FRIDAY, FEB. 16 - - - - - 1917

Entered at the postoffice at Weston, Oregon, as second-class mail matter.

The Walla Walla valley would be a lovely neighbor if it would only keep its infernal fog at home.

Perchance the good people who are pestering Wilson with peace petitions would find in China an harmonious habitat—since China never resists aggression.

Now that Mexico has come to bat with a peace proposal to the warring powers, we assume that Satan will soon be twanging a golden harp.

The great war will be worth all it costs if it only results in an international peace league whose combined military and naval strength will be used only as police power to enforce the rulings of an international court.

With a fire starting in his attic Uncle Sam is getting ready to insure his house.

Now that for more than a year every visitor has been fully advised that Weston once had a corner fire, we would suggest a change of advertisement.

Recognizing the LEADER'S value as a publicity medium the Secretary of the Interior authorizes us to announce the "opening to entry on March 6 at 9 o'clock a. m. of approximately 1300 acres in the second unit of the West Extension of the Umatilla, Or., reclamation project."

News reports from day to day would seem to indicate that there isn't much more likelihood of war between the United States and Germany than there is of death and taxes.

The encouraging news that Japan will aid the United States in the event of war with Germany shows that the Administration was not without method in its successful efforts to put the kibosh on anti-Japanese land legislation in the Idaho and Oregon legislatures.

One Salem mystery, at this distance, is what has become of the Sheldon resolution.

A mighty man is the Kaiser, but events may show that in virtually challenging the entire world he is taking in too much territory.

Thirsty pessimists can see no use for a bridge between two dry states.

Uncle Sam is wise in showing sufficient respect for the "Yank-ees of the Orient" to prefer their friendship to their enmity.

Carl W. Ackerman writes that "the Germans are preparing to launch gigantic offensives on land, in the air, and with torpedo boat fleets, in addition to the sub-sea campaign. Germany is stronger today in a military sense than at any time since the war began." Still, we remember reading somewhere that something happened to Goliath.

In the event of hostilities Kernel Boyd will be found in the van—if it contains any Oregon contraband.

We've never heard a Hop Sing, but its capacity for discord is evidently limitless.

ITS NAME IS NOW THE WESTON COMMERCIAL CLUB

The business of chief interest transacted by the Weston Welfare Club Tuesday evening was that of changing the club name. The name of Weston Commercial Club was adopted on motion of G. DeGraw, as being more significant. After several weeks of mental activity, no member seemed to be able to suggest a name that met with unanimous approval. Dr. Watts was bold enough to try, but found himself the sole member of a hopeless minority. With suitable encomiums Vice President Williams announced that E. M. Smith would address the club at its next meeting on the farmers' loan act, and that Sim J. Culley would likewise address it a week later on some topic of his own choosing. Those well known local orators blushed modestly but did not deny the soft impeachment.

The chair appointed Wilbur E. Woods, C. L. Pinkerton and Robert Proudfoot as the school district consolidation committee.

It has been decided to "skip" the regular club meeting next week because of the Chautauqua.
