Earl Lovell came over from near Walla Walla Sunday for a visit with his mother, Mrs. J. B. Farrens, and again donned a Weston baseball uniform for the final game with Athens.

A public recital will be given next Tuesday evening at High School auditorium by the music pupils of Miss Spritzer. A cordial invitation to attend is extended to the people of Weston and vicinity.

If you want to buy or sell second-hand furniture, call at my new second-hand store in the Weston hotel building. I now have a good selection of household and kitchen furniture to offer. E. E. Zehm.

Miss Marie Van Winkle, daughter of Frank J. Van Winkle, died last week in a Portland hospital, after a brief illness from spinal trouble.

Harry Beahle, L. B. Davis, Earl Coultas and Charles Van Hoy returned Sunday from their fishing trip to the north fork of the Umatilla. They report rather poor sport, as Indians are constantly riding their ponies into the stream while taking salmon with grab hooks.

A large and beautiful photograph of U. S. S. Maryland is displayed in the DeMoss window, and shows the full ship's company in dress uniform with the vessel in the background. It was sent from Honolulu by Glenn Morrison, who is now a sailor boy, to his parents at Weston.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Claud Richmond, relatives from southern Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brown motored Sunday to Dayton, Wash., for a day's visit with Mr. Brown's sister, Mrs. Carrie Hender. They report considerable damage to grain in that locality from recent winds.

Rev. N. D. Wood of this city has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the Fourth of July celebration tomorrow on Weston mountain. A number of Weston people are planning to spend the day in the shade of the pines and to enjoy the program of exercises and amusements which the mountain folk will provide.

Edward Crowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Crowe, Walla Walla florist, began his business career a number of years ago. Mr. Crowe came up from Tacoma to visit his parents, both of whom are ill. Mrs. Crowe is thought to be suffering from the effects of a spider's bite, and is in a serious condition.

F. B. Hayes, superintendent of the Pendleton waterworks, came to Weston Sunday by motorcycle to inspect the water plant here. Mr. Hayes suffered a few minor injuries from a bad spill on the Wild Horse road, which is still dangerous at present for motorists and cyclists. Where recently oiled it is very slippery in spots, and skidding accidents have been quite frequent of late.

A dozen or more Walla Walla farmers are said to be still holding nearly 150,000 bushels of wheat for which they refused the fancy prices offered during the winter. No wheat remains at Weston in the hands of the growers, although about 15,000 sacks of barley is yet stored in the warehouses at Weston and Blue Mountain stations. For some of this wheat $33 per ton or better were refused.

While "sacatonling" at Bingham Springs, Bob Prouditt, expert angler from the Watts & Rogers fishing department, took an eight-pound salmon with rod and line. The fish put up a gallant fight, and only succumbed after a half hour of futile battling with its captor. At that, Bob had to call "Happy" Graham to his assistance. This eager ally plunged into the water and secured a death grip on the salmon's tail, just as it had nearly torn itself away from the hook.

W. G. McLaren, former chaplain of the Oregon penitentiary and present superintendent of the Pacific Coast Rescue and Protective society, gave an able lecture Sunday evening at the United Brethren church on "Life Shadows on the Pacific Coast." The lecture was illustrated by more than 100 views, and has been given in more than 40 Portland churches and schools. The several churches in Weston dismissed their congregations, in order that Mr. McLaren might be given a good audience.

The Children's Day exercises given by the Union Sunday school Sunday last on Weston mountain were largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The Methodist Sunday school from Weston attended in a body, and it is estimated that about 300 people in all were present. The program was given in the afternoon in Schneider's grove, where a fine picnic dinner was also served. There were songs and exercises by the school, a welcome from Erma May, and recitations by Maggie Dowd, Paul Hopkins, Gene Schneider, Miss Good, Rheamny Dowd, Cecil Nichols, Vane Compton and Hugh Dowd. Prescribing services were held in the forenoon, with sermon by Rev. N. D. Wood of Weston.

S. T. Gore, the well-known architect and contractor from Walla Walla, is in Weston again to remain for a considerable period of time. Mr. Gore has drawn the plans for and will direct the construction of the new home of the Weston Mercantile company, which will replace the Marshall House, at the corner of Main and Franklin streets. Operations were begun Monday and will be hurried to completion. Mr. Gore also has the contract for building a warehouse 45x90 feet in dimensions, to be located by the railroad spur below town, for the Weston Warehouse company.

