All Saints guild members were delightfully entertained last Thursday afternoon by Mesdames Lillian Fredericks and Ralph G. Saling at the former's home. Needlework and merry conversation caused the time to pass rapidly. Mrs. Fredericks gave three piano selections—"The Flatterer" (Chaminade) being an especially pleasing number. Little Lois Fay NorDean captivated her hearers with a recitation entitled "My Shadow." Mrs. Iley Winn was welcomed as a new member of the organization. The closing hour was made the more enjoyable by tempting refreshments served by the hostesses. Guests other than guild members were: Mrs. Bayles Baker of Deer Lodge, Montana; Miss Hortense Baker, Mrs. C. F. Bulfinch, Miss Dorothy Bulfinch, Mrs. Will NorDean. Miss Frances McCarty of Pendleton is the guest of Ernie McIntyre. The H. Goodwins were guests Sunday at Fir Lodge, the picturesque mountain home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDaniel.

A temperature last Friday of 91 degrees is reported by Merritt A. Baker, government observer. This was the hottest day of the season at Weston. Last week's torrid temperature damaged the wheat in some localities, but was followed this week by ideal weather from the growers' standpoint. Occasional showers have fallen and it has been unusually cool for July, insuring a plump berry. A few more good

J. N. York and Ranney York returned the other day from a trip into the farming district between Walla Walla and Waitsburg. They found growers rather anxious up that way over the harvest situation. No less than $16 an acre is offered, as contrasted with $12 to $14 an acre up there last year and the ruling rate of $7 to $9 in the Weston district. Ranney York was offered $18 a day to simply run a header, and $7 an acre to bring a header and cut grain. A scarcity is feared of the more skilled harvest labor.

Some huckleberry boughs from the neighborhood of Camp McDougal were shown in town this week by Sim Barnes. They are loaded with green fruit, and Sim says that every patch he saw in the woods promises an abundant yield.

Dr. and Mrs. McKinney extended their recent holiday trip as far as Portland, and while there ran out to Oregon City to visit E. O. DeMoss and family. They found these former Westonsians very nicely established indeed, Mr. DeMoss having a partnership in a successful undertaking business. Miss Iva McKinney accompanied them as far as Arlington, where she remained for a visit with relatives.

There will be a lot of boy scouting this week around Bingham Springs. In one camp are Dudley Rogers, Glenn Staggs and Emrel Duncan; in another, Arden Lucas and Harvey Lundell; in still another, Anson and Harold Payne and Eugene Smith.

Frederic McGrew came in from his Pea Ridge ranch Tuesday and purchased a binder from Jones & Jones.

Mrs. Sarah Rowland was a gracious hostess last Wednesday, when she entertained at her home the Women's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South. Among the most attractive of the stars that rise during the early evening in summer are Vega, Deneb and Altair. They form a triangle, with the short side towards the north and Altair at the apex in the south. Vega is the most brilliant star in the skies of the northern hemisphere, and all summer long is the gayest and perhaps the most beautiful star gracing the heavens.

Eldon McIntyre left Friday for Seaside, where he will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thompson became the happy parents July 9 at the residence of J. E. Jones in this city of a promising seven-pound daughter. Grandpa Price hurried down from the sawmill to see the youngster.

Help, Help!

Is the cry from Armenia and Syria. While we are in the midst of plenty, thousands of the oppressed and stricken people of the Near East are dying of starvation and pestilence. Their dire fate is their misfortune, not their fault. They are Christians like ourselves; of the same flesh and blood; with like hopes and aspirations. Shall we regard their suffering with indifference, shall we let them perish miserably, because an ocean lies between? because we cannot see them writhe and struggle with our own eyes and hear them groan with our own ears? No, no! Let us prove ourselves worthy of the blessings bestowed upon us and withheld from them by an all-wise if inscrutable Creator---remembering that if we do not heed Humanity's call the first of us may be last while the last of them is first, when the trumpet sounds---remembering also that "Charity covereth a multitude of sins."

WE CAN HELP

By attending the motion picture show tomorrow (Saturday) night at Memorial Hall. Films, hall, printing---all expenses---have been donated, and every dollar we pay at the door goes to Near Eastern relief. Let's all go and fill every seat in the community meeting house of which we are so proud.
