"SAVE AND PAY UP"

The war is over, but not paid for.

Some have subscribed for bonds and failed to pay for them. Would the war have been over if our boys at the front had been as slack?

The Victory Loan will soon be called—must be subscribed and paid.

The country and its people are too heavily in debt to indulge in anything not essential. Let's get out from under the load.

T. J. McCarty was in town Tuesday from Burbank, Wash.

J. S. Harris has gone to Walla Walla to receive medical treatment.

Mrs. H. March of Freewater visited with friends in Weston Tuesday.

Frank Snider has accepted a position with the firm of Watts & Rogers.

Mrs. Amy Van Skiver has gone to Baker, Oregon, for a two weeks' visit at the home of her sister, J. M. Swaggart.

George Nesbit went to Walla Walla this week to begin his new work as salesman with the International Harvester Co.

J. E. Scrimsher and family are finding much pleasure in the recent acquisition by purchase of a new Studebaker Six touring car.

With a lively sense of satisfaction—at least two dollars' worth—the Leader is enabled to report that Trajan Tucker was in town Saturday.

Mrs. Frank Skinner is a patient in St. Anthony's hospital, Pendleton, where she submitted to an operation for the relief of throat trouble.

Elmer and Chester Ferguson have bought 15 acres of irrigable land on the Wild Horse, below Saxe station. They are now engaged in plowing and leveling the tract.

A ten-pound boy was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Johnson at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Storms, who are the proud grandparents of the youngster.

Luther Shellenberger returned yesterday from Alberta, having been seized with an attack of rheumatism which he decided to come back to get rid of. Walter Beamer has the flu, but is recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Padberg are here from Morrow county for a visit with relatives. Mr. Padberg reports good prospects for wheat in Morrow county, where but little reseeded was found necessary.

Andy T. Barnett, produce buyer for the Weston Mercantile Co., was again engaged this week in buying potatoes in behalf of the United Brokers of Portland. The quotation remains at $1.25 to $1.40.

The Weston branch library will be moved soon to convenient new quarters in the Watts office building on south Water street, use of which has been kindly donated by Dr. Watts. Permission to make the change of location was granted Wednesday evening by the council.

The recent arrival is reported of Beverly Jeanne McGrew, weight 8½ pounds, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. McGrew in Portland. Incidentally, G. A. R. McGrew is a grandpa for the first time, and is prouder of the distinction than he would be of the presidency of the league of nations.

Pody Duncan is constantly adding to his store of knowledge. He learned the other day, quite by accident, that when muriatic acid comes in contact with human flesh the consequences are painful if not disastrous. After spilling some of this violent fluid on his leg he lost no time in beseeching the kind offices of Dr. McKinney.

Henry Bascom Bellomy passed away March 29, 1919, at the home of Rev. S. E. Powell from influenza following pneumonia. Mr. Bellomy was 27 years, 7 months and 18 days old, and is survived by a widow and infant child. His parents are also left to mourn his untimely death. The remains were shipped to his late home at Troy, Idaho, for burial.

Clem Duncan has finished reseeded 90 acres of red chaff at the Watts Bros. farm. Several hundred acres of the same farm are in white hybrid, which is coming along nicely. The singular fact is noted that the best stand of hybrid is found on land which was not harrowed after the drills. Where the ground was harrowed it was left in a smoother condition and there was less protection against freezing.

The celebrated mules of Jim Jones broke loose from the rural mail chariot in a mountain snow-drift the other day and wallowed along just ahead of him for a mile. The drifts were deep and soft and progress was slow and tortuous. Up to his hips in snow, Jones toiled painfully behind the mules, tearfully beseeching them to "whoa," but could never get quite near enough to grab the lines. He finally headed them off by crawling out of the drifts and making a detour.

Fred Gr DuPuis, city marshal of Weston, has sued his wife Leota for divorce. The suit is the culmination of a Happy Canyon romance, the two having been wedded during the 1915 Pendleton Round Up as a Happy Canyon feature. The plaintiff complains that his wife treated him cruelly and has been keeping company with other men. He says she left him on the 4th of March last. There is one child, Harley, and the father asks for his custody. W. M. Peterson is plaintiff's attorney.

A. W. Rogers, former Weston farmer, has bought a fifteen thousand dollar farm six miles north of North Yakima, Wash, near a little town called Selah, on the hard-surfaced road traversing that section. Alex has also invested in the Weston Leader, in order to keep posted on the doings of his old-time Weston friends and neighbors.

Miss Fay Warren is in an Everett, Wash., hospital, where she is being attended by her mother, Mrs. E. M. Warren. Miss Warren will be compelled to relinquish her school work indefinitely, and will be brought to Weston by her mother so soon as her condition permits of her removal.

C. W. Avery, deputy assessor, has opened an office in the Gould building, next door to Frank Price's office, and extends a cordial invitation to taxpayers to call and meet their fate.

L. W. Barnes was here a few days this week from Chelan, Wash., visiting relatives and friends.