The mountain lake about three miles above town, created as a waterworks reservoir by the city, is a beautiful body of water, and should be seen to be appreciated. The lake is again full and is discharging surplus water through the spill way, the slight leakage having occasioned no material loss. In fact, the new dam seems to be justifying in every way the confidence of its builders. Recent photographs were taken of the lake by Mrs. J. P. Lounell, and portray it to excellent advantage.

Reports from the grain fields indicate that there has been some damage north and northwest of Pendleton and in certain districts on the reservation. Cold rather than hot winds seem to have blighted the wheat, and will cut down the yield considerably in the sections affected. It is said that the yield from 700 acres of the Dr. C. J. Smith lands farmed by Gus Wryck will be some damage from the prevailing hot wave is reported around Weston.

Sympathizing with the desire of his young son, Mr. S. T. Gore, of Pendleton, to acquire a cub bear as a pet, "Doc" O'Harra drove Wednesday to the Umatilla river to consult an old Indian who is known to have captured a few of these playful little animals about the morning of his capture. One of them was lately secured from the same Indian by Kenneth MacKenzie, and has become an object much admired and coveted by Weston's Young America.

The following hours have been set for lawn irrigation by the Weston city council: Normal Heights, 6 to 7 p. m.; remainder of the city, 7 to 8 p. m. Irrigation is unlawful any other hour, and in case this rule is broken the water will be turned off at the mains. H. L. Wilson, superintendent.

An auto stage line is about to be established between Walla Walla and Pendleton, it is said, also serving the intermediate towns at the same as railway fare. It is reported that a number of little people are back of the enterprise and that a string of Winton Sixes will be put on the run.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Lounell left Sunday for Lexington, Oregon, from which place they will accompany the J. H. Padberg and other Morrow county people on an automobile trip into Grant county, visiting the Granite mining district and other places of interest.

C. M. Price is the latest among Weston's representative farmers to acquire an automobile, having purchased a 1916 Overland from J. M. Price, the Weston agent. For a five-passenger car of the latest type the cost was very moderate, being only $865 f. o. b. Pendleton.

Clay Smith will next week take his annual vacation from duty as rural mail carrier by camping out in the mountains with his family. His relief is J. H. Baker, who will again essay the hazardous job of holding the ribbons over a span of government miles.

McLride brothers lately disposed of 23 beef steers and one cow to M. Brennan of Walla Walla for $1691. Although the animals were fresh from the grass and had not been specially fed for the block, 15 of them weighed better than 1300 pounds each.

The following party of recreators left yesterday in three automobiles for a week's sojourn at Bingham Springs: Mrs. Z. C. Price, Mrs. J. M. Price, Mrs. J. H. Price, Miss Ruby Price, Miss Josie Lavender, J. C. Price, Frank Lavender.

The baseball championship of Umatilla county will be decided in a series of three games between Athens and Pilot Rock. The dates proposed are Friday, July 9, at Athens; July 11 at the Rock and "Liberty Bell day," July 12, at Pendleton.

Mrs. Speaks, an elderly resident of Weston mountain, had the misfortune Saturday to lose a $50 bill while trading in town. Anyone finding the money will confer a favor by restoring it to its owner, to whom the loss is of serious consequence.

Lewis Geiss was in town Wednesday from his farm six miles east of Pendleton. Good crops are yet in prospect in his neighborhood, he says, the grain having apparently suffered but little from unfavorable winds.

For the convenience of patrons living at a distance who desire sittings and cannot get in sooner, we have decided to remain in Weston until July 10—positively no longer. Ohmart & Abrams.

Dr. Smith was called Monday morning to the Blue Mountain sawmill to attend a young man named Weber, who sustained a fracture of both bones of the left leg in a logging accident.

Ralph Saling has attracted the admiring plaudits of neighbors on north Water street by personally painting his cottage in colonial yellow, with trimmings of bungalow brown.

Mrs. Joe Lounell and Mrs. Ralph Stagg have gone to McKay creek for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Dick Bush, and will remain until after the Fourth.

L. M. Lucas, a brother of P. G. Lucas of this city, died June 24th last at a hospital at Macomb, Illinois. He had been an invalid for several years.

E. R. Londell and family left Wednesday by motor car on their return home to Ione, Oregon, after an extended visit with relatives in Weston and Walla Walla.

