LADIES' SUITS and COATS

The advantage of having new goods coming every few days from which to make selections, is very apparent. Our line is always replete with new things, showing wide diversity of materials to select from--gabardine, serge, burella, wool velour, silver-tone and broadcloth in such pleasing colors as navy blue, hunter green, clove and African brown, burgundy, beet root, taupe grey and black.

Despite the increasing cost the prices of our suits are modest and will compare favorably with those of former seasons.

Pastor Powell's morning subject at the Methodist church Sunday next will be, "The Beauty of the Law;" his evening subject, "The Fool's Vineyard."

We have the equipment and the "know how" to clean your seed grain and to clean it right. Try us. Others are doing it to their satisfaction. Weston Milling Co.

Lester Wilsey seems to have a bit the edge on Frank Skinner in legume production. He took 13 wheat sacks full off a tract of ground that he thinks contains but little more than an acre.

The Leader is indebted to Jim McDaniel for a bottle of choice apple cider that our horticultural editor pronounces just about the best he ever drank. It is made of Gravenstein apples, and Jim takes special care to insure its purity. Those who drink it need have no suspicion of imbibing "worm juice."

Lines were run and grade stakes set this week for Weston's Main street sidewalk improvement. The work was under the direction of E. E. Saunze of Walla Walla, registered patent attorney and patent solicitor, with offices at 326 Drumheller building. Mr. Saunze is also a civil engineer and was prevailed upon to take Weston's work in hand, although he has relinquished engineering as a profession. Along parts of Main street, gravel is already on the ground in readiness for construction.

The dance given at Weston opera house Saturday evening proved to be especially successful and enjoyable. First, second and third prizes for class dancing were won in the order named by the following couples: Miss Laura McIntyre and Mr. Ralph Hassell of Athena, Miss Gladys Smith of Weston and Mr. Fred Armstrong of Athena, Mrs. C. C. Cully of Weston and Mr. Louis Bergevin of Athena. The management announces a masquerade for Saturday evening, October 20, with music by J. Payant's orchestra.

That porkers pay--even at the present high prices of feed--has been demonstrated to his own satisfaction by J. A. King. He shipped to the Walla Walla Meat company 25 head of yearling hogs that at seventeen cents per pound brought a total of $1004.70. To raise and fatten them cost him a little more than $500, making about $500 "net" on this profitable by-product of his Wild Horse farm.

The 80th birthday anniversary of George W. Davidson, a veteran of the civil war, was celebrated October 9 at his home in this city. Among those present were his daughter, Mrs. Albert Purcell, and six grandchildren of Pendleton, and Mrs. Amy Van Skiver. Mr. Davidson received many post-card tokens from friends.

Miss Mary Lansdale, who is teaching the Weston Upland school, was a dinner guest Saturday of her aunt, Mrs. L. S. Wood. Miss Lansdale has a daily attendance of 24 pupils, with eight grades represented, and reports most gratifying cooperation on the part of Upland parents.

Mrs. W. H. Booher was conveyed by her husband Tuesday to Walla Walla to sustain an operation for the removal of a tumor.

Pianos tuned and repaired at reasonable prices. First-class work guaranteed. A. W. Lundell, Mus. Bach.

Will King leaves tomorrow for Castle Rock, Colorado, to visit his mother, whom he hasn't seen since 1884. She is 86 years of age.

Mrs. Mary Lancaster of Astoria, president of the Oregon Rebekahs, will meet with Hiawatha Rebekah Lodge No. 88 November 5, and a full attendance is desired. By order of the Noble Grand.

The first intercollegiate football game ever played in Eastern Oregon will be witnessed at Pendleton Saturday, October 20. Oregon Agricultural College and University of Idaho are the contending teams. A number of Weston football fans will probably attend.

Captain Richard Pearson Hobson of "Merrimac" fame will lecture Monday, October 15, at 8 p. m. at the Methodist church in Pendleton. His theme is "America at War," and admittance is free. Captain Hobson comes direct to Pendleton from Seattle, and this is the only lecture he will deliver in Eastern Oregon.

Bayles Baker, son of Merritt A. Baker, a Weston veteran of the civil war, has entered the service of Uncle Sam as a train dispatcher for assignment to Russia. For several years Bayles has served as train dispatcher on the Milwaukee at Missoula and Lewistown, Montana. He is accepting government work at his present salary of $175 per month.

WESTON BOY, HURT BY HIS HORSE, UNCONSCIOUS

A serious accident befell James, the twelve year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nelson, Saturday afternoon near the Nelson ranch on Hale creek. The boy had evidently been thrown from his horse and dragged and trampled upon by the animal. Unconscious and bleeding, he was found lying alongside the road by Cyril Probstel, who took the unfortunate boy to a watering trough, bathed his wounds and sent word to his parents at their town residence by another passer by.

The patient was rushed by his father to St. Anthony's hospital, Pendleton, where at last reports he had not recovered consciousness, although several days have elapsed since the accident.

The back of his head had been badly hurt and it was thought for a time that his skull was fractured, but no such injury was found by means of an X ray examination. His left hand and wrist were cut and lacerated and his face and other parts of his body bore the marks of severe bruises.

It is thought the shock caused the boy's complete collapse and that in due time he will recover. He is nourished by means of hot milk poured into his mouth.

Shortly after the noon hour Thursday the skull of the young patient was operated upon and a quantity of fluid removed, as he was found to be partially paralyzed. His condition is considered very critical. The family is highly regarded here, and many friends share the deep concern of the parents.

THE DAVIS-KASER STORE IS BEING RE-MODELED

Workmen are engaged in remodeling the main floor of the Davis-Kaser Company's store in Walla Walla, in preparation for the autumn rush of business, and considerable more room will be given to the firm by the changes. The two east entrances are being closed entirely, and one large entrance in the center is being installed. Display windows are being enlarged and deepened and the piano, phonograph and music departments are being moved to the east balcony, where a series of sound proof rooms will be constructed for demonstrating the two wonderful music producing instruments, the New Edison and the Ampico. One of these rooms will be a large recital hall, where it is planned to give recitals and musicals at regular intervals, and where a general meeting place for the public will be available. New platforms and backgrounds are being installed in all display windows, while on the west balcony will be fitted three display rooms for exhibition of furniture suits. The changes will make the store far more convenient for the public, as well as for the management, and will permit of a much more effective display of the various lines carried.
