FRIDAY, AUG. 31, 1917
 Entered at the postoffice at Weston, Oregon, as second-class mail matter.

Holding wheat and barley at present prices looks to us like kicking Opportunity off the door step.

Germany's financial troubles are also due to her bad Bill.

The crop prophet is now without honor and the crop profit has the floor.

Oto H. Kahn, Gotham's financial magnate, has been good enough to send us a wise little treatise on War Taxation, and we have a notion to bank with him.

The S. P. C. A. should get after the inhuman gink that put the bull and the dog in Bulldogger.

The only flaw in Germany's plan to lick France, England and the United States in succession, is the fact that they are collectively licking Germany.

The man who trades at home is the hot number that Sears the Roebuck.

His tirades against England are sufficient to show that the Kaiser doesn't do all his lying in bed.

If money talks, Uncle Sam's allies are getting an earful.

With bathing now "verboten," Germany's condition seems soapless.

The Oregonian glibly replies to an inquirer that New York is the largest city in the world without even—we'll be bound—looking up Weston's population statistics.

This, we presume, is regarded by the Bulldogger as an example of dry wit:

"At the 1916 convention of the National Woolgrowers at Salt Lake, Eastern Oregon was represented by 50 or more sheepmen and a couple of hundred suitcases. The 1917 season is now on and Eastern Oregon is represented by three delegates and three small handbags."

Our idea of superfluity is the fist in pacifist.

It occurs to our sporting editor that the Kaiser's divine right is losing its punch.

There's a fat chance for a republic in Greece.

The federal reserve banks are going to loan money on potatoes—as though any man with a potato needed a loan!

Still talking about an indemnity, Germany will be apt to get one when the devil gets a harp.

The Germans are now hiding in shell holes, which are soon changed into hell holes by the guns of the Allies.

If Uncle Sam needs any more than $20,000,000,000, it would be easy enough for the Bulldogger ed. to add a cipher.

A marked difference is seen between Walla Walla and Umatilla counties in the operation of the army draft. Over there nearly every registered man escapes service, while over here he must serve if he isn't a cripple. No matter what his occupation or his family responsibilities, he is taken. The contrast is supposed to result from the differing construction put on the draft law by the respective adjutant generals of Washington and Oregon.

However, half hose is better than no stockings.

In marked contrast to his former long-winded correspondence, there's some class to the reply that Uncle Sam is now drafting to the Kaiser.

In Nut-town a foolish word dauber seems to think he's a dod-gasted auger;
 To pose as a wit
 This human misfit
 Bores us stiff in the Weekly Bulldogger.

Uncle Sam may have grown a bit flabby and in need of a tonic—but not a Teutonic.

Too frequently the Russian flees when no German pursueth.

Be it said to the credit of the Weston farmers that they haven't joined in the demand upon Hoover for $2.50 and $5.00 wheat. Neither are they storing their grain on their farms in order to be in a position to hold up the government and its allies. Weston farmers know that at two dollars a bushel they can make a fair-to-middling war profit and keep their buzz wagons supplied with gasoline.

Germany is placating the Argentine by promising not to sink any more of her ships. Evidently it has at last struck the Wilhelmstrasse that enough is a plenty.

The President's reply to the Pope is written in just about the way we would have written it ourselves—than which we can bestow no higher encomium.

All draft dependency cases are to be reconsidered at La Grande.

TO THE WOMEN OF OREGON

The greatest opportunity for patriotic service since the war commenced is offered to the housewives of this state, says W. B. Ayer, Federal Food Commissioner for Oregon, in a letter to the Leader.

The season of perishable fruit and vegetables is upon us.

The value of the thousands of war gardens planted in response to the president's appeal will depend upon the effort now made to preserve their products.

Let every housewife be a soldier in the food army. Can and dry everything not required for immediate use. Let nothing go to waste. Foods preserved for home use will release other supplies for our soldiers at the front. There will undoubtedly be high prices and scarcity of many articles next winter. Those who provide for the future now will have little to worry about then.

For recipes describing effective and inexpensive methods of canning, drying and pickling call upon the Oregon Agricultural College or the Department of Agriculture at Washington. Many of these recipes supplied from official sources are being printed for your service in the daily newspapers.

Let there not be a minute's delay or the waste of a pound of food that can be preserved. Our boys are proud to fight for our homes and liberty; let no woman be too proud not to do her bit in conserving the food supply.

However, it cannot be expected of the young patriot who goes riding with his best girl in a benzine buggy which he can drive with one hand, that he will let nothing go to waste.

Hereabouts the Order of the Bath depends largely upon who has the call upon the barber shop tub.

BIG BIRTHDAY DINNER AT CAMP OF AUNT SARAH

Camp McDougal—a popular resort for East End people in the Blues—was the scene Sunday of a happy gathering in honor of the camp's founder, Aunt Sarah McDougal.

August 25, 1917, was the 77th birthday anniversary of Mrs. McDougal, who is one of Weston's oldest pioneers. She was born 1840 in Des Moines, Iowa, and came to Weston in 1863. This is the 33d consecutive summer she has spent at Camp McDougal.

All of the campers took part in the festivities and partook of a splendid dinner, served in cafeteria style. Chicken and huckleberries held an honored place on the menu, and there were other good things galore. Those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McBride, Pearl and Lawrence McBride, Wavel O'Harra.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Barnes, Annie, Doris and Mamie Barnes.

Dr. and Mrs. F. D. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Rogers, Dudley, Genevieve, Emery and Kenneth Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Williams, Esther and Gail Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gould, Zella, Ray and Otis Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Porter, Lois, Lucile and Louise Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Banister and Helen Banister.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Leonard, Edgar, Juanita and Juan Leonard.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Harder, Muriel and Herald Harder.

Mrs. Rebecca Culley, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Maloney, Barbara Maloney.

Mrs. J. Hodgson, Myrtle, Lester and Floyd Hodgson.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hill, Mrs. Ida Siroy, Ray Jones, Arthur Grant.

Nature Flavored Best Flour

—especially since we are so fortunate as to be one of a thousand communities where housewives can always get Flavo Flour, Nature-Flavored.

Over $100,000.00 is being spent to tell users of its many far-superior merits. Hundreds of cities and towns cannot get this better flour yet. This is fortunate in being one community where Flavo Flour is made.

Try Flavo Flour

Everyone is demanding better, more wholesome bread. Here is the flour that gives you all this and real flavor. It makes you want more. For bread made with Flavo Flour is moist, fluffy, so good. Not dry and tasteless.

Flavo is a Nature-flavored flour. It contains the entire food value of the wheat berry. It is creamy white, the purest flour that can be made. The essential aromatic oils of the wheat wherein the flavor are not milled out of it.

All American Marvel Mill products are inspected and certified pure and up to highest standard every thirty days. Every sack of Flavo Flour is certified. Ask for this Nature-flavored flour and you will eat more bread—bread with the highest food value.
