The Weston boys of Company E, Second Idaho, are back at Boise barracks after doing guard duty in Utah. They expect soon to be sent to a training camp—probably at Palo Alto, Calif.

The new self propelled combine of Mrs. Z. C. Price & Sons was started this week at the Price homestead, where the barley was found too green for cutting. It was then moved to the Wiley farm.

Harold D. Sapp of Olympia, Wash., brother of Mrs. C. H. Smith of this city, has gone to France with a contingent of American troops sailing on a recent date. He enlisted as a regular only a short time ago.

Roy Tompkins and Frank Graham visited Pendleton Wednesday to get some authoritative draft pointers, and found that exemption on the ground of dependent families will be difficult to secure. They were informed, in fact, that any drafted man who passes the physical examination—whether or not he has a family—will be extremely likely to be taken. District boards only will pass upon the question as to whether a man's work in agricultural or industrial pursuits is so indispensable to the nation that he cannot be spared for military service. Tompkins and Graham went to Pendleton again today for examination before the local board. Earl Dudley was called yesterday.

The Missionary Society was entertained Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Frank Price. A large number of members were present, and also the following guests: Mrs. Marie Cashatt, Miss Sadie NorDean, Mrs. N. Loveridge, Mrs. Cora Fetter and Mrs. R. L. Reynaud. "The Kingdom of God in Home Missions and in Brazil," was the subject of the meeting. Educational evangelism in Brazil and Home Mission school work was also discussed. Mrs. Price was assisted in serving refreshments by Mrs. J. F. Snider and Mrs. J. Calder.

A fine sheaf of Marcus wheat from the upland farm of W. L. Rayborn six miles east of Weston is on display at the Farmers Bank. Although planted only 60 days ago it is well headed and shows no effect of drought. A beautiful sheaf of wheat six feet in height from the C. F. Bulfinch farm near town is displayed in a window of Goodwin's drug store.

Because of the long dry spell the beans planted in the Weston neighborhood—400 acres or more—do not promise well. Although the vines are green and thrifty looking the pods are not "setting on," and it is feared that a good share of the crop will not be worth harvesting. The outlook for potatoes is also poor.

Mrs. H. B. Nelson will arrive in Weston today on her return home to Lewiston, Idaho, from Pendleton, where she has been visiting her son, C. E. Nelson. Mrs. Nelson will be entertained while here by Mrs. L. S. Wood.

Its courses are Academic, Commercial, Home Economics, Elocution, Piano, Voice, Violin and Orchestra, and also a short training course for teachers. This successful institution will be stronger than ever this year, and intending students should address the president, H. S. Shangle, for catalog.

Farmer as a Borrower. Agriculture is sorely contemplating the prospect that a farmer will find it easier to borrow money than a railroad capitalist.—Washington Star.

A THOUSAND THRILLS AT THE PIONEER POW-WOW

The thousands who visit Walla Walla for the Pioneer Pow-wow September 13, 14 and 15 will find plenty to amuse them, reports the Pow-wow press agent.

Of first interest is the big show at the fair grounds. Here will be all the sports of the early days. Broncho busting with real—not trained circus horses—to ride; Texas longhorn steers for roping and bull dogging; stage races, cowboys' races of all kinds, wild horse races, etc.; cowgirls' races, relay and pony express; fancy roping and riding; Umatilla and Yakima Indians in their gayest costumes, who will erect a village on the grounds and take part in the various events. There will also be music galore.

The pioneers will have a special big part in the Pow-wow, for it was in honor of them that the show was named. On Thursday an old-fashioned barbecue will be held, at which all early settlers will be guests of the Pow-wow association.

The evening entertainment uptown will be the Great Wortham Shows, a collection of big tented attractions with about 300 people taking part. An animal show, Top o' the World, musical comedy; a water carnival with beautiful and shapely women in fancy diving and swimming; The Whip, the latest mechanical ride; a motordrome for fast auto and motorcycle racing; also a monkey speedway and countless other shows. Then, there will be the great free attractions: a woman who dives 90 feet into a shallow tank of water and a woman who performs with five ferocious African lions. These acts will be given up twice daily.

Manager Doc Crews of the Liberty theater has arranged to have his W. V. M. A. vaudeville reach Walla Walla Thursday, the opening day of the Pow-wow. The new American theater will be opened by that time and will offer vaudeville and pictures. The Bijou Grand theater will offer pictures—World films, Mutual and others. The Strand theater will have Fox and Triangle films with comedies. The Arcade theater will show Paramount and Metro productions. There will also be dances and other special events.
