M. A. Thrasher and family of Walla Walla, formerly of Weston, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Lavender. Mr. Thrasher conducts a large welding plant in Walla Walla.

Miss Violet Wriggle, a graduate of Weston High school, passed a successful examination for a teacher's certificate, and now holds a certificate granting her the right to teach in the elementary grades and junior high schools of Oregon.

At a special meeting of the Athena council, reports the Press, a warrant for $7723.10 was issued to Bert Cartano in settlement of the famous damage suit brought by him against the city for alleged injuries sustained by a defective sidewalk.

Sooner or later, every man who holds a stick of wood with one hand while splitting it with an axe in the other hand, is due to regret this method. L. R. Van Winkle, Weston's postmaster, "got his" Monday—which is the reason why his left hand is bandaged and he looks a bit foolish when asked about it.

The second quarterly conference of the United Brethren church will be held February 1st and 2d. The business session will convene Saturday at 7:30 p. m. Rev. W. A. Nicols will preach on Sunday morning and evening. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. Everybody is invited to attend the services.

J. P. Lieuallen and P. A. McBride, local stockmen, were out in the stubble fields twelve miles north of Walla Walla a few days ago looking after their cattle. They say the farmers in that locality are already acting as though winter is over. They have gathered up their farm stock in readiness to begin plowing and will be out in the fields soon if the present weather continues.

Friend Athena has also had her waterworks troubles, as indicated by the following from the Press: "Residents of Adams street between Third and Fourth have been much discomfited as the result of frozen water mains during the last two weeks. The pipe line, which is only down to a depth of 16 to 18 inches, froze solid during the recent cold snap and households dependent upon service from that source, had no service."

The following officers of Weston Lodge No. 65, A. F. & A. M., were installed Saturday evening: R. G. Blomgren, worshipful master; Joe Hodgson, senior warden; H. L. Hedrick, junior warden; S. A. Barnes, treasurer; L. B. Davis, secretary; J. C. Price, senior deacon; W. S. Price, junior deacon; Porter Graham, tyler; E. O. DeMoss and Gilbert Ellis, stewards; Richard Morrison, marshal. E. M. Smith is the retiring master.

At a recent meeting of the Weston Ministerial association it was decided to call an evangelist of note to Weston to hold a series of union gospel meetings. The call was made to Rev. George Taylor of Los Angeles, but the meetings will not be held until influenza has entirely disappeared from the Weston community. The Saling brick at the corner of Main and Water streets has been secured and fitted up for the occasion.

"The fatal paragraph" is what Allison Wood calls the Leader's notice to subscribers, which if marked indicates an expired subscription. To avoid any fatalities in the Wood household he sends us two bucks, from Montour, Idaho. "We get the Weston fever now and then," he writes, "but cannot afford to leave here, as we have big opportunities."

Fire broke out Tuesday morning in Walla Walla college, the Adventist school at College Place, while 275 students and teachers were gathered in the chapel on the second floor. Cool heads prevented a threatened panic. Damage to the extent of $10,000 was caused.

Mrs. Eva Shellenberger, formerly of Weston, was united in marriage at Walla Walla Wednesday to Mr. Corbett C. Chase. The bridegroom is deputy sheriff of Walla Walla county.

Iley Winn has sold his holdings north of Helix, 900 acres in all, to his brother, Bert Winn. The consideration is reported to have been in the neighborhood of $100,000.
