Mexico will work out its own salvation, or it isn't worthy of salvation. Only when it reaches a state of complete chaos should the United States intervene, and then only in co-operation with the South American republics, which are as much concerned as we in the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine. Meanwhile, distressed Americans may save their lives by fleeing across the border. Their money they should have been wise enough to invest under their own flag.

The mistake made by this government was in meddling in the slightest degree with the affairs of our troublesome neighbor. It should not be repeated unless such a step becomes plainly unavoidable.

An Oregonian Mergenthaler threw a fit the other night, and squirted out the following jumble of capital letters fifteen successive times on the Sunday edition market page:

WITH LEFT HOOK TO THE STOMACH

Bobby Evans Puts Larry Mitchell to Sleep in the Third Round of Weston Bout.

Saturday evening at Weston opera house, Portland Bobby Evans put out Larry Mitchell, Portland welterweight, in the third round of a boxing bout scheduled to go ten rounds.

Mitchell was outclassed in everything but weight, and was plainly in distress almost from the beginning of hostilities. He jolted Bobby a time or two at long range, but in fast fighting Evans was so evidently his master that the result was never in doubt. The bell saved him in the second round. In the third Evans thrice put him to the floor, and the third time he stayed for the count. He was dazed when lifted to his feet and wanted to know what happened, not as yet realizing that he had received a powerful left hook in the pit of the stomach. At that, however, Mitchell shows promise, having the advantage of youth and strength and some degree of skill. He was up against a finished ring craftsman, who can deliver a punch with the best of the lightweights.

Abie Gordon, 105 pounds, displayed much cleverness in his preliminary three-round go with Harry Alexander, Athens lightweight, and was given the decision.

Bud Anderson of Portland and Vancouver, who was regarded as a comer until he encountered both Leach Cross and the appendicitis, was present at the ringside, and announced through Referee Carpenter that he would challenge the winner.

Earl Coutts has about completed arrangements for another meeting between Bobby Evans and Billy Farrell, a fast lightweight with whom Evans is very anxious to again try conclusions. This engagement will very likely be staged at Athens, where a substantial guarantee is said to have been offered, and is sure to attract a large attendance from Pendleton, Walla Walla and intermediate points. Mitchell remains at Weston, and is working with Evans at his training quarters in the local gymnasium.

I will carefully look after your lots in the Weston cemeteries for a reasonable fee. J. L. Fuson.

Weston at Helix.
Milton-Freewater at Athens.

The story in such a sad one that we cannot print it here without smearing the sporting page with brrry tears. We prefer to leave the harrowing details to Scorer Barnes, who also wept, we'll be bound, when he wrote the sad description which is herewith appended in tabulated form.

It is more than enough to say that Weston had that game with Athens well in hand up to the fatal seventh, when the Suburbanites began to take kindly to O'Harra's slants and to slam them out to centerfield. Fielder M. Turner, who ordinarily knows how to garden pretty well but was shifted out of his regular position, couldn't see 'em, somehow. They went over him, and under him and through him until prospective victory had been converted into overwhelming and dire defeat, and Doc Osburn's piratical gang of invaders gloated gloatingly as they merrily chased themselves around the lot.

After Gardner Turner had touched his match to the gas the balloon went very, very high. Some of the rest of the boys acquired that insouciant touch that comes from loftiness, and booted the mundane sphere—which in this instance was enclosed in perfectly good horse hide. Farmer O'Harra got dizzy looking down, derricked himself to terra firma and called Fulford to the mound for the final stanza—Fulford being some little twirler himself. He stopped the onslaught of the enemy, but not until they had worked their deadly will.

The local baseball magnate informs us confidentially that he himself lost the game through an error of judgment, but that even Stuggsy McGraw pulls a boner now and then. He consoles himself by the clever showing of his youngsters, and the fast plays put through by Fulford, O'Harra and Wood around the third station and the terminal.

We believe we've already mentioned Mr. Barnes, but 'twill do no harm to shove him again into the limelight—in order that he may grow used to fame. Here's what he relates:
