Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Gould of Milton were week-end visitors at the home of W. H. Gould.
Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gordon were here Sunday from their farm beyond Athens, visiting with relatives and friends.
Taken up—One gray pony with Indian brand on right hip. Inquire of or address H. A. Haverland, Weston, Oregon.
Mrs. Gilbert E. Baker and daughter Patricia of Salt Lake City, are visiting Miss Patricia's grandpa, Merritt A. Baker.
Milton has announced its first big sales day, to be conducted by the associated merchants of the town, for Tuesday, October 28.
According to the Tribune, approximately 150,000 bushels of wheat was sold to Pendleton grain dealers Saturday afternoon at 86 to 87 cents.
Announcement—We wish to announce that we are adding to our already large and up-to-date furniture stock an Exchange Department. E. O. DeMoss.
The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wilson died Friday morning at the home of Mrs. L. Vanderpool. The child was only four hours old when the Dark Angel took it away.
The farm residence of Mrs. Z. C. Price is being wired for electric lights, the improvement requiring a half mile of pole between town and the Price farm. The barn will be similarly illuminated.
Ben Walden, the Dry creek pioneer, has leased his small farm in that district to Bert Boylan, who formerly occupied the Sommerville ranch. Mr. Walden intends coming to town to make his home.
A. B. Woods and family of Walla Walla, were visiting in Weston Sunday, having motored over in their new Studebaker. Accompanying them as guests were Rev. J. C. Goodrich, pastor of the United Brethren Church at Walla Walla, and Mrs. Goodrich.
"Hamp" Booher has been getting very busy with a paint brush at his attractive farm a mile south of town. His barn, hog house, wagon sheds, poultry houses and all other outbuildings will glow in red when he finishes the job, while white will be applied to his residence.
George W. Mortamer, 34 years old, a prominent farmer of the Holdman district, died Sunday in Pendleton of pneumonia. He is survived by his widow, three children, four step-children, his parents and three brothers. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mortamer of Weston.
While soldering a gasoline tank which, unknown to him, contained a small amount of that ebullient fluid, W. B. Marcho, an Athens plumber, had a startling experience, according to the Press. The tank, exploded when the torch was applied, but because two pipe vents were open Mr. Marcho escaped with a severe shock.

The Weston neighborhood—in common, doubtless, with the remainder of the inland Empire—has been enjoying beautiful October weather. The skies are serene, the atmosphere balmy and the temperature just about right—neither too hot nor too cold. The trouble is that this sort of weather is regarded just now as altogether too delightful. Rain is needed to drench the earth and swell the water veins. Farmers hereabouts would like to get busy with travel and carefully reap the soil is lacking in moisture and they are compelled to employ their time in scanning the skies for a rain cloud. Lowell Rogers, John Banister and a few others are reported to be seeding on the reservation, despite unfavorable conditions, but around Weston enforced idleness is the rule.
Professor Lloyd L. Epley, president of Philomath College, Weston, visited Weston Sunday and preached both the morning and evening sermons at the United Brethren Church. Philomath College was founded as early as 1867, at a time when there was not a railroad in all Oregon. Not long afterward it refused an appropriation from the state to convert it into an agricultural college, as the regents did not wish to surrender its denominational character. Had this offer been accepted, it is likely that Philomath and not its larger neighbor, Corvallis, would have been the final seat of the O. A. C. The college claims to have sent out more than four thousand students, of whom a thousand have become teachers. Not a few have reached distinction in different walks of life.
Weston's Main Street improvement has become a source of pride to the home guard and of gratification to the wayfarer. A mixture of earth and gravel was spread and was then rolled again and again by the county's steam roller, loaned to the town for the purpose. The result is a well-made and attractive thoroughfare, very creditable to the judgment of Street Superintendent L. Wilson, who planned and executed the work. Although of comparatively cheap construction—the total cost may not exceed $300—it promises to stand up well during the fall and winter rains. It is the intention of the authorities to apply oil next spring to this and other streets.
J. M. Ashworth and Henry Schroeder have finished building Roy Hedrick's new bungalow on Weston mountain, and say that they regret leaving there, as it was a very nice and hospitable place to stay. "All are good cooks up there except Roy," says Jim. They are now at Spring Hollow on the reservation, where they are building a large farm residence for Moses Taylor. Including the bath room it will have a dozen rooms and one of its exterior embellishments will consist of a bungalow porch 72 feet in length. When completed, Mr. Taylor will have in every way a comfortable and attractive country home.
Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dunnick were injured in a runaway accident Monday evening while driving the Black grade east of the MacKenzie place from their home on Weston mountain. When their team took fright the wagon partly turned over, throwing them both to the ground. Mr. Dunnick sustained a broken foot and a number of severe and painful bruises. Mr. Dunnick's back was injured, but not seriously, and he was able to "hobble about" the next day after the accident. Dr. Smith was called to attend the patients, whose injuries were feared at first to be of a critical nature.
Pendleton is rejoicing that it is on the route of the Blue and the Black Trails of the American Automobile association. According to the Black Oregonian, "the Black trail leads to Portland via Heppner, and the Blue trail runs from Spokane through Walla Walla to Pendleton, and thence south into California." The several trails are marked with red, blue and black signs, and join coast to coast with a great touring route. "This system is bound to bring hundreds of auto tourists and others into Pendleton annually" and will be a big boon to the city," the East Oregonian continues.

