The "flu" ban at Walla Walla has been lifted. Tomorrow Pendleton will likely follow Walla Walla's example. Next week the quarantine lid will be off at Portland.

Corporal Jack Calder is probably now on his way to France. When last heard from by Mrs. Calder he was recovering from a light attack of influenza at Toronto, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Driskell and child and Mrs. Alice Fontaine are recovering from influenza at Great Falls, Montana. For a time Mr. Driskell was in a critical condition, but recent messages received by his mother here convey more encouragement.

Mrs. David R. Hoagland, the only sister of H. L. Hedrick of this city, died of influenza November 8 at her home in St. Louis. Mr. Hedrick, who is now the sole surviving member of the family, had not seen his sister since his boyhood 35 years ago.

Following the illness of Earl Harbour from Spanish influenza, his mother and sister were also attacked. Harold Payne is recovering from a light attack of the ailment, and the little daughter of R. L. Wilson is among the patients newly-reported this week.

Joek Davis was in Pendleton yesterday and took the physical examination for military service. He was informed by the board that he is a pretty sound little man, but fears that now the kaiser has quit he will never get to go across. He now regrets getting so late a start.

Athena Press: Out on the Sheard farm man help has been scarce this fall, but the work has progressed just the same and the seeding was finished on schedule time, mainly through the help of the daughter, Mamie Sheard. For two days she drove a nine-horse team attached to a big harrow.

The United War Workers at Weston report the local campaign to be progressing favorably. Those who have not paid their subscriptions are earnestly requested and urged to do so not later than Monday, November 18, at 4 p. m., in order that Weston may be true to its record and go over the top in this as in every other drive on schedule time.

Mrs. A. P. Couch and four children arrived in Weston Tuesday from Wallula for a visit with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Storms. Mr. Storms brought them over in his car, and while on the way two of the children complained of feeling ill. Upon reaching Weston it was found that they had the Spanish influenza.

Mrs. George Carmichael and Mrs. Allyn, who resides with her, pieced and made up at Walla Walla a handsome worsted quilt for the Red Cross. It was placed in the hands of Mr. Barclay, auctioneer, who took it out to one of his ranch sales and sold it for the neat sum of $152.39—the money being turned over to the Walla Walla Red Cross yesterday. The quilt was made of heavy wool goods and tacked with red yarn.

The Red Terror in Germany

London.—The revolution in Germany continues to make irresistible progress, according to advices from every center of news from that convulsed country.

All indications were that Bolshevism, fostered in Russia by the German government for its own selfish ends, had kaiserism decidedly on the run. Soldiers' and workers' councils appear to dominate the situation over the greater part of the former empire. Dynasties are toppling in the various petty German states.

Desperate fighting between imperial troops and revolutionaries in Berlin, the capital of Prussianism, took place on Sunday.

The revolt has spread throughout the whole empire, and 14 of the 26 states, including all the four kingdoms and all other important states, are reported securely in the hands of the revolutionists.

Out of the political chaos in Germany a republic appears to be emerging. Control at present is vested largely in soldiers' councils, but progress toward substantial government is indicated by the fact that Philipp Scheidemann, the socialist leader, has proclaimed from the steps of the reichstag building that the foundation of a German republic has been established.

The revolution continues to spread and kaiserism appears to be capitulating the length and breadth of the country.

Advices from Bremen say that the entire German northern fleet and the island base of Helgoland are in the hands of soldiers' councils.
