Mrs. J. M. Price has been visiting her sister, Mrs. G. W. Maybee, at Pasco, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. George Phillips were here Tuesday from Freewater, attending the Hansell sale.

Paul Bullfinch has accepted a banking position at American Falls, Idaho, and will report for duty there on February 26.

William Goodwin of the Ford Motor Co., Portland, and Robert Simpson of Pendleton were business callers Monday at the Liberty garage.

Irvine Caplinger, a young man who has been employed with Clem Duncan at the Watts Bros. farm, is a typhoid fever patient at St. Mary's hospital, Walla Walla. He is reported to be improving.

Anxious to get back to the soil and contribute his bit to the agricultural industry of the nation, James Killgore returned this week to Holdman. He has work to do there on the J. E. Serimsher farm.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacKenzie left Wednesday for their home at Coffee Creek, Montana, after a pleasant visit with Weston friends. They will stop for a few days in Whitman county, Wash., where Mr. MacKenzie has land interests.

Marvin Price, Sim Culley and Bob Proudfoot went after steelheads again last Sunday near Umatilla, but the fish refused to bite for them. Some twenty steelheads were taken during the day by forty fishermen strung along a short stretch of river.

Harry Ross of Kansas City, Missouri, was here Saturday and Sunday visiting his sister, Mrs. R. L. Reynaud, whom he hadn't seen since they were children. Brother and sister were overjoyed at meeting each other again. Mr. Ross is a commercial traveler.

Manager Adams of the Liberty Auto Co. sold a new Ford touring car Monday to Roy Hyatt. It will be delivered April 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Price returned Wednesday from a visit with the O. M. Richmonds and Mrs. Cora Simpson at Walla Walla.

After an extended visit with relatives here Arthur Gould and family are leaving today on their return home to Amethyst, Alberta.

The Weston country was drenched with a heavy rainfall Sunday night. This was nearly all absorbed by the soil, and put a stop to any fear of deficient winter moisture. Fresh snow fell on the mountain to a depth of nine inches near Tamarack church.

Rev. W. S. Payne of the Methodist Episcopal Church returned Monday from the Sunnyside Methodist church north of Freewater, where he conducted a successful protracted meeting of two weeks' duration. There were twenty conversions, and on the final night the congregation included more than 300 people.

Henry J. Taylor of Pendleton, president of the Umatilla County Pioneers' Association, will meet with the citizens of Weston on Saturday, March 15, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of appointing committees and making arrangements for the annual reunion of pioneers. The meeting will be held in the office of Secretary Barnes.

Our intelligent compositor had no desire to overrule President Henry Taylor when he put J. M. Banister on the soldiers' and pioneers' memorial committee in the place of J. M. O'Harra. He was merely confused by the fact that their initials are identical and now hastens to acknowledge his error, as there seems to be no chance to lay the blame onto Sim Barnes.

Guy Johnson, a Weston soldier with Battery D, 148th Field Artillery, took part in a good deal of hard fighting during the American advance, but is now taking things easy in Germany—that is, comparatively easy. He is one of the battery cooks and sends home to his mother, Mrs. W. M. Johnson, a picture of himself and three other "kitchen bums." Battery D is billeted at Hoeher, Germany, and Private Johnson writes that the American soldiers are treated better there than they were in France.

UNION REVIVAL CONTINUES WITH INCREASING INTEREST

The revival meetings at Saling's hall continue to grow in interest and enthusiasm.

Evangelist Taylor's theme for Saturday evening is "A Backslider's Experience, or From the Circus Tent to the Pulpit." Sunday morning he will discuss "The Power of Motherhood."

The children's service is scheduled for Sunday afternoon at two-thirty, and "Little Foxes" will be the subject. The little folk will occupy the choir stand. "Come and hear them—they will give a grand program," is the invitation.

Sunday evening's sermon will be on "The Question of the Age."

"Do not fail to attend these services," says the Weston Ministerial association. "Weston is surely enjoying a feast both as to preaching and song. Evangelist G. W. Taylor is all that he is represented to be. A man of deep, broad mind, soaring above the little technicalities of denominational names, he works with one big aim in view—to build up the Kingdom of God."

"Paul, the wonderful singer, is training the children for the Sunday afternoon service. Be sure to see the sleight-of-hand performance."

Aside from the singing by the large chorus trained by Director Paul B. Taylor, a mixed quartet will render special selections from time to time. Its members are Mrs. R. G. Saling, Miss Lois Porter, Mr. F. C. Fitzpatrick, Mr. Paul B. Taylor. Mrs. Saling contributed a beautiful sacred solo to last Sunday evening's song service. She will sing again next Sunday evening.

He Was Fair

A customer came into our store recently with a coat that had been sent him from a mail order house. He had read the advertisement. It looked fine. The garment surely was a bargain, judging from the advertisement. It was sent with the proviso that it could be returned if not satisfactory. On receipt of the package our customer gave it the "once over," then brought it to our store for comparison. The price was $17.00. We found we could give him a coat of equal quality for $16.00 and a far better coat for $17.00. Our customer returned and took our better coat for $17.00. He was fitted in the store, knew how it looked and had the reputation of our firm behind him, assuring him value for his money. You will note that our customer played fair by giving us a chance to compare values. We have no quarrel with the mail order house. We only ask that you first give us a chance to serve you. If our values are not equal to or better than those of the mail order house you have a right to send your money away. Otherwise we have a right to ask you to trade at home—building up your home institutions, not only your stores, but your schools, your churches, your roads, thereby making your own community a more desirable place in which to live. Play fair.
