Ten acres timber near Blue Mountain sawmill for sale. F. D. Watts.

Mrs. M. A. Heuberger is here from Portland, looking after her farm interests.

I am compelled to conduct my business on a cash basis only. Joe Hodgson, the miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kinnear were Thanksgiving day visitors with Weston relatives.

Mrs. J. E. Marsh of Rockland, Idaho, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Compton.

Joe Lieuallen was here this week from Rieth, where he has charge of the government railroad blacksmith shop.

Henry Dowd came home for a Thanksgiving visit from Whitman college, Walla Walla, where he is a member of the S. A. T. C.

John Young, an Echo farmer, raised a squash weighing 118 pounds which is now on exhibition in a store in that proud bailwick.

For Sale at a Bargain—Three shots, weight from 50 to 80 lbs.; two brood sows and five pigs—all full-blood Berkshire. I. C. Hopkins, Weston.

Allan Garnett, former Weston shoemaker, was here this week on a business visit from Astoria, Oregon, where he is making his home with his sister while her son is in the army.

Bob Blomgren, whose goose crop in the foothills was by no means a failure, shipped a truckload of geese to the Walla Walla market Monday, receiving 15 cents per pound for the lot.

A union Thanksgiving service was held at the Methodist church. The annual sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. S. E. Powell, after a few preliminary remarks by Rev. E. F. Wriggle.

James Kirkpatrick and Sylvan Kennard, Weston soldiers stationed at St. Nazaire, France, have been promoted to be sergeants of the first class with an advance in pay to $61.20 per month.

W. D. Chamberlain, formerly county clerk of Umatilla county, was here Saturday on an official visit. Mr. Chamberlain is now connected with the field force of the internal revenue service.

Mrs. W. R. Cowan of Walla Walla, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Storms, died Monday evening of pneumonia following Spanish influenza. Mrs. Cowan is survived by a husband and daughter.

J. P. Lieuallen and the firm of McBride Bros. each turned off a carload of beeves the other day on a basis of ten cents for top steers. The shipment was made to J. W. Toner of Walla Walla.

Mrs. R. G. Saling leaves tomorrow for Portland to resume her voice study under Taglieri. She will be accompanied by Mrs. I. E. Saling and Miss Lois Saling. The latter will attend school in Portland.

A. J. Barnett is a patient in St. Anthony's hospital, Pendleton. Following an attack of influenza he was afflicted with gall stones, and an operation for their removal may be necessary. Mrs. Barnett and Andy and Earl Barnett were visiting him yesterday.

The Milton Eagle relates that probably the largest yield of popcorn recorded in this section of the northwest was grown near Lowden, Washington, by A. J. Burt, who had ten acres of the White Pearl variety which yielded 25 tons in the ear with the husk off. Mr. Burt will realize a net income of better than $3000 from the ten acres this year.

With but little more than a month to go it may be necessary to put on special campaigns in some counties of the state in order to put Oregon War Savings Stamps in the clear, according to Henry E. Reed, associate state director. Eight counties are over the top, but others are lagging behind. Umatilla county has taken 91.5 percent of its quota.

W. T. Hastings, former Weston citizen, was here this week for a visit with old friends after a long absence. He has been engaged in farming near Culesac, Idaho, but sold his holdings there about a year ago and has since been leisurely touring the country in search of a new location. He is not particularly anxious to find one, however, as he is interested in a placer claim on the Salmon river which supplies him with the yellow metal whenever he chooses to dig for it.

Interesting Farm Statistics

Much valuable information for farmers is being brought to light through the filing of threshing reports with the Umatilla county agent, M. S. Shrook, under the federal requirement for such reports. These cover investigations as to loss of wheat owing to poor work of threshers, as well as to quantity of grain and acreage threshed. All farmers recognize the fact that it is impossible to get a separator that will save all the grain, but all are keen to make the highest possible percentage of saving, says a Pendleton dispatch to the Oregon Journal.

Of 35 farmers reporting on the use of two-men pony combines last year, 20 announce that they intend to use them again next year. Eleven will not and three are doubtful. Twenty-two owners reported that the combine worked satisfactorily number 16; those who do not, 10. Nine gave qualifying answers. Twenty-one men thought it cleaned the grain well; eight did not, while five considered that it cleaned the grain fairly well.
