BREVITIES

Cash for chickens. J. R. Reynolds, Miss Eva Lundell, former popular Weston maid, is one of the Pendleton candidates for queen of the Labor Day parade to be held in Baker September 6.

Judge Marsh and Commissioner Anderson were in Weston and vicinity Tuesday, inspecting road work. Word has been received from Miss Frank Harris Davis that she plans to spend another season in Weston as a member of the high school faculty.

Frank Winn, Couse creek old timer, was in town Tuesday and allowed himself to be seen in rather doubtful company. However, Frank is a staunch democrat and above political corruption. Under the Wilson administration he has just harvested a good wheat crop, running from 40 to 45 bushels.

J. H. Key harvested a fraction less than 50 bushels per acre from the McKinnon place northwest of town. His home place east of town is going close to 45 bushels per acre. The "Umatilla county nuggets" most always come pretty good for Joe.

I am agent for Franco-American Toilet and Household Requisites. Call at residence. Mrs. Will Payne.

The Lieuallen blacksmith shop has been leased by Mrs. Lieuallen to George Cayo and Dan McClell, experienced general blacksmiths who come from Idaho Falls, Idaho. Mr. Cayo, who has been 25 years at the anvil, was here this week arranging to open the shop, and will be joined later by Mrs. Cayo and his partner.

Miss Clara G. Hall, formerly of the Weston Normal faculty, has the sympathy of friends here in the loss of her sister, Miss Mattie Hall, who passed away August 23 at St. Anthony's hospital, Pendleton.

Teddy, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baker, formerly of Weston, is critically ill from spinal meningitis at their home in Enterprise, Oregon.

Two furnished rooms for light housekeeping. Mrs. E. W. Achilles. Will Beaton took Mrs. J. R. Beaton and Mrs. E. Reynolds to the Blue Mountain sawmill Sunday and brought his family home. Incidentally he went out for a hunt and bagged the limit in native pheasants.

Mrs. Ray Gordon is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gilmore, at their mountain ranch.

Miss Esther Williams dispensed delightful hospitality last Friday evening when she entertained the You Go I Go club at the J. H. Williams residence. Games and dancing afforded much enjoyment. At midnight a lunch embodying seasonable dainties was served by the hostess. Those in attendance were: Misses Hortense Baker, Gertrude Van Winkle, Vira Morrison, Irene Banister, Wavel O'Harris, Gladys Smith, Esther Davis, Minnie Johnson, Helen Johnson and Esther Williams.

An eight-pound daughter was born Thursday of last week to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warfield at their home on Basket mountain.

Mrs. Mary O. Nelson and V. H. Chastain motored over Monday from the Chastain residence in Walla Walla valley. Mrs. Nelson is entertaining a visitor from the east, her niece, Miss Minnie Moore of Bellfontaine, Ohio.

Bud Walden was up this week from Pilot Rock to visit his brother, Ben Walden, well known pioneer, who is improving in health after a long illness.

Miss Dorothy Bullfinch returned Sunday from two weeks of camping in the Cold Spring region.

Elmer Elwell and family, who recently returned to Weston from Milton, have rented and are now occupying the Dr. Madden cottage on Normal Heights.

R. L. Reynaud and family were guests Sunday of the Harry Scholls at their home in Pendleton.

Mrs. Newton Loveridge was taken quite ill Saturday morning and is as yet unable to be about her usual duties.

Mrs. Charles Price is in Spokane this week attending the annual conference of the M. E. Church, South. Mrs. Price was chosen as a delegate from the Women's Missionary society of the local church.

Mrs. Harry Shick is spending a few days in Pendleton with the Harry Scholl family.

The Ralph G. Salings returned Sunday from a several weeks' outing at Cold Spring camp.

Otis Gould came up from Holdman last week and is spending a few days under the parental roof.

The eighty-first birthday anniversary of Mrs. Sarah McDougal was celebrated at Camp McDougal, Sunday. A company of fifty-one sat around long tables which were loaded with all the delicacies accompanying a chicken dinner. A birthday salad prepared and artistically decorated by Mrs. F. B. Boyd of Athena was a novel feature of the feast, and a portion was served to each guest by the honoree. Several families motored up from town to join the camp contingent in making the day a red letter one for the estimable pioneer woman.

Misses Anna Lavender and Esther Williams motored to Walla Walla Wednesday on a combined business and pleasure trip.

J. T. Lawson has moved a shoe shop outfit from Freewater to Weston, preparatory to engaging in business here. He is temporarily located in the cottage owned by his brother, Joe Lawson, on Broad street.

Miss Otha Crawford returned to her home at Milton Friday after a six weeks' visit at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smock.

Books donated to the local library this week were: The Castaway (Rives) received from L. S. Wood, and Pinocchio (Collodi) contributed by Miss Lois Saling.

The front of Goodwin's drug store and the interior of Frank Price's neat grain office profited this week from the operation of Merritt Baker's paint brush.

Mrs. S. J. Culley left for Pendleton this morning for a day's visit.

Weston friends extended cordial greeting this week to Geo. Carmichael, who was over from his Walla Walla home.

A premature "soaker" hit this section Wednesday and delayed the harvest. Merritt A. Baker, government observer, reports the local precipitation to have been no less than one and five-hundredths inches. The lowland crop is more than three-fourths harvested, but threshing has just begun in the uplands, where, however, no damage from fallen grain is reported. Heavy wheat as yet uncut around Weston is down pretty badly. Sim Culley has 145 acres at the DeGraw farm which has lodged more or less, and Frank Greer 30 acres.

If you were fat and wished to be lean, if you had a work horse and wanted a trotter, if you had a short man's car and needed a long-leg auto—what would you do? You'd offer to sell or trade. Worth Watts will sell his Overland 4 Sedan or exchange it for a satisfactory car of more leg room. A coupe of same make preferred.

H. A. Street had a fine barley crop, averaging around 41 sacks to the acre, at his place south of town. His wheat went better than 40 bushels.

Frank Snider has had a letter of inquiry from the United States agricultural experiment station in Montana, and another from a banker at Hilgard, Montana, with regard to his weed cutter. The writers want to know what quantity he can furnish and at what terms. The Weston-made machine is found to be especially adapted to Montana operations on lands where it has been tried out.
