

SELECT THE STOCK THAT SERVES YOU BEST

For over twenty years Davis-Kaser's have been building this business on the solid rock of service. Best service according to our policy is summed up in one word—SATISFACTION. That means satisfaction with the assortments offered for choice; continued satisfaction with your selection after it is made; and satisfaction with the price you pay. We gather our stocks so critically that there can be question of superior value—and we mark the price at the lowest consistent figure. Not occasionally, but always. Not some things, but everything. We are sure you will appreciate that the service of this store as represented by SATISFACTION is best.

The following items are of special interest at this time: VUDOR PORCH SHADES. Colors green and tan; weatherproof; widths, 4, 6, 8 and 10 ft., at $2.75, $4.00, $5.25 and $7.00. Japanese imitations of VUDORS, good shades, green only, at $1.75, $2.50, $3.50 and $4.50. Vudor shades on your porch virtually add another room to your house, the coolest and most comfortable of all; they lower the temperature of adjoining rooms as well.

AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATORS. For durability and convenience, ice economy and effectiveness, the Automatic is unequalled. Come and see this splendid refrigerator if possible; send for catalog if unable to come.

BREVITIES

J. A. Mellse and family are at Portland for an extended visit.

Mrs. Laura Shanks visited in Weston from Walla Walla during picnic week.

Six-room home in Freewater to trade for Weston property. W. L. Robbins.

C. W. Avery has so far recovered as to be able occasionally to take a walk down town.

The Preston-Shaffer mills of Athena did a neighborly act Saturday in closing down for the Weston picnic.

Mrs. E. M. Warren is improving her cottage property on Franklin street with a new porch and fresh paint.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Tierney and party of Pendleton were reunion guests at dinner of Mrs. Sam J. Calley.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dowd and daughter Hazel of Washburn, Wash., were among Weston's former residents who attended the reunion.

Weston was practically deserted Tuesday, most of its people having gone to Milton to attend the Red Cross picnic. This they found to be both patriotic and enjoyable.

A little son of A. J. McIntyre was kicked by a horse Saturday evening and suffered a severe gash in the lip. He was taken to Dr. Smith's office, where the wound was stitched up.

Professor A. R. Draper, who was school principal at Weston in early years, died Sunday at his home in Portland. He was prominent there for years in educational circles.

Upon her return home to Lone from a visit with her parents at Weston, Mrs. Blanche Juday was accompanied by her sister, Miss Hope Beeler, who will remain there for a fortnight's visit.

Rev. Father Hagen of Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Walters and family and Miss Josephine Clarke of Athena motored to Weston Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wurzer.

Roy Read came down from La Crosse, Wash., last week to attend the reunion and visit home and friends, prior to seeking enlistment together with Earl Olson in the aviation branch of Uncle Sam's service.

Athena has decided to celebrate the Fourth. Committees have been appointed for every detail, and the eagle will scream so loud that its defiance will be heard in Potsdam. The Weston Concert Band has been engaged.

Picnic dinner guests of Mrs. I. E. Saling Saturday were Mrs. Rose Boyd, Mrs. L. M. Funk and Miss Virginia Funk of Walla Walla; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bullfinch and the Misses Bullfinch, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Saling and daughter Lois.

Albert Gould, upland farmer, who came down the other day, said that he expected to finish seeding his grain this week, but would not have his potatoes planted before the 4th of July. Similar conditions obtain throughout the upland district.

Charles Bullfinch has written home on a post card passed by the censor that he is now a member of the United States Marine Corps a splendid body of men which has often demonstrated its worth to the nation. His address is Marine Barracks, Mare Island, Vallejo, Calif.

Mrs. Jane Hartman, Mrs. Lina H. Sturgis, Mrs. M. J. Marsh, Mrs. Walter Ely and Mrs. Cressy Sturgis motored up from Pendleton Friday for the reunion. With the exception of Mrs. Marsh, who was entertained by Mrs. J. J. Beeler, the visitors partook of a picnic spread at the L. S. Wood residence.

The remains of Mrs. Anna Anderson, wife of William Anderson of Milton, were laid to rest Sunday in I. O. O. F. cemetery. A brief service was held at the grave, and an auto-load of flowers was placed upon the bier. Mrs. Anderson died in Oakland, Calif., while under treatment for cancer of the stomach.

Hershel (Pat) Henderson, popular young college student, is among the men missing in the Butte mine where the workers were entombed by a terrible explosion. He had only recently left Whitman college and gone to Butte to work a few days prior to enlisting in the army. The young man had been re-elected this year to the presidency of the student body at Whitman. He was well known in Weston, where he frequently pitched ball on the local diamond.

East Oregonian: An attachment suit with W. R. Taylor of Athena as plaintiff and F. G. Lucas of Weston as defendant has been filed in the circuit court. Plaintiff is assignee of claims for $300 and interest by the First National Bank of Vale, $1000 and interest by the First National Bank of Athena, $433.08 by the Weston Mercantile Co. and $156.05 by L. I. O'Hara. Homer I. Watts is attorney for plaintiff.

H. A. Street now sits at the wheel of a Big Four Overland, bought of the local agent, Dr. Kennard. The doctor lately sold a Country Club to W. C. Knight, a Lowden farmer, and has several other deals pending. J. L. Elam, Walla Walla distributor for the Overland, sold no less than a round half dozen of these popular cars in one afternoon the first of the week.

Helen, the young daughter of W. L. Rayburn, residing on Weston mountain, was operated on at Pendleton Tuesday for the excision of a ruptured appendix. Dr. Parker of Pendleton and Dr. Smith of Weston were the attending surgeons. While the case is very serious, the patient is reported to have rallied nicely.

The local commercial club meeting next Tuesday evening will be devoted largely to the Elgin road across the Blues. Commissioner Cockburn is expected to be present.
