THISTLEDOWN

Whenever Uncle Sam involves himself in the internal affairs of Mexico, he may as well change the adjective by substituting an f for the t.

The glad industrial note that Walls Walls has been packing sixty tons of prunes per day will scarcely interest Colonel Boyd, who is full of them already.

These copious fall rains are a positive boon to several Umatilla county towns we wot of that haven't been doing much bragging of late on their respective water systems.

The following is an expression of "Autumnal Grief" in Rex Lampman's Sat. Ev'g Allibi moved our lachrymose office lamp to such a flood of tears that he didn't have to sprinkle down when he swept out the shop:

We are close on the idea of September, the haze hangs blue on the hills, and early again we remember our trouble with last winter's bills.

The flush on the forest is hectic, and hectic our thoughts as we peer—and grieve like a sad-eyed dyspeptic—on the way we squandered the year.

We're as gloomy as 'Tiddy the Colonel, when he sobes for our national weal; and our spirit is far, far from vernal—and we gulp when we think how we feel.

Yes, our days are in a sea and in yellow. But remains yet, to comfort our soul, the thought, we may find an umbrella, and stand off the bill for the coal.

The reference to "our soul" we ascribe to poetic license, and not to a serious claim on the part of Brother Lampman to any such spiritual and unfamiliar attribute.

Colonel Roosevelt is somehow unable to realize that he has been consigned to political oblivion—and his enemies are afraid to use an axe.

It's about time for the agricultural college to send out some dope on the value of straw hats for fall fodder.

Mr. Beale is herewith advised that if there hadn't been a change in the weather there should and probably would have been in the weather man.

The Allies want to borrow a billion, which is $999,999,999 more than we have about us just at present.

We've just received the following through the mails from some unknown and hopelessly irresponsible contributor who seems to have had a bad spell:

"After many hours of thoughtless study and deliberation the appended jingle sprang into being for your Thistledown column:

"If an S and an I and an O and a U spell SU,
And an E and Y and E spell I,
And an S and an I and a G and an H and an E and a D spell CIDE—
Then what in the world is a speller to do
But go off and commit SIOUX EYE
SIGHED?"

Which we hope this one does; and we'll pay the undertaker.

Concerning the Turk, it's singular how so sick a man fights so well.

Mexico doesn't know football well enough to appreciate Uncle Sam's interference.

Zim, in Cartoons magazine, presents an antediluvian idea of the farmer. Zim's foolish notions are so little appreciated here that we'll bet he couldn't graft a ride in one of our west king's latest seven-passenger bux wagons, nor sidestep the bulldog soon enough to hear a piece on his (the wheat king's) $750 player piano. This is the way he goes misanthropic misinformation:

"Farm life is an ideal life, especially in the story books and upon the theater stage. The farmer is his own boss and monarch of all the acres that are not plastered with mortgages. He arises with the little birds, hits up the hard cider in the cellar, then hies him thither to toy with the cattle—for milking at four a. m. is one of the joys of farm life. From the milking stool he wends his way to the woodpile and gleefully chops up a cord or two before the breakfast call. When the morning meal is over his real life begins. Blended with the buzz of rusty machinery, song and profanity, the remaining eighteen hours are whiled away. When the farm becomes so impoverished that it will raise nothing but chin whiskers, he lets the mortgage holder do his worst."

Bulgaria's own standing has not been improved by her understanding with Turkey.

Hearing the school bells, the youngsters are sorry that they aren't old enough to stay away and the grownups that they aren't young enough to go.

We fancy that the subsidence of the war cloud between the United States and Germany is due in no small degree to Count von Bernstorff, who is an example of what some have supposed to be an extinct species—the sensible and broad-minded German.

MUCH DOING NEXT WEEK IN THE FISTIC ARENA

Jack Carpenter is working out at the Weston gym for his bout at Pendleton next Friday night, the 25th, with George Ingle. He frequently has an audience, and local fight fans have become impressed with the fact that Carpenter has a most impressive wallop with either hand. Ingle will be wise to avoid any intimate connection with one of his full-grown punches. Billy Farrell and his brother Joe, who are among Pendleton's best-known fistic stars, were interested spectators Tuesday of Carpenter's work.

Ingle is the conqueror of Bud Anderson, and a good man with the padded mitta. Carpenter is said to have lost but three out of 124 fights. One of his victims beat Billy Papke, although the latter was then fading. These two boys therefore should put up a lively battle, and a number of local followers of the fight game say that they are going to Pendleton to see it. Among Carpenter's backers are Earl Couits of this city and W. E. Hagar of Pendleton.

Jockey Bennett and Billy Mascott are scheduled for a return engagement at Pendleton next Tuesday night, and this also is expected to prove a good one.

Robby Evans, the Portland lightweight who trained in Weston last spring and won three bouts while here, is billed for a go with Tommy Clark next Monday night at Athena.

CALIFORNIA POLO PONIES FOR ROUND-UP RELAYS

Pendleton, Ore., Sept. 14.—All the way from San Mateo, California, will come a bunch of sportsmen with a relay string to go in the relay races at the Roundup September 22, 24, 25.

These men are the San Mateo polo players on their way to Boise and will stop off at the Roundup to put their horses in the relay races just for the sport of it. Matched against them will be a polo team from Boise and it may be that these polo ponies will have something over the regular cow ponies when it comes to winning relays, but they have to contend against such riders as Sleepy Armstrong, Fred Spain, Bob Anderson, Allen Drumheller and other old-time winners who do not depend so much on the speed of their mounts as they do on their own ability to make the changes and thereby gain valuable seconds.

Everything is now ready for the sixth big exhibition. The bucking horses are being given their daily try-outs, the track is in shape, the bleachers are being repaired and the Indians are gathering their tepees and families preparatory to establishing the big camp on the grounds. The rains are improving the roads and conditions are now most favorable for the largest attendance ever noted, surpassing that of 1912 and 1913, for the local ticket sale has already passed the 1914 mark. Additional coaches and trains are being added daily and with this encouragement the boys are going to make the exhibition itself the greatest thing ever staged.

WESTON PEOPLE HELPED

Weston people have discovered that ONE SPOONFUL of simple buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., as listed in Adler's, relieves sore stomach, gas and constipation AT ONCE. This remedy is well known as the appendicitis preventative. H. Goodwin, druggist.

German scientist has invented a fine new yeast, but the Allies are "raising the dough."

SUMMONS

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Umatilla County.

Isabel Davis, Plaintiff, vs. Elva Floyd Davis, Defendant.
To Elva Floyd Davis, Defendant:
IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby summoned and required to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiff on file with the Clerk of the above entitled Court within six weeks from the date of the first publication of this summons to-wit, on or before Friday the 18th day of October, 1915; and you will take notice that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint or otherwise plead therein within said time, the plaintiff, or her next thereof, will apply to the above entitled court for the relief prayed for and demanded in the prayer of her complaint, to-wit, for a decree forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony now and heretofore existing between plaintiff and defendant and for other equitable relief.

This summons is published pursuant to an order duly made on the 1st day of September, 1915, by Hon. G. W. Phelps, Circuit Judge of the Umatilla District of the State of Oregon, and the first publication of this summons will be in the Weston Leader newspaper published at Weston, Umatilla County, Oregon, on the 21st day of September, 1915, and the last publication will be made on the 18th day of October, 1915.
Dated at Pendleton, Oregon, on this 1st day of September, A. D. 1915.
WILL M. PETERSON,
Attorney for Plaintiff.
