

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford One Ton Truck may well be classed as an agricultural necessity—it fits into and fills so many wants on the farm.

The Farmer's Truck

It is a reliable bearer of farm burdens, not only doing the work of several horses quicker and better than the horse but never "eating its head off" when not at work. The aggressive farmer has only to consider the possibilities of the Ford truck and he is ready to buy one. We judge this to be so from the way farmers are buying them. Truck Chassis #634.10 delivered.

BREVITIES

Expert dentistry—prices reasonable. Dr. Sponogle, Athena.

Mrs. R. E. English of the Weston uplands was a recent guest of Mrs. Artie Beathe.

Dr. Kennard, the wide-awake Overland representative in this territory, has sold a Ninety T to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Skinner.

Miss Mary Lansdale arrived Saturday from Cayuse, where she is teaching school, for a week-end visit with relatives in the uplands.

Joe Hyatt was the guest Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Jones while returning home to La-Crosse from a business visit to Pendleton.

Mrs. Margaret Rabb returned yesterday from Portland, where she has been looking up the millinery situation for the Weston Mercantile Co.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Bell, Joe Payant and Carl Brandt motored Saturday to Stanfield, where Payant's orchestra played for a dance which was attended by 120 couples.

Income Tax Officers Chamberlain, Davis and McLaren are now at the postoffice building in Pendleton, where they will remain until March 15, and will assist income taxpayers in this county in making out their returns.

For a cash consideration William Hass, member of the local meat market firm of Hass & Sauer, has acquired a cottage and two lots on east Main street hill from a bank at The Dalles. The deal was negotiated through A. W. Lundell.

Ruford J. Price, who saw the surrender of the German fleet while an American sailor, writes from Portland that he is now a "first-class civilian." He was discharged at Bremerton and expects to remain in Portland awhile before coming home.

While taking a furlough on Washington's Birthday, when the rural mail carriers were not required to go out, Ray Jones attended the big home-coming celebration for soldiers at Walla Walla. Incidentally and also, he earned the title of "professor."

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Bonewitz and their two sons, who have been visiting the parents of Mr. Bonewitz at Weston during the winter, left Wednesday on their return home to Myrtle Point. Mr. Bonewitz was entirely relieved of an attack of asthma as the result of his long stay in this beneficent climate.

Rufus A. Brutscher, Weston boy, is back in Detroit, Michigan, after a long term of army service—partly overseas—as motorcycle dispatch rider. He writes: "I will be out West next year because I have been in 27 states and over the pond, and from Brest to Paris in France, and have seen nothing that can compare with Oregon." Rufus is at present engaged in road testing for the Hupp Motor Car Corporation. He was on board the American transport sunk at Hoboken, New Jersey, and had a swim in salt water.

C. P. Strain, executive secretary of the roads committee, and Dave Nelson, president of the Umatilla County Good Roads association were in town Wednesday on business connected with the county road bonds election next Tuesday. Both of these gentlemen are earnest and active proponents of the bonding measure, and their support carries the more weight for the reason that the motive of each is known to be a disinterested desire for progress. They express confidence that the bonding measure will carry by a large margin if the vote is gotten to the polls. Their visit here had to do with this phase of the campaign.

J. E. Jones was out in the fiercest storm Tuesday which he says he ever encountered in many years of mountain experience. The rain in the lowlands assumed the proportions of a blizzard on the mountain, and snowing and blowing were the order of the day. He could scarcely see his team, and the roads were drifted full. He could get no farther on his mail route than the corner of Rayborn's field, and returned by way of little Dry creek. At Tamarack church Monday the snow had reached a depth of 45 inches, and an additional ten inches is said to have fallen Tuesday.

The Weston Commercial club will meet at 6:30 o'clock next Monday evening for the purpose of considering a proposition to unite with the State Chamber of Commerce in accordance with a letter received from that body. This matter was submitted to a committee consisting of J. H. Price, Dr. F. D. Watts and E. M. Smith at a called meeting last Monday, and the committee will report next Monday evening.

Advices from Ellison-White headquarters at Portland say that Summer Chautauqua will be scheduled for Weston during a week convenient for holding the annual reunion of pioneers. Ellison-White merely ask that no dates be set for the reunion until they are heard from further. They expect to be able to date Weston up for the early part of June.

Joe Hodgson, the well known and popular Weston miller, is now part owner of Prospect farm, located eight miles from Echo and celebrated since early years in the agricultural annals of Umatilla county. Mr. Hodgson acquires 1600 acres of Prospect by buying the equity of a Mr. Juvenal. He will get part of the crop this year from 650 acres.

Conrad C. Cockerline, who lived in Weston when a boy, is reported in Tuesday's casualty list as having died of disease in France. He entered the army from Estacada, Oregon. Conrad was a son of M. J. Cockerline, who at one time was in the drug business at Weston.

Iley Winn's lap robe was stolen Saturday night from his car in the Liberty garage, and two youths of Milton were later arrested by City Marshal Dupuis on complaint of the garage manager, Mr. Adams. The defendants were examined Monday in Recorder Porter's court and discharged, the evidence being found insufficient to connect them with the theft.

TAYLOR A WINNER

(Weston Ministerial Association.)

The evangelistic meetings now being conducted in the Salling building by G. W. Taylor and his son Paul are a great success from practically every standpoint. The preaching is scholarly, Biblical and convincing, and has made a profound impression upon all. The singing is up to standard. Weston people are singing the gospel now as they never did before. Paul is some choir leader.

The attendance at the services is all that could be expected—the old hall packed to overflowing every evening. There have been 25 decisions up to date and many others are expected.

The topics upon which Evangelist Taylor will speak for the remainder of the time he is here are as follows:

Friday evening—Popular Ex-cuses.

Saturday afternoon at 2:30—Lecture on the League of Nations.

Saturday evening—Tomorrow, or the Devil's Day of Grace.

Sunday at 11 a. m.—The Mission of the Church.

Sunday afternoon at two o'clock—The Price of a Woman. An address for women only, at the Methodist Church.

Sunday afternoon at three—Chickens Come Home to Roost. An address for men only, at the hall.

Sunday evening—Too Late.

Monday evening—Amusements.

Austin Bond, a prominent Linn county farmer, was killed when a southbound Southern Pacific passenger train struck his automobile, which stalled on a crossing in Albany.

LET'S VOTE NOW

or forever after hold our peace on the subject of Good Roads. The State is ready, the County is ready and if we are not ready we may lose the benefit of State and County co-operation.

DON'T STAY AT HOME

next Tuesday. If you do, the stay-at-home vote may defeat an equitable and common-sense measure. Go to the polls, every man and woman of you, and do your duty as citizens. Vote as you please, of course; we're voting
