THISTLEDOWN

"Time is money," and motorists can save about $25 per minute by driving slowly through Weston.

If Wall Street seeks Prosperity, it has only to follow its Claws.

"Who was Alexander, ps, and why do they call him great?"
"Son, you disappoint me. I thought every school boy knew that he has pitched the Phillies into first place in the National League."

The Entente bankers have about reached the conclusion that half a billion is better than no kale.

The Kaiser is beginning to realize, we trow, that a "scrap of paper" is not precisely the kind which he precipitated.

The Caesar is evidently convinced that the Germans have done more than their share of Pole-vaulting on the eastern front.

We hear this gentle murrain from the suburbs through the simmering of "A Mulligan Stew" in the Athena Press:

"Seen' as Kernal Wood's metropolis originated the fight game in this section and further seen' as there seems to be a half-nelson on contest decisions, I'm in favor of suburban districts handin' the said game back to said metropolis without quail or quiver. By so doin' they'd have nothin' on us but the decision—the game going to where it rightfully belongs."

Kaiser Bill having subsided, it's about time to dissuade John Bull from insisting too strongly upon freedom of the seas.

With the advent of the Fall Bargain Festival, counter attacks will not be limited to Europe.

General Von Hindenburg is quoted as saying to a newspaper correspondent:

"I will win as many battles as you like against the Russians, but I never shall be able to beat their entire army."

Even the biggest of German buckets being insufficient to drain the ocean.

Harry K. Thaw having heartily endorsed the recall, we would now like to hear from Ambassador Dumba.

"Miss September Morn has the right idea in the matter of keeping cool," says a sweltering eastern paragrapher.

While we would like to see every Weston farmer get a dollar a bushel for his wheat, we likewise hold pronounced views concerning the financial benefits—to us—of fall subscription payments.

Concerning the great war, we still unhesitatingly predict the prediction that it will change the map of Europe—and that even if it doesn't the school book trust will change geographies.

The Panama canal should cut out the sliding, or it may injure its Colon.

We assume that the recent good roads meeting on top of the Blues was marked by high resolve and lofty sentiment.

Bulgaria may some day be sorry for putting the balk in the Balkans.

Pendleton's Roundup was a fine show in more ways than one, police court receipts having reached a total of $456.

Whatever else "The Result of Free Sugar," it has by no means sweetened the esteemed Pendleton Tribune.

ers' and not the farmer's, unless he chooses to buy some of the bonds. If every warring European government goes to pot and repudiates its obligations it will not be his funeral. No such a governmental lapse was ever recorded in history, but neither was another such a costly and colossal war.

The United States government had nothing to do with this loan. It was negotiated by private bankers, entirely within their rights, with representatives of the Entente Allies. Germany has no legitimate complaint to make. Were she in a position to negotiate and utilize a similar loan, she would not hesitate to do so.

Even so, the loan is a financial victory for the Allies, as is their smashing drive on the western front a martial victory. They are grinding their loins and strengthening their thews in men, munitions and money. It may possibly mean the beginning of the end for the royal houses of Hapsburg and Hohenzollern who—to use a homely but pertinent phrase—have "bit off more than they can chew."

ASTONISHES WESTON

The QUICK action of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-Is's, the appendicitis preventative, astonishes Weston people. ONE SPOONFUL of this remedy relieves sour stomach, gas and constipation AT ONCE. H. Goodwin, druggist.

Lewiston, Pa.—When William Stiff, left the open hearth of a furnace and requested his nephew to blow the dust from his clothes with a hose carrying 75 pounds of air pressure, he became violently ill and died after a night of frightful suffering. Physicians claim the sudden application of cold air to his overheated body caused a rupture of the bowels.

Nebo, Ill.—G. C. Boyles has an egg laid by one of his hens on which are fine pictures of a chicken, a dog, a pistol and a giraffe. None of the pictures would rub off.

HAPPY CANYON'S HAPPY WEDDING

Mr. Fred G. Dupuis and Miss Leota Dunning of Weston were united in marriage Saturday night in Happy Canyon. The happy event was witnessed by five thousand people or more—the largest crowd that ever attended a Pendleton wedding. The principals were escorted by John Banister, Jr., and Miss Eunice Wilsey, also of Weston, and all four of the young people were in picturesque western garb and rode handsome horses.

The officiating minister, Rev. J. E. Snyder, pastor of the Presbyterian church, was also mounted and wore a sombrero which contrasted effectively with his clerical black. He read the service in an impressive manner, and a solemn hush fell over the vast assemblage as the young couple gave their responses. The silence remained unbroken until they had sealed their vow with a kiss and started to ride away, when the crowd cheered its congratulations and the cowboy band played a resounding wedding march.

Returning to Weston Saturday night in Mr. Banister's auto, the wedding party met with a reception by no means neighborly nor enthusiastic. They were arrested for speeding, and next day the bridegroom and groomsmen were mulcted for fines by the licensing authorities. Later on the fines were remitted, the arrest having been planned and carried out as a practical joke. Until the denouement it was by no means appreciated by the victims.

Mr. and Mrs. Dupuis will make their home in a cottage on East Main street which was purchased by the bridegroom and is being costly furnished.
