

The QUICK-LITE LAMP

No Alcohol Torch Needed - Lights With a Match!!!

The Coleman Quick-Lite Lamps and Lanterns represent the most astonishing forward stride in household and outdoor illumination that has been made. They mark the end of the old era of disagreeable oil lamps and the beginning of a new—an era of brilliant and convenient gas light placed within the reach of all. The only objection ever urged against the gasoline lamp was the time and bother of lighting it. This objection is now removed in the Quick-Lite, which lights with an ordinary match, without trouble or delay, and which—as its merits become known—will outsell every other style.

The Quick-Lite is a beautiful lamp in any home and may be had with any shade you select. This is the lamp that won the Gold Medal Highest Award at both Panama Expositions, and it is without a doubt the marvel of illumination.

Cut out this advertisement, mail it to us and we will send you pictures and descriptions of the Quick-Lite Lamps and Lanterns—also prices.

BREVITIES

Miss Lottie Brandt visited Sunday with relatives in Walla Walla.

Mrs. G. DeGraw was in Walla Walla during the week, visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. Larson.

G. A. R. McGrew left Monday for his home in Portland, after putting in the summer at the McGrew ranch.

Jim Price is on the street again, having broken loose from the "half nelson" that the rheumatiz had on him.

J. S. Harris drove home Wednesday with a Light Four Overland which he bought of the local agent, Dr. Kennard.

Mrs. W. H. Booher was brought home Tuesday, after being an inmate for twenty-one days of St. Mary's hospital. She continues to improve.

Pastor Wriggle announces his morning subject as "The Outcast," at the United Brethren church next Sunday. His evening subject will be "The Creation."

Charles Eugene Hedrick, twenty hours old, was the youngest buyer of Liberty Bonds in the Weston neighborhood. He took $50 worth, and looks pretty wise about it.

We are now prepared to renew your batteries with our new battery charging machine. Our new vulcanizer is also here. Pennington & O'Harra—Mendwell garage.

Ernest Ross has been one of the few local deer hunters to get results this season, as the animals are scarce and shy. He managed to bring down one deer during a recent hunt in the Black mountain neighborhood.

J. M. Ashworth, who has had a trying time with inflammatory rheumatism, following ptomaine poisoning, is now at his home on the Heights. He is slowly gaining, and was brought back from Walla Walla a few days ago.

Wallace Lytle returned last week to his home in southern Idaho after finishing the desired run at the Blue Mountain box factory. It is said that Wallace looked sternly at the heretofore recalcitrant buzz saw, started it up and cut 700 logs in three days.

Main street looks as though it had just had a hair cut, a good part of the row of trees along the north side of the street having been cut down this week. It was thought that autumn leaves were making too much of a litter on the new concrete walk.

Ben Dupuis has been so successful in handling Montana land as to win the $1000 prize offered by the Montana Ranches Co. The Leader is disposed to congratulate Ben upon showing what a Weston boy can do when he gets out and hustles. His sales have reached a total of more than half a million dollars.

Lost—Last week from Toll Gate corral about 20 head of steers, branded as follows: A portion with chisel bit in both ears and arrow on the side; a portion with under bit in each ear and WR on right shoulder; a portion with split in each ear and bar H on left hip. Reward for information. Dr. J. C. Baddeley, Athena, Or.

Mischievous hobgoblins were not much in evidence in Weston Halloween, although lesser sprites with jack o' lanterns were quite numerous and also amiable. Some of them called at the Leader office and refreshed the hard-worked editor with sweetmeats. The big goblins postponed their raid until the night after Halloween, but displayed no originality. They merely strewed Main street square, as usual, with old buggies, wagons and implements.

If squashes were 15-inch shells, Hamp Booher raised enough to have whipped the Kaiser on an acre of ground at his place near town. He estimates the crop at five tons or more, and is feeding it to his hogs and cows with good results. He weighed two of the squashes, and one of them tipped the beam at 65 and the other at 64 pounds. A Walla Walla county hog raiser who fattens his herd on squashes says that pound for pound they are better feed than barley.

Lou Davis and Gilbert Ellis are getting a wonderful crop of potatoes from four acres of the Frank Greer place south of town. The first acre dug yielded no less than 245 sacks and the rest of the tract is going nearly as well. The whole crop will be better than nine hundred sacks. This breaks all records for the Weston country, where 100 sacks to the acre is considered an extra good crop of spuds. Old alfalfa ground in a sub irrigated draw was utilized in this instance.

FOR THREE WEEKS WE HAVE PLEADED FOR PAYMENT OF ACCOUNTS AND NOTES

If you have paid—the ad. doesn't plague.
If you have not paid—better hustle lest we RAID.

We will take your Liberty Bond for that account, note or goods.

Some choice phonographs, $8 to $75.

Sewing Machines, $20 to $45 for the wonderful two-spool machine.

Silverware and Cutlery galore.

WE WILL HAVE THANKSGIVING before X-MAS this year.

Farm Outfitters

In a serious harvest accident Tuesday on the Weston uplands Tom McCarty, well known farmer, had his right arm broken below the elbow, his right shoulder dislocated and his right wrist cut to the bone and badly lacerated. His back was also injured. Mr. McCarty's glove caught in the clutch of a gasoline engine and before the machinery could be stopped he had sustained the injuries noted. At last accounts he was resting quite well. Dr. Thomas of Milton is in attendance.

Miss Imogene Sapp of Weston and Mr. Fred Donovan of Bend, Oregon, were united in marriage Thursday, November 1, at Walla Walla, in the Presbyterian church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Sim J. Culley. Mr. and Mrs. Donovan left at once for their home near Bend, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming. They have the best wishes of the many friends of the bride, who is a sister of Mrs. C. H. Smith, throughout the Weston neighborhood.

In sending his check to renew his Leader sub., C. H. Stanfield, representing the Pacific Grain Co. at La Crosse, Wash., expresses the noble and praiseworthy sentiment that "I could not keep house without your valuable paper, believe me." We admire Charley's judgment and discrimination in the selection of good reading matter.

BRIEF WAR NEWS

Field Marshal Haig's men have hammered their way still further into the German lines in Flanders.

On the Russian front the Germans in their continued evacuation have withdrawn from the entire Werder peninsula, projecting into Moon sound, in the gulf of Riga.

The Belgians and the French have captured several important salients in the region of Dixmude. Along the Aisne front the French are violently bombarding the German posts.

Further advance by Russian troops in the Riga sector, following German evacuation of a great section of ground formerly held by the enemy was announced in a Russian official statement.

In their reverses of the past few days on the Isonzo front the Italians have lost ground that it had taken them the better part of two years to gain. Goritz, which the teutonic forces have recaptured, had been taken only recently by the forces of General Cadorna, but Cliviale, to the west of the Isonzo river, which also has fallen to Mackensen, is on Italian soil.

Italy's mettle is being critically tested by the tremendous teutonic drive on the Isonzo front under command of Emperor Charles, of Austria. Apparently virtually the entire Austrian army and strong German forces are pitted against the Italians. Berlin claims the defeat of this section of the Italian forces, from which it announces the capture of 100,000 men and 700 guns.
