Miss Vida Staggs came up from Pendleton Friday to share in the Christmas festivities of the E. W. Achilles household.

Entertaining and appropriate programs were given at the various Weston churches on Christmas eve. Music, artistic decorations of greenery, and gifts for Sunday school pupils all combined to make the affairs delightful ones for the children.

G. E. Andrus, the father of Mrs. Lewis P. Gilliland of Weston, died Monday at his home at Range, Grant county. Mr. Andrus was 75 years old, and is survived by Mrs. Andrus and their five sons and five daughters. He conducted a blacksmith shop in Walla Walla in early years, but for the past two decades had been engaged in farming and stockraising in Grant county.

Miss Gladys Ann Edwards and Mr. Ralph H. Lansdale were united in marriage December 23, 1920, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Edwards, in Freewater. They will make their home on Weston mountain, where the young bridegroom is engaged in farming.

Six children, all of them under eight years of age, are reported to be ill in the family of William Fehr in the Pea Ridge district. Two of them are down with pneumonia.

Ernest and Ruth Smith of Athena are guests this week of the Calder twins, Ada and Margaret.

Joe Hodgson left Tuesday on a business trip to Portland, and upon his return will be ready again for grand jury service.

For several days following the recent chinook Earl Barnett, mail carrier on route one, was unable to make his rounds, because of the huge snowdrifts in the road. He went up part way, however, and was met by mountain residents. Will Beathe, W. H. Warfield and Verlin Haviland broke out a trail from Basket Mountain schoolhouse to Tamarack church by using about 16 head of horses. Wholly unleashed, these faithful animals followed along after their leaders in the snow as though breaking trails were a pleasant pastime.

William Van Winkle leaves today for Eugene to begin the study of law at University of Oregon. He expects to devote six years to the task of earning his sheepskin.

Herman Staggs is here from the Staggs & Sons holdings in the Rattlesnake flat district to enjoy a Christmas vacation. The firm is operating on an extensive scale, having plowed 3200 acres, of which about 1300 acres is seeded. Herman reports abundant moisture and fine prospects for next year's crop.

An enjoyable family gathering Christmas day at their home in the Walla Walla valley included Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ross, the host and hostess; William Ross and family of Washtucna, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ross of Dayton, A. M. Ross and Master Neil Ross of Weston, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cannon of Athena, James Bradburn and family of Portland, James McLean and family of Washtucna.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lumsden were guests Christmas day at the Arnold Woods home near Athena.

Miss Dorothy Bullfinch, who is teaching this year in the Yakima public schools, is passing the holiday vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bullfinch.

Mrs. Amy Van Skiver went to Pendleton Saturday morning to meet Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Swaggart, who came over from their home near Baker for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Nelson were here from their home on the Snake river for a Christmas visit.

Precipitation for the year ending December 28, 1920, of 23.55 inches is shown by the records of Merritt A. Baker, local weather observer. Although 1920 is popularly supposed to have been a very wet year, this record is only slightly more than the average annual precipitation of 23.47 inches. The moisture was not distributed evenly but came in copious bunches. Thus we had a dry spring but a wet fall. The month of February showed no rainfall whatever.

John D. Parks, old-time Westonian, is with us again, after a visit with his sister at Palouse City, Wash.

Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Morrison and daughter of Walla Walla, and Mr. Taylor of Richland, Oregon, were guests for Christmas dinner of the Richard Morrisons.

Walter Price, retired farmer and leading citizen of Waitsburg, Wash., is visiting his cousins, "the Price boys," at Weston.

Miss Mamie Barnes came up from Pendleton to spend the Christmas holidays with the S. A. Barnes family.

Charley Price, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Price, has been seriously ill with quinsy at their home on the mountain.

Mrs. Amanda Hartley and Frank Hartley of Clarkston, Wash. were Christmas guests at the home of Mrs. Will Payne, who is a daughter of Mrs.

Hartley. Mr. Hartley, who more than a score of years ago was a Weston resident, is now head janitor of three school buildings at Clarkston.

Miss Alice Dowd of Washtucna is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Gould.

Charles Phipps of Pendleton and Alvin Phipps of Antelope, Oregon, were guests Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Will Payne.

E. E. Faust, well known mountain farmer, is convalescent, after an attack of the grip.

Rev. J. W. Slaton of Dayton, Washington, will preach Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist church.

Dinner guests at the G. DeGraw residence on Christmas day were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Larson and Miss Glenadine Larson of Walla Walla, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Culley and Miss Maxine Culley.

Mrs. Rebecca Culley, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Stanfield, Charles R. Culley and family and Clifford Culley were entertained Christmas day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Maloney in Pendleton.

Fred and Frank Rhone of Palouse, Wash., are spending the holidays at the home of their sister, Mrs. Cecil Hyatt.

Miss McCorkell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCorkell, is under Dr. McKinney's care with a serious illness at the home of her grandparents in this city.

Miss Hilda Larson of the Umatilla school faculty is a vacation guest of her sister, Mrs. Roy Hyatt. Miss Larson was formerly teacher in the Upland school.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Key, now residing on the Gene Wells place on Couse creek, are holiday guests of the Joe Keys.

A lynx measuring four feet from tip to tip has been trapped by the Dickman boys on Weston mountain.
