

A WONDERFUL READING LAMP

One cannot realize what a flood of light the Air-O-lite lamp gives without seeing it. It makes and burns its own gas from common gasoline. Gives a fine, bright, white light of 300 candle power at a cost of one cent per night.

Air-O-lite lamps are safe, economical and ornamental. No danger if lamp upsets. Simple and easy to operate. Full directions come with each lamp.

Model M 307, as illustrated, is the most popular lamp ever made. It is made of brass throughout and heavily nickel plated. Nothing is cheapened or slighted in any way. The large fount holds four pints of gasoline. Comes complete with 10-inch opal ribbed dome shade as shown at

A mantle of white on the foothills near Weston Sunday morning indicated the near approach of winter. During the heavy rain in the lowlands Saturday, snow fell in the mountains, and reached a depth of six inches or more. Mail carriers report that the mountain roads are in bad condition.

Joe Lieuellen returned the first of the week from Morrow county, where he attended his daughter's wedding. He says that threshing is still in progress around Ione and Lexington and will continue several weeks, so large is the acreage. Farmers generally will get out of debt this year and some will have a surplus.

The editor of the Weekly Bulldogger informs a callous public that he has an acute attack of hay fever, and says: "Inasmuch as this is not the accepted season for hay fever attacks, we can only explain ours by the fact that we have been handling a good many straw votes lately." While the malady lasts, there ought to be a lot of good wheezes in the Bulldogger's coliums.

The campaign was wound up at Weston Saturday night by the Republicans, who held a rally at the opera house. Arthur I. Moulton, of Portland, was the principal speaker, and gave an eloquent speech in support of the Republican presidential candidate. Even the Wilson men present praised the speech as an excellent one from the G. O. P. standpoint, although declaring that it could not change their votes. Mr. Moulton lived in Weston when a boy, and the people of this community are glad of the distinction he is winning in law and politics.

East Oregonian: For a price of $1.50 per bushel, W. W. Harrah sold 10,000 bushels of club wheat in Kansas City on November 2. The wheat was sold to the Terminal Elevator of Kansas City, and the price is for the wheat, f. o. b. Pendleton, unsacked. According to Mr. Harrah, the Portland price for sacked wheat on November

2 was the same as he received for his wheat here unsacked. Consequently he feels he made a good sale. He had 30,000 bushels for sale but declined to sell more than 10,000 bushels, although he would have disposed of the entire crop at $1.50 per bushel.

The grand chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, who will perhaps be accompanied by the grand keeper of records and seal, will visit Stevens lodge No. 49, in Weston, on Wednesday evening, November 22, while touring Umatilla county. His dates for the county are as follows: Pendleton the 20th, Milton the 21st, Weston the 22nd, Athena the 23rd and Helix the 24th. Local Pythians will endeavor to make the visit a pleasant one for their distinguished guest.

The Saturday Afternoon club met at the home of Mrs. W. A. Graham, October 4. The afternoon was principally taken up with the study of the amendments and various measures to be voted upon the following Tuesday, Mrs. J. F. Snider acting as leader. After this weighty mental exercise the ladies were glad later to partake of luncheon and to devote a brief period to lighter topics. Mrs. G. F. Snider, of Dayton, Wash., was present as a guest of the club.

So eager were they to see the Pendleton-La Grande high school football game Saturday that Arnold Reed and Dewey Gervais, two Pendleton boys, walked the entire distance over the mountain from Pendleton to La Grande. They left Pendleton at 4:30 Friday afternoon and reached Meacham at midnight. Leaving at 7:30 the next morning, they reached La Grande at 2:30, in time for the game, making the 75 miles in 13 hours.

New York, Nov. 8.—A republican majority of about 30 in the house of representatives, and a largely-reduced democratic majority in the senate, were indicated by early returns. Conservative estimates, which would have given the republicans 217 members as against 215 democratic members, had been modified by the returns from New York state alone to give the republicans 220 members.

Returns from Illinois indicated, judging from the figures on the presidential race, that the republicans would make substantial gains in the house.

It will probably not be definitely known just what the status of the senate is until complete returns from all states are compiled, but early returns showed at least one gain which had not been counted as sure by the republican leaders. Scattering returns from Maryland indicate that J. Erwin France, republican, may beat David J. Lewis.

If the early returns should be borne out, the republicans will have gained seats east of the Mississippi in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Ohio and two in Indiana, a total of six seats. The probable loss of one in Delaware offsets the September gain in Maine, so that the republicans will only have to gain two more seats for a tie in the upper house.

Republicans have high hopes of gaining seats in the senate in Missouri, Nebraska, Montana, Nevada and Arizona. The republican weak spots are North Dakota, Wyoming and New Mexico.