Three cars of brick which went out in one day recently from the Weston brickyard were billed as follows: One to Mora, Oregon; one to Wasco, Oregon, and one to Pomeroy, Washington. One day's distribution of its product to three such comparatively distant points indicates the importance which the Weston brick industry has assumed in the inland Empire. Inquiries for brick are constantly being received and considered by Manager Harbour, and indicate the resumption of building activity throughout a wide area in eastern Oregon and Washington.
Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Crigler of Ferndale, Oregon, were in this neighborhood Wednesday, visiting the Black and Blue trails, and also their son, French Crigler, near Athens. Mr. Crigler was a Weston resident about 25 years ago, and is well remembered by the old-timers—whom he seldom sees, however. He is in his eighty-third year, and doesn't often stray away from home.
More than 34,000 bushels of wheat have been bought since last Friday by local dealers at from 85 to 87 cents. Frank Price, manager of the Weston Warehouse Co., took on 20,446 bushels, and S. A. Barnes, agent of the Pacific Warehouse Co., 14,000 bushels. Mr. Barnes also bought about 8000 sacks of barley, including 6100 sacks last Wednesday, at $24 and $25.
F. G. Lucas, local realty operator, and L. Hedrick, the garage man, left Monday in Mr. Lucas' Maxwell on a business trip to American Falls, Idaho. They expect to be absent a week or more.
Al Quessel, who has been employed at Snider's blacksmith shop during the summer, left yesterday for Roslyn, B. C., to look after his property interests. Later he will visit his home at Tacoma.
"Variety is the spice of life," sayeth the poet. If you are tired of seeing pieces of furniture or have no use for it, come in and visit the Exchange Department of the DeMoss Furniture store.
Vocal Culture—A. W. Lundell, B. M., will accept a limited number of pupils in singing and sight reading on reasonable terms. Class forming now. Your piano tuned at city prices.
Wanted—To borrow $100 for three months on $2,500.00 worth of personal security. Will pay 25 interest. Inquire at this office.
Manager Rawls Miller announces that he will give no motion picture shows in Weston next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

WESTON DAY IS FREE DAY
Visitors Asked to Leave Purses at Home.
SATURDAY, OCT. 30
Free Feed, Free Souvenirs, Free Motion Pictures.

Everybody in town, everybody out of town, is invited to be here at noon on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, with EMPTY STOMACHS and EMPTY POCKET BOOKS.
We will take care of you. Every man, woman and child will be given a Free Ticket for Dinner, a Free Ticket to a Fine Motion Picture Show, a Free Ticket for a Souvenir Gift of the Day.
More than ONE THOUSAND ARTICLES ranging from lead pencils to valuable prizes will be given away FREE that day. Not a soul need go home without a full stomach or without a Souvenir Gift or without seeing a good motion picture show—and all as free as air.
This is a Farmers' Town, and we want the Farmers out of town to come in and mix with the Farmers in town. This is no "Bargain Day," no "Dress Up Day," no "TAG DAY." OUR BARGAINS are here every day. Our People are DRESSED UP every day, and we will play "TAG" when we have nothing better to do.
The following business people are making the SOUVENIR GIFTS; and when you have drawn your number you will hunt from place to place until you find a like number on some article—and that article is YOURS. It may be a sack of coal, a sack of flour, a wheat check, a bunch of clothes pins or a Ten Dollar Garment. It will be out in plain sight, so you won't need to miss up goods or go behind the counters. Just use your eyes!

