

ARE YOU PREPARED FOR WINTER?

The cold weather is not far off and it is wise to think of preparing for the winter months. How are you going to heat your home this winter? Are you going to be content with inefficient and wasteful methods or are you going to install new and modern heating facilities that will give you the most heat and comfort for the lowest cost. It is time right now to prepare, whether you want a new stove or a furnace.

We have tried to select for our stock of heaters only those stoves that we know will give the greatest satisfaction at the least cost for fuel. We can furnish you with the well known

BUCK'S FURNACE—Pipe or Pipeless

We believe that the BUCK'S is the very best furnace to be had and want every person who is contemplating the installation of a furnace to investigate the BUCK'S. We will leave it to your good judgment.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Tierney of Pendleton were Sunday guests at the G. DeGraw residence. Mrs. Tierney was one of the earlier graduates of the Weston Normal, and spent her girlhood here.

Mrs. R. W. Brown of Ione, Morrow county, visited her daughter, Mrs. Joe Read, in Weston this week while on her way to Walla Walla.

Well on the road to recovery, Mrs. W. S. Price has returned home from St. Anthony's hospital at Pendleton.

A little movement was reported Saturday in the local wheat market, growers having parted with around 30,000 bushels.

Dr. H. C. Curry, eyesight specialist, formerly of Walla Walla and now of Seattle, who makes regular visits to Weston, will make the next professional visit Monday, September 13, for one day only. He will be remembered for his good optical work at reasonable prices. Eyes examined and glasses fitted. (Adv.)

Professor A. W. Lündell, former director of the Weston band, led the Pendleton Roundup band of 22 men during the Labor day celebration at Baker. Leon Lundell and Rulon Smith were enlisted from Weston.

McBride Bros. cropped 4200 sacks of wheat from 230 acres of their Wild Horse holdings, and sigh with relief that the harvest is over. Not getting action until after the rain; they put both the Bell combine and the J. A. King stationary outfit in the field.

Mrs. H. V. Compton and children came down last week from the mountain ranch and are occupying the Lane cottage on Normal Heights. They will spend the winter months in town in order to give the children the benefit of Weston school instruction.

I am agent for Franco-American Toilet and Household Requisites. Call at residence. Mrs. Will Payne.

That affable old campaigner, Zoeth Houser, was in town from Echo this week in the interests of his sheriff candidacy on the republican ticket. Zoe's slogan is "Strict enforcement of the law and a fair deal for everybody."

Mrs. Susan Tucker has been very ill the past week with an attack of acute indigestion. Mrs. Florence Zigman, of Walla Walla, arrived Sunday to assist in caring for her mother.

The first meeting of the fall season of Swas-To-Ka Campfire occurred Saturday afternoon in the club room of Memorial Hall, a majority of the members being in attendance. Two visitors, Ora Webb and Naomi Beamer, were present. Honors were awarded Misses Bertha Starmer, Aileen Eagleton, Velma Banister, Kathleen Pedersen and Charlotte Hass. Plans covering various features of the work were discussed and applicants for membership considered. The organization is in splendid condition for the resumption of winter activity.

Golden Glow (the Sunshine Flower) is a favorite shrub for fall gardens. The charming effect produced by their bright yellow blossoms attracts the attention of those who view the yards of E. M. Smith, the William Browns and Mrs. Martha Van Winkle.

Charles E. Hall has bought the Johnson cottage on Normal Heights from F. E. Tobin and will occupy and improve it. He intends to excavate a basement and make other changes for the better. Mr. Hall has also purchased two lots in the rear of the property.

George Waddingham is here from Milton for a visit with relatives.

Miss Edith Cooper, former Weston schoolgirl, visited friends this week while on her way to Moscow to enroll in the University of Idaho as a student of home economics.

Mrs. A. J. McIntyre and Mrs. J. J. Beeler motored Tuesday to Pendleton, where Mrs. Beeler spent the day at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. W. Fehr.

Seven fat grouse fell to the guns of R. L. Reynaud, Bill Beaton and Jim Beaton on a recent morning hunt to a locality concerning which they preserve a mysterious silence.

J. W. Twigg, farmer and stockman of Nevada, Missouri, motored out to Weston, arriving this week, for a visit at the home of Col. F. G. Lucas. Mr. Twigg, who is a brother of Mrs. Lucas, says the Weston country is just about the best he saw on his trip.

Claude and Leonard Snider, who have been showing their uncle in Morrow county how to farm, have returned to Weston to attend high school.

J. B. Kennedy of Pendleton visited Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. S. Payne.

Scott Banister and Robert Lee had cut about a thousand acres with their combine up to Sunday. This week they finished threshing the "down wheat" on a quarter section of Frank Greer's holdings, and succeeded in saving it to pretty good advantage. The average was around 40 bushels. Mr. Greer estimates that the crop would have gone about 45 bushels had it remained standing.

There is quite a bit of "moving around" on the part of the local populace. The Sidney Tuckers and the Leon Millers have taken apartments in the dormitory. The Tom Bookers have rented the G. G. Ellis residence on north Franklin. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davis have taken a lease on the W. A. Graham place and will move to town from Dry creek.

Clem Duncan has leased the Otho Reeder place of 240 acres, fine wheat land, near Spofford station, eight miles south of Walla Walla. Clem is moving to his new home with his family, as there is a good school near. For the past eight years he has been with the Watta Bros. as ranch foreman on their Pine creek holdings.

Swas-To-Ka Campfire members will hold a cooked food sale at the store of the Weston Mercantile Co. Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. In addition to salads, cakes, pies and other dainties there will be a plentiful supply of home-made candy to tempt prospective buyers.

Geo. Nesbit was here this week from La Grande, where he has employment with a hardware and implement store.
