made of the case is unknown. He is a son of one of the wealthiest farmers in the county and is also known to be possessed of considerable means of his own. He is thought to be easily able to buy watches and jewelry, and he is said to have had plenty of gasoline at home the very night he raided the garage pump. In the absence of any reasonable motive for his acts, the charitable view is common that he is obsessed with kleptomania and is by no means a mentally responsible lawbreaker.
