In remitting for the Leader, Kenneth MacKenzie reports fine weather at Coffee Creek, Montana, with plowing in active progress.

A Thanksgiving Ball will be given at Weston opera house the evening of November 29, with music by Payant's orchestra. The management is doing all in its power to insure an enjoyable occasion.

Moses Taylor, former Weston farmer, was up from Pendleton Tuesday. Mose has invested in $15,000 worth of Liberty Bonds and says he will take some more whenever the government wants the money and he is able to hustle it.

Postmaster Van Winkle is in receipt from the government of a United States flag 5 1/2 by 9 feet in size. It will be floated from the city flag pole which stands quite near the postoffice, the present flag having become rather badly tattered.

Rev. W. S. Payne has been called to Grass Valley, Oregon, to conduct a series of evangelistic meetings there, beginning December 2. At the conclusion of the Grass Valley meetings he will go to Medical Lake, Washington, on a similar mission.

All friends and patrons of the Weston schools are cordially invited to attend this evening's entertainment in the school auditorium, beginning at eight o'clock. Admission is free. A silver offering will be taken for the benefit of the Red Cross.

J. N. York has bought the H. Schwandt place on the Walla Walla river for $8000 cash. The place is one of the finest country homes in the county, having a modern 14-room house and other improvements to correspond. It is located two miles east of Milton.

It is said that the most cheerful and willing service ever performed in behalf of the local Red Cross fell to the lot of George Winn, whose proud duty and privilege it became to bring the lady teachers over from Columbia College and to take them back again in his automobile.

Athena Press: James H. Sturgis of Pendleton, who enlisted in Walla Walla last September in Battery A, U. S. Field Artillery, has been commissioned second lieutenant in Battery D, 146th Regiment Field Artillery, U. S. Army. He is at present stationed at Camp Mills, Long Island, at which place his wife joined him Wednesday.

P. H. Handran is credited with a potato crop of 125 sacks from no more than a quarter of an acre of ground on the Jane Carden place on the reservation. In a season of bumper potato crops, this takes the belt—the yield being at the rate of 500 sacks to the acre. The ground had been in alfalfa and was very rich, being also sub irrigated.

The Milton Eagle reports that 147 carloads of apples have so far this season been shipped out of that point over the O.-W. line. One house alone has packed 100,000 boxes. Pickers and packers are scarce, and large quantities of apples are as yet unpicked. The car shortage has also interfered with an otherwise prosperous fruit season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Snider returned last week from their visit with relatives at Tacoma, Seattle and other points on the Sound. The return trip was made by way of Portland, and they had eleven days of pleasurable sight seeing. Frank avers, however, that he finally tired of the role of tourist, and finds absolute contentment back in his blacksmith shop.

L. K. Harlan, 1. publisher of the Pilot Rock Record, died Saturday at La Grande of typhoid fever. Mr. Harlan was an especially capable country newspaper man, and also earned fame as a baseball pitcher on many an Eastern Oregon diamond. He was well known in Weston, and in fact in every town in this section of the state. He always kept himself in fine physical trim, and the news of his death comes as a surprise and shock to a large circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Harlan had gone to La Grande to take a position as foreman of the La Grande Observer office, and became ill soon after his arrival there. He is survived by a widow and three young children.

The Saturday Afternoon Club met November 17 at the home of Mrs. S. A. Barnes. The subject of the afternoon's program, which was led by Mrs. E. M. Smith, was Household Organization for War Service. Editorials on the subject were read by the club members and profitable discussion followed. Mrs. J. Wurzer entertained the ladies with piano music. At the close of the program light refreshments were served by Mrs. J. W. Porter and Mrs. E. C. Rogers. The next meeting, December 1, will be held at the home of Mrs. J. F. Snider. Roll call will be answered with current events.

A glass jar containing eight or ten dollars of the Red Cross money locally donated for the Soldiers' Christmas Fund was stolen Saturday morning from the O. K. Candy Shop. Mr. James Kirkpatrick, father of the store's proprietor, Miss Odessa Kirkpatrick, was in charge of the store at the time, but did not keep his eye on the jar as he had no suspicion that even the lowest of thieves would seek to get away with a plainly marked donation for such a purpose. The theft created quite a town sensation, and as a matter of course is universally condemned.

Otha Reeder this week purchased of the heirs of John Martin the old Martin homestead southeast of Walla Walla, for a consideration of $33,800, reports the Press. Two of the heirs, Wm. Winship and Mrs. Samuel Haworth, reside in Athena.

The Pastime has the lowest prices on cigars and tobaccos. Can tobacco 11c, plug chewing 10c, fine cut 5c. Nice, big line of 5c cigars; also good two for 5c cigars. Large assortment of fresh candies. E. E. Zehm.

Hill the Jeweler will discontinue business at Weston December 1, and until that time will sell all stock at cost—which is less than present wholesale prices.

To car owners—Our new battery recharger is now working nicely. Also, we are prepared to vulcanize your tubes. Pennington & O'Harra.

Mrs. J. W. Jones, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beathe, left yesterday on her return home to Missoula, Montana.

Mrs. Geo. H. Reed, former resident of Weston and a pioneer school teacher of this neighborhood, died recently at her home in Tacoma.

J. L. Hodgson is visiting in Weston from La Crosse, and is a dental patient of Dr. Sempert's.

Mrs. Rollie Compton of Rockland, Idaho, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Compton.

Pennington & O'Harra are putting a Ford in commission as a service car.

WITH VIOLIN, GIRL WIZARD CHARMS WESTON AUDIENCE

That Miss Brown of the Columbia College faculty, Milton, is a wonderfully gifted violinist, was the consensus of opinion on the part of her large audience at the Methodist church in Weston last Friday evening. One of her hearers asserts that she is superior to all the violinists he has heard since Remenyi, and that if the famous old master named were now living and heard her play from the same platform, he would greet her as a peer.

Miss Brown is not only wonderful as a virtuoso, she is charming as a performer. Her every movement is grace itself, and her bowing a veritable poem. To be sure, these are features that please the eye rather than the ear, but together with the marvelously sweet sounds that are drawn from the sweetest of all instruments, they constitute an enchanting ensemble. Miss Brown played several numbers with admirable effect that are only attempted successfully by the greatest of masters. Her duets with Miss Compton, soprano, were an especially pleasing feature of the program. Notably that old favorite, Schubert's Serenade, was played and sung in a manner at once appealing and beautiful.

Miss Compton sang delightfully and Miss Graham is a gifted reader, who made an especial hit with her humorous number, "In Fourteen Ninety-two." The piano accompaniments were played in perfect sympathy by Miss Shangle, and from a musical and artistic standpoint the program throughout has never been passed in this city—not even by Chautauqua performers. Columbia College is indeed fortunate to possess such remarkable wealth of talent in its faculty.

The entire net proceeds, $50.70, went to swell Weston's allotment of the Soldiers' Christmas Fund raised under auspices of the Red Cross.