It is their request that the ladies of the Methodist and United Brethren Churches serve this feed in the Pioneer Picnic tent at noon on Saturday, October 30, in cafeteria style, with paper plates. Seats furnished, and every man, woman and child is welcome.
The FREE MOTION PICTURE SHOW will be provided by Mr. E. D. Hewitt, who is introducing a fine new outfit at Weston. He will have a good collection of the latest reels which will be kept going at Weston Opera House until all are satisfied.
COMMITTEE.
A Free Feed and some for you. Read Watts & Rogers' ad.
A new, clean, fresh stock of groceries at The Black Store. Prices are right.
C. E. Nelson, district manager of the Equitable, was up from Pendleton yesterday.
Joe Wood has established an auto stage route between Weston and Milton, making two trips daily.
W. P. Read, after another scout around, hob-nobbed with Weston till-ums for a few days this week.
Wilbur Hopkins of Dayton, Wash., is visiting at the home of his brother, I. C. Hopkins, on Weston mountain.
Our stock of second-hand goods is bigger and better than ever and will interest you. Come in. E. E. Zehm.
Miss Alma Barnett is confined to her home through a recurrence of her illness, and is reported to be in a serious condition.
Arthur Ross has leased his farm south of town, known as the Waddingham place, to his brother, J. A. Ross, for a term of three years.
County Commissioner H. M. Cuckburn has gone to Portland with his mother, Mrs. E. J. Cuckburn of Milton, who will establish a specialist there and may be required to sustain an operation.
Weston has annexed John York as a townsman, ratepayer and fellow citizen. Mr. York having completed his deal with Mrs. Margaret Wheeler for the purchase of her residence property on south Water street.
The Misses Irene and Minnie Snell of Toronto, Canada, were guests during the week of their cousin, Miss Edna Ross. They are touring the Pacific Coast and will next visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition.
Bringing home a handsome display of elk's teeth and several hundred pounds of meat, Fay LeCroy, Homer L. Watts and Sam Pamburn of Athens have returned from a successful elk hunt in the Continental Divide region of Montana. Frank Grasty, a Montana hunter, accompanied the party.
Following their business meeting Tuesday the directors of the Weston Mercantile Company and their wives were entertained at dinner by Dr. and Mrs. P. D. Watts. The affair was in the nature of a reception to Manager and Mrs. J. E. Slover, who were welcomed to our midst in hospitable and neighborly fashion. Others present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hey Wlan, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Key, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. Slim J. Colley, Mr. and Mrs. L. I. O'Hara.

Weston Free Day
is our hobby just now
In appreciation of the business the good people of this country have given us the past year, we invite everybody in town and out of town to come together for a FREE FEED in the Pioneer Picnic tent on SATURDAY, OCTOBER 30, at our expense.
LEAVE YOUR POCKET BOOKS AT HOME
The merchants of this town who are named elsewhere will give every man, woman and child a souvenir gift for the day, a free ticket to a moving picture show, and a free cafeteria dinner if you will get here at noon.
Watts & Rogers

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Benefield left yesterday for Portland.
A social dance under new management is announced for tomorrow evening at Weston opera house. Good music will be provided.
Joe Hodgson is feeding a bunch of hogs at Meadowbrook Farm, and together with C. M. Price will make a shipment soon to Portland.
The J. B. Harris and William Zigmanos from over Walla Walla way motored up Reed and Hawley mountain yesterday to see the Trajan Tuckers.
Judge Knox, the pioneer lawyer, is able to appear on the streets again after his severe illness, but has partially lost the use of his vocal organs.
Edmund Mable, manager at Pendleton of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, was in town Wednesday conferring with the local manager.
Chris Thoeny, the Weston truck farmer and tinsmith, was called to the suburbs last week to do the tinning on the Anderson bungalow, lower Third street, Athens.
We have a carload of the newest 1214 furniture coming, which will be on the floor in a few days. Do us a favor by letting us show you our stock. E. O. DeMoss.
Robert Andrews of East Portland, grand patriarch, H. J. Taylor, past grand master, and R. F. Kirkpatrick of Pendleton met last evening with the local lodge of Odd Fellows. An oyster supper was served.
Colonel Boyd of Athens is reported to be absent on his annual hunting trip, and The Leader is prepared to reaffirm its standing bet that he doesn't even bring home a jackrabbit. Boyd can hunt with the best of 'em, his deficiencies being apparent only when it comes to fetching any game to camp. We would really like to see him bring in a grizzly bear—a live and energetic one, navigating under its own steam—just to test his speed.
The library board of Athens have announced their second annual library ball, to be given Saturday evening, October 30, at the Odd Fellows and Pythian hall. Such distinguished suburbanites as Mayor Homer I. Watts, Councilmen Littlejohn, Dell Miller, M. L. Watts, Froomo, and Welch and Treasurer Zerba will serve on the floor committee. We understand that the metropolitan crowd from Weston is especially invited to attend and to join with the Athens people in their festivities.

This Briquet Man
hasn't got the STUMMY-KAKE, as you would probably think from his looks; he is merely asking for more kake of the kind his wife bakes when she burns DIAMOND BRIQUETS in her range. DIAMOND BRIQUETS is the cleanest and, we think, the most economical fuel on the market. We have carload now in stock and would be glad to supply you with a sample order.
