BREVITIES

Mr. and Mrs. George Beaton are here from southern Idaho for a visit with relatives and friends.

The present weather is made to order for the mountain farmers, who it is reported have only about half finished their harvest.

Charles S. Buffum, a popular Walla Walla traveling man who made frequent trips to Weston, died suddenly of apoplexy Tuesday night at the Hotel Grand.

Herman Goodwin, our local druggist, has purchased from Joseph Blomgren the attractive residence property on Normal Heights he has occupied during the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Price returned Sunday from their automobile tour east of the Blues, during which they traveled 700 miles with no further car troubles than one puncture and one broken spring. They visited relatives and friends in Baker, Fruitland and other towns and attended the Idaho State Fair at Boise. One day's feature was a barbecue of seven heaves.

Sim Barnes took a notion to go out gadding Sunday in his little Ford, and accompanied by Mrs. Barnes traveled 154 miles over Umatilla county roads. Their route led through Echo, Stanfield and Hermiston and as far west as Umatilla. Sim says that there seems to be considerable territory scattered around outside of Weston.

A meeting of much interest to the farmers will be held tomorrow—Saturday—afternoon at the office of the Weston Warehouse Co. at two o'clock. The gathering will be addressed by J. C. Hopkins of Corvallis, who is a government expert on the eradication of the smut evil, and will have information of value for local grain growers. The special field of Mr. Hopkins includes three Eastern Oregon counties, of which Umatilla is one.

Thirty cans of trout fry secured through the good offices of George Tonkin, deputy game and fish warden, were released Wednesday in Pine creek and will be ready for the angler a year from next spring. Half of them were turned loose below town by Marvin Price and Happy Graham, and the other half above town, in the vicinity of Rocky ford, by Dr. Watts and Jim Price. The young trout are about an inch long and comprise the rainbow and brook varieties.

Methodist Church—Sunday, October 7—Sunday school at regular hour. Preaching at 11 a. m., subject, "Jesus the Son of Man." Evening services will be given over to the installation of Epworth League officers. Good program. Come. There's a reason—and it's not Postum, either. S. E. Powell, pastor.

Several parties of Weston fishermen spent Sunday on the Umatilla river. Our sporting editor is a bit reticent about his own experiences, but condescended to say that river trout are too small for him, and he prefers to fish for muskallonge in the great lakes or for tuna off the Catalina islands.

While moving lumber used in concreting the arches of the Dry creek trestle—which material he has purchased—George Stagges had a bad fall and sprained an ankle. He will not be ambitious to perform any more manual labor for several weeks.

After a week of serious illness, Homer Hedrick was able yesterday to visit his garage for an hour or two. Typhoid fever was threatened, but he has managed to sidetrack it.

Stevens Lodge No. 49, K. of P., will have work next Wednesday evening. A full attendance of members is requested by the lodge officers.

George Sowers, John Reynolds and Walter Williams left Monday for a week of hunting and fishing on the Looking Glass.
