

Get After Us

Now and then a customer complains of not getting the service at our store that he or she would like and deserves to have. The fault is ours and we accept responsibility.

We have been rushed, and if you have been neglected, why, just get after us! We'll be the better for it.

One woman said: "The reason I like to trade with you, Mr. O'Harra, is because you sell so much that everything I get from you is always fresh."

Our grocery line is more complete than ever, and we handle the best of everything. We are nearer than anyone else. Tell us your wants and let us help you decide for your next meal.

SPEND YOUR MONEY WHERE YOU GET IT, AND YOU MAY GET IT BACK AGAIN.

THISTLEDOWN

We imagine that the German offensive on the eastern front is becoming decidedly so—to the Russians.

Local holders of mining stock are in a position to sympathize with the elderly Westerner who is trying the bee cure for rheumatism.

Says the Monday Crawler:

"Colonel Clark Wood of Weston is filling the columns of his est. publication with Thistledown of late. Pretty soft, Clark."

Eke the Saturday Evening Allibi:
"Haw-Haw!—Kernal Clark Wood has started a col. called 'Thistledown' in his plutocratic sheet, the WESTON LEADER. Looks like an innuendo as to the spot of his readers."

As Mr. Bryan is at present unattached, we would suggest that he might be spared for a series of peace lectures in Mexico.

The failure of the Democratic administration to please the Pendleton Tribune is not conclusive evidence that it is the administration which is hopelessly in error.

"Dance from the hips down!" is the command of an expert, but some of us fat men will never do it unless he begins shooting at our feet.

In his grousome yet powerful portrayal of "The Blot" upon the state of Georgia, J. E. Murphy again exemplifies the truest art of the cartoonist.

Printing a first-page picture of its agricultural hero and some of his products, together with the following text, the Stanfield Standard presents a booster item that is decidedly worth while:

"Frank Nudo came to Stanfield four years ago with less than five dollars, but with a consuming ambition to get along in the world and a willingness to work to do it. He rented a small tract of land and started gardening. He now owns his own home, has it well equipped with all necessary tools and stock, and last year his farming operations netted him very close to $4000. He credits his success to four factors, unexcelled soil, splendid climatic conditions, ample water and hard work. He believes that any man with the germ of success in him can do as well here."

We ourselves can feel the gripping appeal embodied in the above statement, and will hike for Stanfield whenever the last mentioned of the four factors is eliminated.

A wasteful mail order house has just distributed 300 catalogues in this community—or 298 more than the local barbers will require for shaving paper.

The slumping Beavers need no dam, being dammed sufficiently by the Portland fans. Here's a sample sneer from the Journal:

"The Federal league proposes to offer ten-cent baseball. A lot of fans out this way think they are already getting it."

That the so-called fads and frills by no means militate against a successful career is indicated by the fact that Portland's most eminent burglar is also a cultured pianist, classicist and sociologist.

Perhaps the Russians would profit by osteopathic treatment for that falling back.

The discreet Westerner will refrain from singing that sad new song, "I Didn't Raise My Ford to be a Jitney," unless he wants to walk to the depot.

The following from an Illinois newspaper might have happened here, save that the girl wouldn't have waited until next month:

"A girl had a proposal of marriage Sunday night, and asked a week to consider it before answering. She then organized herself into an investigating committee and began taking testimony from married ladies of her acquaintance. The first one she visited used to be a belle and the most admired girl in town before she married six years before. The cross-examination brought out the fact that she had six children, did all her own work including washing and ironing, and hadn't been down town for four weeks; that her husband had given her but $2 since she married, and that he had borrowed and forgot to pay back $10 which her brother once gave her for a Christmas present. He bought himself a new overcoat with the money, while she wore the same plush coat which she wore when he was courting her. Another woman whom she visited quit teaching school three years ago to marry 'the handsomest and best-dressed man in town,' and she was supporting him. A third didn't dare call her soul owner when her husband was around, though she used to write some lovely essays when pean nations to try some other tack.

The probable opening of the Panama canal was one rumor that the English government sent afloat as a means of depressing American grain prices. Then it was called that the Italian government had decided to cut out speculation in the wheat market. This, too, had an effect upon the price.

Those independent of the market can see but one thing in the bearish raid on wheat prices this week—that through the house of J. P. Morgan & Co. the European interests propose to bully the American wheat growers into selling. By tying up with such a strong international house, it was likely figured that the financial influence would be sufficient to tie up funds so that farmers would be forced to sell.

With the federal reserve banks in operation, it will be quite interesting to watch the tactics of financial interests in this matter.

she was at school on the 'emancipation of women' and the fourth woman she visited was divorced. After summing up the evidence she went home and wrote the young man. She will be married next month."

Whittier, California, has a single pear tree which produces an annual crop of fruit and bud wood worth $3000 and is insured by Lloyds of London for $30,000. We wouldn't mind taking a few boxes of pears from this tree on subscription.

Doubtless the allies would be glad to grind that German red wheat!

ANOTHER LINER SUNK

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The White Star liner Arable, en route from Liverpool to New York, was sunk early today by a German submarine about five miles from Pastnet and 60 miles from the spot where the Lusitania was similarly destroyed. The ship was torpedoed without warning. Of the 425 passengers and crew, 375 were landed at Queenstown and 48 are unaccounted for. Fifteen Americans were aboard.
