BREVITIES

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Fisk were dinner guests Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith at their attractive home in Athena.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Woods and children journeyed Wednesday to Lewiston, Idaho, to share in a bountiful Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Smith dined upon Thanksgiving turkey and pumpkin pie at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson H. Jones.

During the thunder storm last Friday evening J. N. York lost a Belgian mare for which he had refused an offer of $275. The luckless animal was struck in the head by a bolt of lightning which broke numerous bones. This makes the third animal that Mr. York has lost from a lightning stroke in recent years.

W. M. Davis has sold to Lucien Gagnon a tract of garden and alfalfa land containing 25 1/2 acres near Wild Horse creek for $4000. The tract will be occupied by Mr. Gagnon's son, Clarence.

Miss Louise Rintoul was a weekend guest at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Smith in Athena.

At Monday evening's meeting of Stephanie Temple, Pythian Sisters, a most enjoyable social session was held. Those present were entertained with music and games and regaled with clam chowder, ice cream, cake and coffee. The refreshments were supplied by a committee of Knights of Pythias, and Claude Price cooked the delectable clam chowder in a manner that would have done credit to a Waldorf chef.

Clem Duncan and family of Spoford were among the Thanksgiving day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Iven O'Harra.

The Yakima section has shipped more than a million dollars worth of potatoes this season. Apple growers show a disposition to hold their product pending a favorable turn of the market, although shipments to date aggregate 4725 carloads.

Prof. and Mrs. F. C. Fitzpatrick and Miss Frank Harris Davis motored to Pendleton Friday on a combined business and pleasure trip.

That Spokane banks are not calling loans to farmers who are holding wheat in expectation of rising prices is indicated by the figures submitted in response to the call of the comptroller of currency effective at the close of business November 15. For the most part banks are continuing the farmers' credit and supporting them as best they can. The same conditions appear to obtain throughout the Inland Empire, according to a Spokane dispatch.

Stevens Lodge, Knights of Pythias, conferred the third rank Wednesday evening upon J. V. Smith and Victor Thoeny.

V. L. Marr has disposed of his interests near Antelope, Oregon, and together with his family is visiting at the home of Mrs. Marr's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Hopkins.

Mr. Mrs. Newton O'Harra is a patient at St. Anthony's hospital, Pendleton, where she submitted to an operation Monday for the excision of her tonsils.

J. E. Jones has received the welcome news of an improvement in the condition of his mother, Mrs. Jerry Jones, who resides at Lovilia, Iowa. She has been very seriously ill.

George House, local insurance man, has returned from a visit to Baker and Ontario. He made the trip by automobile, and had a hard time getting back across the mountains.

The Warren Construction company is strengthening Weston's Main street bridge with heavy timbers. The company's motive is not wholly altruistic, as it wants its employees to get across the bridge safely with big, rock-laden trucks.

Joe Clodius writes to Iven O'Harra from San Diego that he is "feeling okay" and going fishing twice a week. He says that San Diego's streets are alive with "blue jackets" from 80 war vessels stationed in the harbor.

The grade pupils of Weston school gave a very enjoyable entertainment Wednesday afternoon in the High school assembly room. A dramatization of Longfellow's "Miles Standish" by the pupils of Miss Isaacson's room occasioned much favorable comment. Wendell Phinney as Captain Standish, Miss Maxine Culley as Priscilla, and Cecil Greer as John Alden, pleasingly interpreted their respective characters. Songs and recitations—one of the most noteworthy numbers being given by Raymond Banister—completed the program, which was witnessed by a large audience of school patrons.

Drugging show time Saturday night Goodwin's drug store was entered and robbed by unknown thieves who took out an entire window at the rear, about six by nine feet in dimensions, and set it down without breaking a pane of glass. Nothing

Carrying the Crops.
(The National City Bank, of New York.)

It has been well said that the portion of all crops which is not wanted for consumption until months in the future must be carried somewhere, and that it may as well be carried in the hands of the farmers as elsewhere. Indeed, that is the best place for it, if the farmer can afford to take the risk of further declines, and always subject to the obligation which rests upon the farmer as well as every one else, to pay his current debts with reasonable promptness. The whole business structure rests upon the expectation that men will do as they agree, and that the flow of payments in trade will be kept moving. Anything like a general suspension of the payments which fall due in the regular course of business, compelling merchants and others to default upon their obligations, would make the whole situation so much worse that the farmers along with other people would be worse off because of it. Nobody is justified in refusing to meet his obligations when they are due because it will cause him inconvenience or require a sacrifice, for his doing is likely to hold up a string of payments and cause inconvenience and sacrifice to many people. Everybody should do his part to maintain conditions as near normal as possible. A farmers' conference in Washington last week resolved in favor of selling to meet the regular demands for consumption, and this is putting it very well.
