

Good Furniture for Years to Come

In buying furniture you should always bear in mind that you are going to live with it for a long time. Furniture that is hastily selected and bought simply because the price is low, often develops into disappointment in a short time.

There is a shortage of good furniture, but fortunately orders that we placed months ago are being filled in a most satisfactory way. Today, as never before, we can offer you furniture of quality and at prices that are moderate, in splendid assortments.

BREVITIES

Dr. N. P. Bennet, dentist. Phone No. 83, Weston.

Dr. F. D. Watts is in Spokane this week on a business mission.

If you want a nice home in Weston "dirt cheap," see A. W. Lundell.

Mrs. M. C. Ferguson has returned from Pendleton and is again at her home on the mountain.

The rarely beautiful, endlessly varied song of the meadowlark has made melody during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Benn were visiting in Weston last week from Seattle. Mrs. Benn was formerly Miss Sylvia Beathe.

F. A. Schultz of the Freewater Electric Supply House was in town Monday looking after Weston business in the line of wiring.

Trajan Tucker has sold his Wild Horse mountain interests and will devote all of his attention hereafter to his reservation holdings.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon I. O'Harra are rejoicing over the arrival of their first-born, a daughter, who came last Friday to take her place in the family circle.

Roy Read has returned from a visit to his sister, Mrs. Allison Wood, at Mountain Home, Idaho. He says that Allison is nicely established there in the garage business.

Sam Key was in town Tuesday from the foothills, where he is now farming the Wells place. He says that his wheat is froze out in spots and re-seeding may be necessary.

Archie McDermott, member of a pioneer family residing in this section in early years, died February 11 in Portland. Mr. McDermott was an uncle of Hugh Walker of Wasco.

Town dogs have been killing sheep on the John Banister place west of town—evidently from a canine idea of sport. Seven sheep are missing from the flock, and two were found dead.

J. E. Scrimsher was in town the first of the week and reports that no grain was damaged by freezing in the Holdman district. Re-seeding will only be necessary on spots that were washed out.

in open places about town. Mrs. Lilian Fredericks and Miss Edna Hollenbeck were first to report having heard the full, rich notes that voice the happiness or bid depart the gloom of human neighbors.

Rev. A. L. Thoroughman, for eight years presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, died in Walla Walla last Monday. Mr. Thoroughman was well and favorably known to Weston people and was at one time stationed here.

Leander Kirk was down for a few days last week visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. Hodgson of Weston, and sister, Mrs. M. E. Burden of Athena. Mr. Kirk is now residing on the hay ranch of his son-in-law, W. W. Morton, below Wenatchee.

L. H. Curtis has returned from a visit to "the old folks" at Brownsville, Oregon, and is again on duty at the Ellsworth Woods farm. Mr. Curtis also visited Portland and extended his journey as far south as Ashland, whose beautiful park he highly commends.

Vernon O'Harra and family and Ray Jones will move soon to the J. E. Jones place on the mountain, where they expect to put both a new drag saw and a circular saw in commission. Incidentally, they will occasionally hunt and trap coyotes for recreation—and profit.

Miss Patricia Eagleton, who was seized with influenza while attending St. Joseph's Academy in Pendleton, has been under treatment at the J. E. Scrimsher residence in that city, where her mother is attending her. She is now getting better, after a very serious illness.

Jim Jones is back on the job this week as rural mail carrier on route one, having recovered from the flu which afflicted his household. He will again put his smaller mules in commission, nobody but himself being able to handle these frisky animals. Ray Jones has had the route during his father's illness.

Mrs. Iven O'Harra has sold her 80-acre field of wheat land south of town to Frank Greer for $252.50 an acre. Mr. Greer also bought the Mrs. O'Harra residence tract of 4 1/2 acres, for a consideration of $2500. The addition to his holdings gives him one of the nicest farms in the Weston neighborhood.

The Armenian Relief fund drive is progressing favorably in Weston, with good prospects that Weston's quota of $400 will soon be forthcoming. J. H. Price has charge of the local drive, and appointed S. A. Barnes and Sim J. Culley as his assistants. The workers report receiving almost universal encouragement, showing local appreciation of the urgent needs of funds for relieving Armenia's starving millions.

A slight snow this morning dissipated prospects of spring. Freezing at night has damaged the wheat to some extent throughout this district and some re-seeding will be necessary. Among those who will have to do this costly chore on part of their holdings are Arthur Coppock, Charles Williams and Will Kirk. As a general thing, hybrid wheat seems to have withstood the freezing better than the club varieties.

The R. G. Salings have sold their attractive cottage on Water street and part of the furniture to Dr. N. P. Bennet, who has moved in with his family. Mr. Salings will leave soon to join his family in Portland. The Salings are planning to come back for the summer months. Mrs. Salings, who was here for a few days last week, returned to Portland Sunday.

George Ashworth held his head a trifle higher than usual and walked with brisk pace through our streets last Saturday as he recalled that the 14th of February marked his eighty-seventh birthday. He celebrated the event by putting on his hat and taking himself abroad to view the wonders of the returning year.

Members of Athena-Weston Post, American Legion, were delightfully entertained at Memorial Hall Monday evening by the Bachelor Girls and You Go I Go clubs. A musical program was enjoyed and a delectable repast served. Preliminary steps were taken toward the organization of a women's auxiliary to the post.

Mr. L. Halseth of Browning, Montana, is expected to arrive in Weston soon to take a position with the Weston Mercantile Co. Mr. Halseth is a merchant of many years' experience and the Weston Mercantile Co. is to be congratulated on securing the services of a man of his ability.

Royal Driskell is in the city from Dayton, Wash., for a short visit with his parents. He has just recovered from influenza, as has also his brother, H. J. Driskell. Mrs. H. J. Driskell is quite seriously ill with the disease and her sister, Mrs. Grady Herndon, has gone to Dayton to attend her.

Mrs. J. Franklin Macy and children, Isabella, Doris and William, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Pedersen home from Pendleton Saturday and were their guests over Sunday.

Prof. and Mrs. F. C. Fitzpatrick, Miss Mabel Colvin and Miss Edna Hollenbeck motored to Pendleton Saturday to look after matters of importance to educators.

John Reynolds has returned to Weston after an extended absence, during which he spent nearly all his time in the open, hunting and fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Iven O'Harra and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Kinnear and baby were all confined to the O'Harra home by a visitation of influenza.
