At all events Bill Hohenzollern will never get as severe a trial as he has been to humanity.

We somehow gather that Postmaster-General Burleson is being subjected to considerable criticism from those who are criticizing him.

It is at last beginning to dawn upon Germany that when she lost the war she lost something.

We fancy that one hundred years from now history will record a different opinion of Woodrow Wilson from that entertained by his senatorial critics.

Clemenceau was the very man to tell the Germans just what the allies think of them.

It is becoming quite evident that before American labor embraces bolshevism it will first practice with a rattlesnake.

As to the much-mooted square deal, everybody will get what he thinks is one some day, we hope—in heaven.

The outlook is not particularly sunny for Mooney.

The ever-thirsty Dean Collins has this to say in his Telegram colyum: "Sheriff Hurlburt has discovered the 'kitchenette still' of gallon-and-a-half capacity already, and now it will be up to some enterprising moron among us to devise a vest pocket still, capable of producing a couple of gulps."

As though a couple of gulps would be any more to Dean Collins than a couple of raindrops to the Sahara!

Not yet having handed Germany any advice—her whole disastrous course having been pursued without hearing from us—we will do so now to the effect that she'd really better sign.

The League of Nations is already strong enough to survive the Knox.

Congress has voted to repeal the daylight-saving law October 26, just as some of us were learning to be thrifty in the only thing we have a chance to be thrifty in.

The Portland Holy Roller who killed himself and wife lost a grand chance—by including his wife—to win the world's applause.

Curiously enough, everything is going up but airplanes—government having sold 1100 planes under the hammer at the bargain price of $200 each.

Between the Big Four and Marshal Foch, the Hun will find the pen far safer than the sword.

If it will help any, the Leader will ingratiatingly arise to remark to the highway powers that be that whatever route they choose through Weston will be satisfactory to us.

In a vein presumably intended to be facetious an eastern wheezer says that considering the Burleson service he knows now what a dead letter died of.

Weston should feel flattered that it is considered important enough by the state highway commission to be asked to "get together" on the route question.

The only good sign for Germany is awaiting her signature.

The fact that Premier Orlando has been repudiated by the Italian chamber of deputies is not necessarily discreditable to Premier Orlando, who has stood between the conflicting fires of Italian ambition and a just peace program.

Warren Whipp of Cleveland, employed in Paris as a chauffeur for the Red Cross, has invented an appliance enabling an automobile to run 75 miles on a quart of gasoline.—News Item.

Well, well! Somebody hand us an automobile and we'll supply the gasoline.

The present European situation teaches us that there is some advantage to military dominance when the right side dominates.

If Germany signs, it will be regarded as an omen of returning sanity.

Better a stroke of the pen than a stroke of paralysis.

Fourth and Fifth at Pendleton

Pendleton, Or., June 18.—That Pendleton's celebrations on the Fourth and Fifth of July are to be real celebrations, put on in Pendleton style, is now assured. Sam Wright, who has charge of the street decorations, has just received enough bunting, flags, pennants, streamers and things to give the city a gala day appearance. Besides this he is preparing large and appropriate patriotic pictures for the center of Main street, and plenty of shields with the word "Welcome" in large letters, for corner posts, over which will be an array of flags.

The merchants are being asked to place seats on the curb in front of their places of business, that those who wish to watch the crowds, or the water fight, or even the dancing which is to be one of the features of the evenings, may have a place to sit.

On the evening of the Fourth will probably be held a prize dance, in which the best three couples will be given prizes of $10, $5 and $2.50. On the evening of the fifth there will be a general public masquerade on the street until about 10 o'clock, when the whole assembly will adjourn to Happy Canyon for a grand march. No confetti will be permitted on either day.

Two ball games—one each day—are being arranged for. A prize of $125 each day will be divided as the contesting teams may wish.

A parade will help to make the first day's program one to be remembered. The pluguglies will be an interesting feature, and prizes are to be offered for the best make-up. Floats are being planned by several of the fraternal orders and business houses, and gaily decorated autos will be seen.

The Salvation Army Drive

Everything is in readiness for the Home Service Campaign of The Salvation Army in Oregon, to be conducted under the auspices of the Oregon State Elks association. The drive will open Sunday, June 22, and continue until June 30. The state quota is $250,000, of which one-half is to be raised in Umatilla county and Portland.

The money which Oregon is asked to give to this organization is to be used exclusively in the work of the organization in this state. The army is not requesting any money for itself, but instead is seeking to obtain sufficient funds in this one drive to enable it to serve humanity for one year without making continual solicitation upon the public for funds every few months.

Every person has heard the story of The Salvation Army in France, where it served in the front line areas, bringing comforts of home to the American doughboys. It is this service that has focused the public eye upon the organization and which has caused inquiry into the past efforts of this body of Christian men and women.

This inquiry has established the fact that for many years past The Salvation Army has operated in the front line trenches of vice and poverty, bringing comforts to those who had been shunned by the remainder of society. Its motto, "A man may be down but is never out," has won for The Salvation Army the approbation of the general public and every indication points to a large over-subscription in the forthcoming drive.

Departing Club Women Honored

One of the most delightful functions of the social calendar was the Kensington given by Mesdames F. D. Watts and E. M. Smith at the Dr. Watts residence Friday afternoon in honor of Mesdames E. C. Rogers, R. Proudft and J. F. Snider, who are leaving Weston to reside in Athena. The invitational list included the members of the Saturday Afternoon Club and Mrs. Minnie Walker of Helix.

Exquisite specimens of Frau Karl Druski and Caroline Testout roses, representing the club colors, were employed to tastefully decorate the rooms, and provided a fitting background for the gowns of those in attendance. Mrs. Watts wore a handsome gown fashioned of white satin and embroidered voile; Mrs. Smith was attractive in canary-colored taffeta; Mrs. Rogers was admired in a gown of pearl-grey georgette; Mrs. Proudft's frock was a smart blue taffeta; Mrs. Snider wore a rich silk gown in the new brown shades, combined with chiffon.

Conversation and needlework occupied the early afternoon hours, followed by a novel program of stunts arranged in an impromptu manner and demonstrating that the club ladies are eminently qualified to furnish an afternoon's entertainment, both clever and mirthful, without previous preparation.

An elaborate three-course luncheon was then served by the hostesses, after which the place-cards, bearing sentiments appropriate to friendship, were read aloud.

The afternoon proved a fitting testimonial of the affection and esteem with which the honor guests are regarded by their fellow club members.
