NUMBER 25

FOR RIGHTEOUS WAR UPON WHITE PLAGUE

CHILDREN TO SELL RED CROSS STAMPS TUBERCULOSIS WEEK—DEC. 3 TO 10

The children of 1400 rural Oregon schools have been using lessons on the fight against tuberculosis as texts in their class work during the past year. The lessons were furnished free by the Oregon Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis as a part of its work.

Now they are organizing to help the Red Cross Seal sale of the association so that this method of disseminating information may be continued and the association be strengthened in its campaign to exterminate the dread disease in this state.

Acting under the formal approval and permission of the board of school directors, the children of 62 Portland schools will also join in the big movement.

Last year the children secured $775.74 from the sale of Red Cross Seals. It is expected that more than $1000 will result from their enthusiastic work this year. Their effort will be made principally during "Tuberculosis Week."

This comes December 3 to 10, reaching a climax with "Tuberculosis Sunday," December 10, when every pupil in the state is asked to join the campaign by recounting progress and repeating the warnings against the disease.

The association has sent a letter direct to the children of each school. It tells them how to proceed. It tells them why the work is so much worth while. It tells them the story of Danny.

Danny had a penny. It was a bright, shiny, new penny. He took it to school. Instead of spending it for a stick of candy he bought with it a Red Cross Seal. Danny knew a boy who could not run or play because he had who was called tuberculosis. Teacher said the Red Cross Seals were sold to help this boy and to tell other boys and girls, and grown people, too, how to keep well and strong and happy.

He put the seal on his desk. As he looked at it the picture of Santa Claus seemed to grow larger. Santa seemed to wink, seemed to smile. Then he stepped out of the seal. He took Danny on a wonderful ride behind his reindeer.

Danny saw tiny germs cause tuberculosis. He saw a boy who whined when told to go out in the fresh air and play. He almost ran over a sunbeam that was bound earthward to kill the germs. He saw the building where the multitudes of pennies given by boys and girls were being assembled to use their united power against the disease. Suddenly Danny found himself back in school. But he was glad that with his penny, the only penny he had, he had bought a Red Cross Seal.

Fears Rabies From Coyote Bite

Will Knowlton, a resident of McKay creek, was bitten last Saturday night by a coyote believed to have been rabid, when he and his father, D. C. Knowlton, were attacked. Only the heavy boots of the father prevented his being bitten. The animal was killed with a gun by young Knowlton. The head of the animal was sent to Portland for examination, and a dog which was first attacked is being closely watched to see if rabies develop.

Tillamook—Several carloads of Tillamook cheese are being shipped to the East this week. This is the first time in the history of the Oregon industry that cheese has been sent from here to the Eastern states.

JACK LONDON

Jack London, the famous author, who died suddenly last week at his California home.

SUSPECT IN TRUNK MURDER CAPTURED

Portland, Or.—George Bartholomew, sought for more than a year as a principal in the "Green Trunk Murder," was arrested in Seattle, and is held for the local authorities on a charge of killing John Lind at 407 Stark street on November 19, 1915.

Bartholomew is said to have laid the killing to a man named Lund, presumed to have followed Lind and Bartholomew from San Francisco to Portland. Bartholomew's alleged confession is that Lund killed Lind and paid Bartholomew $20 to help dispose of the body, which was found in a green trunk floating at the foot of Flanders street. This statement is contrary to evidence collected by the local police, who learned that a man of Bartholomew's description had hired the wagon in which the trunk was hauled from the lodgings of Mrs. Anna De Coursey, 407 Stark street.

GOLD IN TREASURY GROWS

Stanfields Make Big Deal

Baker, Or.—Baker sheepmen were much interested today in the report of the sale of Malheur Livestock & Land Company to a company headed by the Stanfield brothers. According to the report the sale was one of the largest sheep deals ever made in the west and was consummated several days ago when Robert N. Stanfield, of Stanfield, Ore., Montie B. Gwinn, of Boise, G. E. Stanfield, Glen McCullough and H. L. Stanfield, purchased from P. H. O'Neil and sons the property of the Malheur Livestock & Land company. It is understood this property has a valuation of approximately $550,000. The purchase price has not been made.

The holdings consist of 40,000 young, select breeding ewes; about 38,000 acres of deeded land and 28,000 acres of leased land, aside from forest reserve rights. The land is located in Malheur, Grant, Harney and Baker counties, Oregon. There are also some cattle and other livestock. Included in the real estate holdings is the famous Cowley ranch, consisting of 11,200 acres, at the head of Barren valley. This ranch is irrigated from a storage reservoir which is closed by a cement dam 70 feet high.

