FORD

The Universal Car

Three strong reasons urge you to buy the Ford car: First, because of its record of satisfactory service to more than fifteen hundred thousand owners; Second, because of the reliability of the Company which makes it; Third, because of its large radiator and enclosed fan, streamline hood, crown fenders front and rear, black finish, nickel trimmings, it is most attractive in appearance. To these must be added its wonderful economy in operation and maintenance—about two cents a mile; likewise the fact that by reason of its simplicity in construction anyone can operate and care for it. Touring Car $414.85. Roadster $399.85.

H. L. HEDRICK-WESTON GARAGE

HARVEST BRIEFS

J. M. Banister of this city had 825 sacks of wheat in one of the Adams warehouses destroyed by fire. It was insured at a dollar a bushel.

K. G. Saling, who believes in utilizing his summer fallow, has had six men at work this week taking care of his bean crop on 40 acres of land near town. He expects to begin threshing today.

Iley Winn finished threshing Friday after a run of 24½ days, having harvested 1000 acres in the region between Holdman and Vancycle. His own crop from a section of land was 9400 sacks. Mr. Winn used his caterpillar engine to run his separator.

Wheat was active Saturday at Walla Walla, where 200,000 bushels were sold at prices ranging from $1.26 to $1.36, the latter figure having been paid by millers for turkey red. Pendleton reported the sale of 60,000 bushels Saturday at $1.22. Walla Walla quotations are f. o. b.

R. G. Blomgren has bought Eph Tucker's threshing outfit, consisting of a bundle thresher and a portable gasoline engine. He housed the machines after taking care of his own crop of 2600 sacks of barley—which was about the average for past seasons on the Blomgren ranch.

J. M. Banister's threshing outfit "pulled in" Tuesday after a run of 33 days, having made an average run of about 35 acres daily. Mayon Banister is much pleased with the work of the self-propelled combine which he put into commission this season. It marched right along, did clean separating, and gave little or no trouble.

James Hill, a substantial young farmer of Helix, was in town yesterday with Frank King and reports the Helix harvest to have been the best on record. One of the largest averages was had by Henry Hendrickson, 54 bushels to the acre from a quarter section. Bert Winn cropped between 45 and 49 bushels per acre from 600 acres. Mr. Hill's own average from 1760 acres was 40 bushels. Three hundred acres of the home place went no less than 52 bushels and boosted the total.

One of the most noteworthy barley crops of the season was had by D. B. Banister from the Nelson place one mile below Athena, part of which is bottom land. The tract of 100 acres yielded between 75 and 80 bushels per acre, although half of it had been sown on spring plowing. That alfalfa helps the soil for grain was shown by this field, as it has given three fine barley crops since the alfalfa was plowed up. Mr. Banister sold his barley at $33 per ton, and regards 1916 as a pretty good year.

Leonard (Dummy) Blomgren—popular young agriculturist and baseball backstop—had rather a nice little crop from a dozen acres of rented land on the Anderson place in the foothills. The tract yielded 250 sacks of wheat or somewhere around 50 bushels per acre. Dummy is finding some use for the mathematics which he learned at O. A. C. in trying to figure how many simoleons would have flown his way if he had planted a dozen dozen acres, or a dozen dozen dozen. (Which doesn't fatten his banking account however.)

As an instance of the profit in farming operations this year, W. G. Estes of Athena is credited with netting $900 from only 28 acres of wheat in the Wild Horse neighborhood, after hiring all the work done. Up near Astoria, in the Anatonie country, Guy Shelman paid for 100 acres of land with this year's barley crop, which brought $45 to the acre. He bought the land a year ago and seeded it last fall. Which reminds us that anyone who wants to trade a farm for a G. Wash. in prime condition can get a bargain by inquiring at the Leader office.

Wheat Grower Buys Truck.

John Harder of Condon, who has just threshed the product of his broad acres of wheat land, says that it doesn't pay to haul wheat with heavy draft horses. Therefore he motored down to Portland last week and bought a White truck.

Mr. Harder figured that a four-speed truck was just the thing to haul heavy loads over the volcanic ash roads in his territory. His new truck will be used largely in hauling wheat from Mr. Harder's farm to the railway station at Condon.

No Car Shortage.

There is no unusual car shortage in the county this year so far, H. W. Collins said today. The Oregon-Washington is a little behind in its orders but the conditions are not worrying the buyers and are no worse than heretofore.—Tribune.

Mrs. A. L. Cole of Pendleton was here Wednesday for a visit with her brother, O. T. Douglas.

Prune Harvest About Over.

This week will see the prune crop about harvested and the growers are receiving a good figure for their fruit. For a time on account of the threatened strike, conditions did not look the best for the growers, but as the strike of railway employees did not materialize, no bad effects were felt. Apples will be next on the program at the fruit houses, and present indications point to a good crop.—Milton Eagle.
