. This pretense pervades the realms of literature, science and the fine arts. It is by many considered so disgraceful to be ignorant of certain matters that it is too much for their moral courage to admit the true state of their knowledge. Ask a young man if he has read Shakespeare and the reply is very apt to be "Oh! yes, he is my favorite author," while a continuation of the conversation will draw from him the information that he considers "Pinafore" as one of Shakespeare's finest pieces. It seems to be the proper thing to have read Shakespeare and to admire Milton; and it requires no small measure of heroic truthfulness for a person, who would fain be considered genteelly educated, to avow his ignorance of the one or his lack of appreciation of the other. And yet it is more than probable that a person may be of at least ordinary intelligence and culture, and have never studied the writings of the bard of Avon or admired Paradise Lost. We do wish to be understood as implying that this pretence of which we are speaking is found concerning the productions of these two great authors alone; we merely take them as examples. Nor do we wish to criticize the good taste of those who pay appreciative homage at the shrine of Shakespearean or Miltonian greatness. What we object to is the common habit of "literary lying"—of pretending to admire works of which we know very little, and of which if we knew more we would care less. It is better to hear the ridicule, which only vulgar people will heap upon us because of our ignorance, than to misrepresent it.

There are certain literary works that have received the sanction and favor of many generations, and the more nearly our ideas accord with these settled opinions the more nearly correct we are apt to be. But there may be some even of those works that do not commend themselves to our unbiased judgment, and there may be many more of them upon which we have formed no opinion whatever. Then what a piece of cowardly meanness it is to pretend that we are familiar with and appreciate them. Independence of thought in these matters is of as much importance, morally, as in any other; and being a slave to public opinion, destroys that independence. No one can tell falsehoods, even about his views of literature, without injury to his morals. The range of literature is so extensive that it is no discredit to be ignorant of even some of the best, and tastes so diversified that it can be no disgrace to disagree with the generally received verdict of their merits and it would be only common honesty to admit our ignorance or our disapprobation.

HANCOCK AND ENGLISH CLUB.

Last Monday evening Mr. Isham reviewed the political situation before an attentive audience at Dealey's Hall. Having been a Republican he shaped his remarks in answer to the question "Why I turned to be a Democrat." His reason was clear and collected, and his points were delivered with such force and connection, as to convince partisan republicans, at least that there is two sides to the question. He arraigned Mr. Garfield only on Republican authority, and in such a masterly style, as to make Hancock stand out in pure and bold relief, as far his superior. The speaker was interrupted by frequent bursts of applause, testifying appreciation. The roll of membership received 23 new names, and still the good work goes booming along.

On Friday of last week Sheriff Steen and party found John Killin, a well known sheep herder, sitting on the ground with his cane in one hand and pipe in the other, dead. Mr. Killin had been missed for several days, and when found was within half a mile of his camp on upper Tukanon. The deceased was about 50 years of age. He served with honor during the rebellion, and had lived in the vicinity of Dayton for about a dozen years.—H. W. Union.

A serious accident occurred to J. J. Joseph last Wednesday, at J. H. Asher's sawmill, Little White Salmon, who, while chopping the end of a log in front of a circular saw, slipped and fell, the top saw striking him on the top of the head, cutting the skull and brain. He was immediately removed to Vancouver for medical aid, and at last report he was still alive.—Inland Empire.

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 22.—Final result, Davis, 73,640; Plaisted, 73,814; Plaisted's plurality, 174.

Notice to Teachers. There will be a Public Examination of applicants for Teacher's Certificate held on Tuesday, Sept. 28, 1880, beginning at 9 o'clock A. M., sharp. J. C. ARNOLD, School Sup't.
