Established 1891

Our depositors are increasing in number as well as deposits in value; but we have room for more. Don't hang back because the start looks small. Everything starts that way. Just a short time ago the European war was only talk. See how it has grown; yet a small bank account is worth more than two such wars.

"THE NEW MINISTER" IS GREETED WITH ENTHUSIASM

"The New Minister" was introduced Tuesday evening to an audience that filled Weston opera house to the doors, and made such a favorable impression that words of praise have since been heard on every street corner of this appreciative little burg.

In footlight patter the production went big—to an extent that even the performers themselves were surprised. Some of them have been heard to say that their rehearsals gave no promise of such a glittering success, and they are now so pleasantly disappointed that they go about with beaming faces to receive the plaudits of the populace.

The company was a large one, containing (with orchestra) in the neighborhood of thirty people. They had rehearsed faithfully, and the result was finally seen in a really finished performance. The pleasing songs and choruses and laughable dialogue in the piece were "put over" in a manner that would do credit to a professional troupe. Not a few people are saying that it was the best amateur production ever staged in Weston.

"The Music Committee" (Messrs. Hodgson, Greer and Lundell) were assured by fellow warblers in the dressing room that they could have everything they wanted for a song; they had but to sing and the owner would move away and ten times in unaltered possession. This capricious malice did not discourage them, however, and they went out and sang like a trio of Carusos. Joe Hodgson made an especial hit by losing his voice. When the time came to stroke it in accordance with the action, it was missing, but he went right ahead as per schedule. He hadn't lost his voice.

The role of Daisy was charmingly sung by Miss Lois Porter. Mrs. E. E. Carmichael, originally cast for the part, was prevented from appearing because of illness. Claud Pierce was admirable in voice, action and make-up as "The New Minister." The principals received splendid support throughout from every member of the cast.

The gross earnings at popular prices were about $14, and will net a substantial sum for the Saturday Afternoon Club, who were sponsors of the affair. Especial credit for the success of the production is due Mrs. F. D. Watts, pianist and manager; Pre-Louis Young, Ida Young, Opelia Young, Willard Young, Alice Young, Michael Young, Barbara Young, Hugo Schmidt, Cynthia Brophy, Agnes E. Jones, James Peters, Maggie Peters, Richard Peters, Samuel Peters, Myrtle Peters, John Peters, Ethel Peters, Wm.
