Methodist Sunday School Outing

Last Saturday 120 parents, children, members and friends of the Methodist Sunday school spent a pleasant and profitable day in visiting the place where Marcus Whitman, his wife and thirteen others were massacred. Says one of the party:

"As we looked tenderly and feelingly upon the stately shaft which has been erected to the memory of these devoted martyrs, and as we gathered around the mausoleum which contains their remains, our minds were carried back to the time 72 years ago when their lives were sacrificed upon a soil they had learned to love. All were convinced that Marcus Whitman looked to the importance of securing Oregon as an American possession, and that to him more than any other one man is due the fact that we are now living under the Stars and Stripes here in Oregon rather than under the banner of St. George."

The beautiful City Park of Walla Walla was a fitting place for the enjoyment of the splendid dinner which had been provided.

The school desires to say that it feels indebted and deeply grateful to Mrs. R. G. Saling, Marvin Price and Worth Watts for the use of their cars in the absence of other cars which did not arrive.

Dairy butter must be full weight and the words, "Dairy Butter," must be printed on the wrapper, in order to comply with the requirements of the Oregon pure food and dairy law.

These facts were plainly set forth by Inspector F. M. Phillips on a recent visit to local grocery stores. The Weston Mercantile Company therefore gives notice to its patrons that it cannot and will not handle butter unless the law is strictly complied with. Especial emphasis is laid upon the necessity of full-weight rolls.

All butter wraps heretofore printed at the Leader office will be reprinted free of charge by the publisher, with the two words required, as rapidly as his facilities admit. It is only necessary for the maker to leave his or her butter wraps at the grocery store of the Weston Mercantile Co., and we'll do the rest.

Aside from short-weight butter and unlawful wraps, the inspector gave the Weston Mercantile Co.'s grocery department a clean bill of health.

Special Council Meeting

At the city council meeting Monday evening it was decided to vacate Main street between Franklin and Broad streets for several days to allow for moving the Memorial hall building across the street. It is expected that the actual work of moving the hall will occupy a few hours only, and meanwhile the street will be open for traffic as usual.

The wooden water main on Broad street from the bridge northward will be taken up and removed, and steel main substituted for a distance of several blocks. Two sections of steel main will be put in on Washington street also.

It was voted to permit the Memorial Hall Association to lower the grade on Broad street under supervision of the street committee, in order to make a better approach on this thoroughfare to the new hall site.

By a vote of three to two the council rescinded its action in lowering the dance license for the two nights of the pioneers' picnic. The license thus stands as fixed by ordinance—$50 per dance.

Edgar Forrest, one of the reservation's big farmers, does not intend to neglect the lowly spud. He intends planting one hundred acres, principally netted gems, and was in town Thursday after additional seed. Trajan Tucker, who has almost qualified as a spud specialist, is planting 50 acres.
