THIRTY DAYS THE LIMIT FOR STORAGE OF GRAIN

Warehouse operators in this county under the new food administration bill will not be permitted to grant storage to others than the food administration or its agents for a period longer than 30 days, says the East Oregonian. If a farmer has wheat or rye stored in an elevator or warehouse and has not disposed of it at the end of 30 days, the operator of the warehouse will be required to sell it or ship it to a terminal for sale at the best price obtainable and to pay over the proceeds to the holder of the receipts, less lawful charges.

This notification was received from Herbert Hoover by H. W. Collins, local warehouse operator. It is fraught with considerable importance to local farmers, for it means that if they store their grain they cannot hold it for more than a month. It may prevent many farmers from hauling their grain at this time.

Warehousemen are instructed to include in their warehouse receipts a provision giving them authority to sell the grain at the end of 30 days. The notices further state that a government agent will probably be here soon to enter into agreements whereby the food administration may retain grain in local warehouses at fair storage rates and ship it out whenever deemed necessary to provide mills with supplies.

Mr. Collins has not yet been apprised of the price the government will fix for wheat, but the best information obtainable indicates it will be around $2.25 per bushel.

FRIDAY, AUG. 24, 1917
Entered at the postoffice at Weston, Oregon as second-class mail matter.

Germany will grow tired before long of fighting for the Kaiser's existence.

If the greedy two-footed hogs with their snouts in the war trough could only be utilized, pork would soon cease to be a luxury.

Portland has started a move for shoppers to carry their own parcels, which is all right enough so long as they can buy any parcels to carry.

Having highly complimented his navy, it is assumed that Kaiser Bill is fond of bottled goods.

Afraid to make a direct assertion, the Weekly Bulldogger insinuates in a cowardly and evasive way that the Leader man is a "fat head."

Very well and nevertheless—
A head that's fat
Or a head that's lean
Or a head that's in between—
Beats the puny head
Of the Bulldogger ed.
By a city block, we ween.

It's about time for the allied fleets to raise a little hull with Helgoland.

Those Japanese missionaries are "just as nice as pie," but as Uncle Sam is not a cannibal he cannot demonstrate whether they are likewise as good eatin'.

Davy Jones knows that a helluva lot of "Ugh boats" will never fire another torpedo.

Three million Danes are threatened with starvation because of food seizures by Germany—but the Kaiser should worry!

Mexico is only able to make an audible noise now-a-days when it wants another loan.

The Missouri coal baron who says he is doing all he can to get all he can, is by no means getting all that's coming to him.

If the country needs bread the government can at least furnish plenty of "crust." It asks all kinds of free space from the country newspapers while competing with them on unfair terms in job printing. Newspaper space when wanted for advertising—is as much a commodity as oil, steel, shoes or clothing. When the latter are furnished free by the great captains of industry, it will be up to the country editors to repeat their generous space donations—and not before.

General Strike of the I Won't Work brigade has been licked to a frazzle.

Wilhelm is a great and able man (referring strictly to Rudolph Wilhelm, the golf champion of the Northwest.)

We're wondering if our national currency is now sufficiently elastic to bring together two-dollar wheat and the five-cent loaf.

We are again moved to compliment the Pendleton Bulldogger upon its intelligent selection of important topics, as it mentions the Leader man in no less than four different places in last Monday's issue. We greatly regret to say, however, that only its theme could be commended. Its comments can only be adequately described as asinine drivel.

Observing that Kernel Boyd has come to bat again with his "Mulligan Stew," we are moved to wonder if this is the only kind of a stew with which the Kernel is familiar.

"We're comin' to t'ank you," says the British Tommy to the German Fritz, while exchanging compliments across the line.

Perhaps the Russkys have about faced because they have less fear of the Teutons in front than of their wives in the rear.

While not doing quite as well as usual, the Weston country is nevertheless demonstrating its ability to raise a pretty fair crop without any rain since early June.

Don't worry if you make a "bliver," Henry Ford turned out more than 700,000 of 'em in one year.

We do not wholly see how the Holy See—but never mind; let the Bulldogger finish it.

It isn't a scrap of paper that Germany is encountering on the western front.

Before long our Sammies will be ready to direct the Kaiser's attention to his error in failing to "see America first."

If the "r" in kultur were changed to an "s," the word would have its proper significance in Chinook jargon.

Local potato growers may be interested in knowing that the government has contracted with Seattle commission houses for three million pounds of spuds for American Lake cantonment. The price is understood to be $40 per ton for early deliveries—ranging downward to $25 per ton for late deliveries.

It's a better spirit than the gin in Elgin that stimulates such effective boosting for the Blue Mountain road in that wide-awake Union county town.

The Rheims cathedral and the Belgian outrages should be evidence enough for his Ottoman allies that the Kaiser is a pretty good Turk.

Not as foe-man but as friend, Japan beseeches Uncle Sam to be considered worthy of his steel.

Although Napoleon said that Prussia was "hatched from a cannon ball," it is fast finding out that it is not the only game cock in the Martian pit.

Mebbe the Downing elevator is "settling down" because it is here to stay.

You see, Gretchen, the poor Crown Prince may not have a winning disposition.

We wonder how long a newspaper printed in the English language and assailing the government would last in Berlin!

Dealers at the coast terminals have announced a differential of five cents a bushel as to wheat and $2.00 a ton as to barley, in favor of sacked grain.

Pianos tuned and repaired at reasonable prices. First-class work guaranteed. A. W. Lundell, Mus. Bach.
