Farmers and City Men Both Are Buying This Car

Model 85-Four

Thirty-Five Horsepower

Your family is entitled to the same efficiency, comfort, style and conveniences that make this Overland so popular in metropolitan centers.

Its utility and economy appeal to the thrifty man no matter where he lives.

All the shrewd buyers are not in cities.

The farmer also knows the Overland is the only car of such accommodations and attractions that can be obtained at anywhere near the price.

And his family knows a motor car is different from a piece of farm machinery.

It must do more than hard work. It must be a pleasure asset—something to enjoy and to be proud of.

The Overland success is due to the fact that in addition to year-after-year utility, it gives you roominess, style, comfort and modern equipment.

It is so simple and reliable any member of your family can drive it.

And so efficient you will wonder how you ever lived without it.

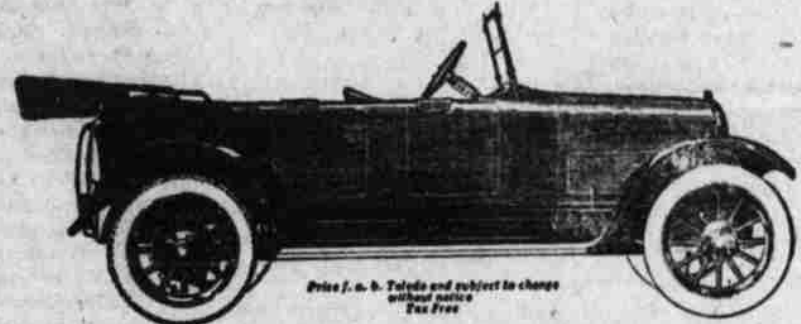

Liberal room for five passengers—extra provisions in upholstery, dimensions and materials.

A marvel for power, speed, durability and easy control.

Its economy is appreciated when you compare all that it gives to cars costing much more—

You get 112-inch wheelbase—cantilever springs—32x4-inch tires, non-skid rear; vacuum gasoline system; electric starting and lighting system, and 35 horsepower motor.

Get your order in at once.

The publishers of weekly newspapers of Umatilla County have agreed not to publish any political matter of an advertising nature except at advertising rates.

Are you saving or wasting your extra hour of daylight?

Oakland has the unenviable distinction of being the only Oregon town that on last Monday had not subscribed its quota of Liberty Bonds.

Right now is a good time to abate the manure piles and thus discourage the pesky fly from propagating its kind.

The rivalry between West and King merely means that the democratic party is getting to be "some pumpkins" in Oregon, since a hopeless minority is always harmonious.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt is "doing her bit" by working 14 hours a day in a Y. M. C. A. canteen at Aix, France.

If you haven't been able to buy a Liberty Bond, buy a thrift stamp or several thrift stamps. You will thus be saving money you might almost neglect. While nearly otherwise waste, and will attest your patriotism. Ahead with everything else, Umatilla county is still behind with her thrift stamp program. Help out your home county.

The Crown Prince is reported as saying that war is great fun, but he has never yet been forced to keep a few jumps ahead of the barrage fire from his own guns.

A Baker, Oregon, girl got drunk and climbed a tree—which action we do not hesitate to describe as quite unladylike.

The Leader man never knew he had so many warm personal friends until he began to hear from the divers and sundry candidates for Oregon jobs.

We are unedified to observe that A. W. Lafferty has resumed his job of running for Congress.

With so many people running for office, about the only distinguishing feature of the candidate is his discouraging frequency.

Destroy Mr. Fly's nursery now, and you may not have to swat him so often later on.

"What have I not done to preserve the world from these horrors?" asks Kaiser Bill. Well, old sport, you haven't "done" those you aren't able to do.

It is said that the list of "yellow card slackers" which every newspaper in Umatilla county has agreed to publish, will be so small as to be almost negligible. While nearly everyone would have subscribed anyway, the declared intention of the newspapers to print this list undoubtedly had its effect upon a few confirmed tightwads and secret German sympathizers. To be published as a slacker throughout the length and breadth of Umatilla county, is not a pleasant alternative to doing one's plain duty as a citizen.

Although the Hohenzollern war lord is prepared to lose a million and a half of German lives in his latest and greatest offensive, he will not be losing much—measured by other than Hun standards.

Advance when you are ready, General Foch; but we hope that you will be ready soon.

"Another good home guard is the home garden," says an exchange.

Perhaps Finland, like grasping Belgium, has threatened the integrity of the German empire.

The Portland library board has insisted that an unpatriotic Miss Hunt a new job.

Announcement

I herewith announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination as County Commissioner, subject to the will of the voters at the primary election May 17, 1918. (Adv.) J. M. ASHWORTH.

CANDIDATE L. J. SIMPSON LOCAL TALENT OPERETTA MAKES UNUSUAL TOUR PLEASURES LARGE AUDIENCE

When L. J. Simpson, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, finished his recent tour of Central and Southeastern Oregon, he had made one of the most unusual journeys ever undertaken by a candidate for office in Oregon.

In many places he was the first man ever to appear in the interest of election to the highest office in the state. This was true at Lakeview and at other points in the extreme south which formerly were reached only through long journey by rail through other states.

His campaign was carried to the people of Oregon directly and in all the territory which he covered he was able to see more than 15 percent of the registered voters. His system on this is as unusual as his tour.

Before leaving Portland he had in his pocket a schedule which told him exactly how many people he was to see in each city. He made it a point not to leave town until a small pocket indicator which he punched regularly showed the required quota.

The appearance of a candidate for governor all covered with mud at the tiller of a small auto led many to believe that Mr. Simpson was indeed in earnest in his endeavor to reach most of Oregon before election time.

His journey covered more than 1400 miles in this light car and was made at a time when the roads for the most part were considered impassable. He crossed the state first from The Dalles to Lakeview and then went directly east to the Idaho line, disposing of his small car at Ontario, where it was raffled for the benefit of the Red Cross chapter of that place.

In the ten days that he was en route he made himself known and talked over his principles with more than 1900 individuals, besides talking on the Liberty Loan before audiences numbering in all more than 8000 persons.

To Keep Track of Fuel

Although no limitation has been fixed on the amount of fuel that may be stored, Fuel Administrator Holmes has completed arrangements for registering every fuel purchase in the state of Oregon. Within a few days every purchaser of wood or coal will be compelled to file a declaration as to the amount of fuel used last year, the quantity re-maintaining on hand and the quantity desired. The statement must be certified to, and any wilfully false declaration opens the way for government prosecution. Purchasers will file their statements with their dealers and the dealers in turn will forward the data to the fuel administrator's office along with their reports.

Lester O'Harra and Frank Price are again with us, having been excused from jury service until September. Lester was drawn on the grand jury.

Special credit for the success of the affair is due Mrs. J. H. Williams, director; Mrs. F. D. Watts, pianist; Mrs. E. M. Smith, business manager, and A. W. Lundell, director of music.

Gross receipts were $104. Part of the net proceeds goes to the Weston band, and the balance will be used by the club ladies for war work.

The Weston players will go to Athena next Tuesday evening, the 23d, and present the same attraction in the High School auditorium there. The Weston Concert Band will accompany them, and a street parade is announced for 7 p. m.