There are 1100 acres now in alfalfa and cultivation, and it is the intention of the present owners to immediately develop and place in cultivation an additional 1500 acres which will make 2500 acres of alfalfa in one tract.

WESTON WEDDINGS THANKSGIVING DAY

McFADDEN-BANISTER

Miss Gladys Banister and Mr. Kern McFadden were united in marriage Thanksgiving afternoon at five o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, Mayor and Mrs. J. M. Banister. The impressive double ring ceremony was used, Rev. Mr. Everett of Athens officiating.

The bride, who is a beautiful girl, was charmingly gowned in white tulle with a veil of tulle, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Dorothy McConnell and Caroline Kidder were the flower girls, and the rings were carried by Catherine Kidder in a calla lily. The wedding couple were attended by Miss Edna Banister, sister of the bride, and Mr. C. Fish of Boise, Idaho.

The rooms were tastefully decorated in yellow and white chrysantheums and yellow chiffon, and the bride wore a yellow and white gown. As the bridal party entered the parlor, "Oh Promise Me" was sweetly sung by Mrs. R. G. Saling.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McFadden motored to Walla Walla for a short honeymoon trip. They will be at home after December 3 at Athens, where Mr. McFadden is employed in Ware's pharmacy.

Present at the wedding were Mrs. McFadden, the groom's mother, and her daughter, of Corvallis; Mrs. Fred Stine of Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Leonard and family of Watsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee and family of Milton; Mr. and Mrs. George Lousien, Mr. and Mrs. George Banister and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Len Kidder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caton, Mr. D. B. Banister and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Gordon, of Athens; Miss Stella Lousien of Walla Walla; Mrs. J. W. Chapin and daughter, Mrs. Mary Banister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl McConnell and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Saling, and the Misses Odessa Kirkpatrick, Gladys Smith, Ethel Waddingham, Ora Martin, Lela Wilson and Nellie Nelson.

JUDAY-BEELER

A quiet home wedding took place at one o'clock Thanksgiving afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Beeler, when their daughter, Miss Blanche Beeler, became the bride of Mr. Benj. E. Juday of Ione, Oregon. Rev. W. B. Smith read the service.

The bride was attired in her going-away suit of peacock blue cloth, and carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and bride roses.

Dinner was served immediately following the ceremony. The floral decoration for the table was a magnificent center piece of yellow chrysantheums presented by Miss Flora McConoughy of Walla Walla, who is a guest at the Beeler home.

Mr. and Mrs. Juday left at once for their home at Ione, where the young man is engaged in farming and dairying. They are accompanied by the best wishes of numerous friends, as the bride is one of Weston's most estimable girls.

Pendleton Man is New Prison Warden

Captain Charles A. Murphy, formerly engineer at the state hospital in Pendleton, and well known in this section, has been appointed warden of the penitentiary, and after a conference with members of the board of control, took up his new duties Monday.

While admitting that he contemplates making several changes, he said that he was not yet prepared to announce them, and also that he desired to study conditions before announcing any definite policy.

The board vested Captain Murphy with full authority to employ and discharge his subordinates and, at his suggestion, ordered an audit of the prison books. He also suggested that an accounting system be installed, and this met with the board's favor.

Salem—The Country club here is to erect a building—a brick block on Liberty street.

Marahfield—The Oregon Power Co. has secured a 25-year franchise in Marahfield for gas and electric service.

BRIEF WAR NEWS

On the French front, except for small attacks, little activity has been displayed.

Vice-Admiral du Fournet, the entente commander, has delivered an ultimatum to Greece, allowing only a short period in which the arms in Athens are to be surrendered.

In the Macedonian theater there has been no infantry action except on the left wing, where the Italians have made further progress toward Tornova, near the Monastir-Prashe lake road.

Another appeal from the Belgian government for American influence against the deportation of Belgians to work in Germany was handed to the state department by Minister Haventh.

There has been considerable artillery firing along the eastern front from the Riga region to the Carpathians, with the Germans the aggressors, and also on the Austro-Italian front, with the Austrians on the initiative.

The fortified town of Hamsgate, on the English coast, was bombarded by German naval vessels. The German craft sank the only hostile vessel, a British patrol ship, which was encountered, the Germans returning to their base.

The situation in Roumania as described in the news shows that General von Falkenhayn's forces having gained the railway at Craiova had rapidly pushed to the southeast and are, according to German official accounts, already in touch with Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces, which crossed the Danube at Zimnita and now are before Alexandria.

Reports say that the roads leading eastward from the Alt river are encumbered with fleeing Roumanian supply columns, and marked by burning villages.