Letters received by local business people announce that J. A. C. Oakes of Portland will be here soon to organize this field in connection with the Oregon Social Hygiene society's statewide campaign of education along sexual lines.

Nearly every Pendleton building is made of Weston brick, which ranks among the very best common brick manufactured in the Northwest—and it is evident that the new government postoffice will be no exception. The local yard has contracted to furnish 450,000 brick for this structure. Another recent order is one of 150,000 for Milton school buildings.

JUDGE GEO. A. HARTMAN ANSWERS FINAL SUMMONS

Judge George A. Hartman, Sr., pioneer of Umatilla county and prominent for years in the business, industrial and political life of the county, died suddenly Sunday morning at Hot Lake where he had been seeking treatment for the past few weeks. He had been suffering from heart disease for some time and went to Hot Lake not long ago from Portland, which had been his home during recent years. Sunday morning he arose and ate his breakfast, returning to his room soon afterwards. At 9 o'clock an attendant at the sanatorium called at his room and found him dead in bed. He had apparently been dead for half an hour. His son, George A. Hartman, Jr., of Pendleton, and two of his nephews, Judge Charles H. Marsh and Cross Sturgis, left for Hot Lake by auto upon learning the sad news and took charge of the body. Mr. Hartman, Jr., took the remains to Portland on the night train. The funeral was held 10 o'clock at the family home, 233 Haskin street. The Masonic order, of which he was a member, conducted the service.

George Alexander Hartman was born July 1, 1852, in Iowa and thus lacked out a few days of being 64 years old, says the East Oregonian. He came west with his parents in 1871, settling in the town of Weston. During his early manhood he was engaged in farming principally. In the spring of 1886 he was elected clerk of Umatilla county and moved to Pendleton. He took office in July of that year and continued through two terms, retiring in 1904. Shortly after his retirement from official life he purchased the controlling interest in two small abstract offices, consolidated them and incorporated the new company under the name of the Hartman Abstract Co., which name it has ever since retained, although he has not been connected with it for some years. In 1900 he ran for the office of county judge on the democratic ticket and was elected. That office he held one term, retiring in 1904, and being succeeded by Henry J. Bean, now a member of the supreme court.

For the past eight or nine years he had made his home in Portland but was a frequent visitor in Pendleton. He kept his farm land near Weston until a few years ago, when he sold it. During his long residence in the county his name was a prominent one and he was known to many and strong. In 1875, while still living at Weston, he was married to Miss Eva Lansdale and she still survives him. Four children, George A. Hartman, Jr., of Pendleton, Fred L. Hartman and Mrs. Jessie H. Myers, wife of Charles W. Myers of Portland, also survive him as do his mother, Mrs. Jane Hartman of Pendleton, four sisters, Mrs. Lisa H. Sturgis and Mrs. Mary Jane Marsh of Pendleton, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Purdy of Medford and Mrs. Clara A. Price of Govan, Wash. He had three grandchildren, County Judge Charles H. Marsh and James H. and Cyrus C. Sturgis are nephews.

WESTON LETS CONTRACT FOR LAYING NEW PIPE

The contract for a half-mile of ditching and pipe-laying along Pine creek about three miles above town, containing the new Point Springs reservoir with the present intake, was let Monday evening at a special meeting of the city council.

Six bids were submitted, showing a wide diversity of views on the part of the bidders as to the probable cost of the work. These ranged from $421.26, the price at which the contract was let, to no less than $2000. They were: Frank Fawcett & Co., Pendleton, $421.26; Contractor Norlin, Lewiston, $654; Schnitzer & Thoeney, Weston, $696; Charles Van Hoy, Weston, 22 cents per running foot.

J. L. Frankham, Walla Walla, $1365; J. Rourke Bros., Walla Walla, $2000. Six-inch steel pipe will be laid, and has already been received by the city. The contract specifies that the work must begin by July 1st and be completed on or before the first of August.

Herndon, Pa.—Pretty pink toes and the ambition of a snapping turtle nearly caused the drowning of Mac Lesser, 18 years old. While swimming beneath the water, and when dragged out, a snapping turtle was found slinging to her toe.

Kingman, Ind.—A colt has been born on a farm near Romney, which is minus his front legs. Where the right foreleg should be, there are two legs about six inches long. One of these has the foot of a dog and the other the foot of a cat. The animal is expected to live.
