ONCE TO EVERY WOMAN

Directed by
ALLEN HOLUBAR

ONCE in every woman's life comes a certain great moment. It will come to you—just as it came to Aurora Meredith. What do you think it is? You'll know when you see this great picture—a play that every woman in the world will understand.

A mighty production for which a whole opera was staged, with the social leaders of a great western city acting as "extras." Played by the famous star of "The Heart of Humanity" in a way that you'll never forget, here is one of the finest entertainments of the season.

MOTHER LOVE is the motif of this superb seven-reel picture, which every parent should see. Dorothy Phillips enacts the leading role with wonderful sympathy and charm. Mr. John F. McNee will sing "Ben Bolt" and "Home, Sweet Home." Two-reel Harry Lloyd comedy, Haunted Spooks. A GREAT SHOW. You'll say it is!

FRIDAY, FEB. 25, 1921

Entered at the postoffice at Weston, Oregon as second-class mail matter.

The fact cannot too often be driven home that war costs the United States more than ninety cents of every revenue dollar. Here is something pertinent from the Saturday Evening Post: "The greatest of all disturbers of price levels and industrial equilibrium are war and heavy armaments. Unless the chances of war and the burden of armaments can be lessened there is as much hope of escaping the pains of future deflation and inflation as there is likelihood of a chronic drug fiend retaining through life a perfectly normal nervous system. The disease of excessive price movements will never be cured by any remedies except those which reach the causes."

The same Germany that is now complaining of the alleged harshness of the allies' demands announced as late as the middle of 1918, according to the New York Times, that she would impose the entire cost of the war, computed by herself, on the nations she was about to conquer. She boastfully proclaimed that "we will compel them to drag the chains for a hundred years." She now forgets that she herself forged the fetters she will be compelled to wear—for a less time, however, than half a hundred years.

The Washington Wheat Growers' association has reached the fifteen million bushel goal in its drive to sign up wheat in the three Pacific Northwest states before March 1, according to Bruce Lampson, association organizer. Its success will now depend upon the wisdom with which it handles the wheat.

Boom times were not occasioned by the present tariff, nor will slack times be enlivened by an emergency tariff. The reason for better conditions and better wages in this country than in Europe has always been found in far greater opportunities for individual initiative and industry—not in "protection." Just now the tariff question has become one of extreme difficulty and delicacy, if the United States would collect in goods the huge debts owing it from Europe.

President Ritner was the only member of the senate who had courage enough to vote against Egbert and Roberts' H. J. M. S. memorializing Congress in behalf of the wool fabric label bill requiring cloth and garments to be labeled as to their percentage of virgin wool. Speaker Bean was the only member of the house who did likewise. Thus the two presiding officers went on record against the unanimous sentiment of wool growers, says Oregon Voter.

No matter how "hard up" you may feel, you are rich in comparison with the starving peoples of China and Armenia. You know that you can easily help fill a few plates on the big relief table. Fifteen thousand people are dying daily in the Chinese famine district. But for the accident that you were born on this side of the globe, one of them might have been you.

We do not think that Old Man Oregon will ever be accused of excessive generosity in raising the salary of his chief executive, as now proposed, to $7500 a year. This sum wouldn't be pocket money for a movie star.

Bulgian is quoted as saying at Walla Walla that "every man outside the church is a hypocrite." We can fancy the alleged hypocrites replying that he ought to bulge out until he gets broader.

Although Governor Lowden aspired to be president of the United States, he did not consider himself qualified for the navy portfolio in Harding's cabinet.

Strapped to a parachute, a daring army aviator "took a drop" (of 22,000 feet) without unduly arousing the prohibition sleuths.

Says the Saturday Evening Post: "In time of war a nation cannot tolerate pacifism; in time of peace it must not tolerate militarism. One who by word or deed impairs the solidarity of the country when it is at grips with an enemy is doubly its foe; one who in time of peace tries to keep alive the war spirit is no less dangerous."

The Ford theory that Jews were largely responsible for starting the war in order to make a profit out of it, is rather novel. It would indeed be a startling revelation to the starving Jews of Central Europe.

We had never heretofore heard of the island of Yap, awarded to Japan by the League of Nations, but it must have Australia looking like a chip in a tub if it is big enough to hold all the Yappers.

The role of Von Tirpitz as naval mentor for Germany was so conspicuously unfortunate that the advice he now extends to the United States may be useful in determining what not to do.

Germany will have to admit that she was on the wrong side of the war before she gets on the right side of Uncle Sam.

A large moonshine factory in New York blew up itself and owner with a deafening report. He kept still—but it didn't.

The Russian Bolsheviks are indulging what, for them, is a capital idea—but it doesn't happen to be shared by capital.

And has it occurred to anyone how unusually refreshing it will be to have a Mellon at the administration board?

Hoover wants a man-size job, so that he will not be regarded as a runt in the administration family.

Evidently Uncle Sam wants to do as much kicking over the decisions as though he wore a league uniform.

Speed the day when the United States will never need a secretary of war nor a secretary of the navy!

Taken as a whole, it looks as though Warren G. had made a pretty fair catch in his cabinetting.

We gather from what Henry Ford is saying about the Jew that Hebrews trouble, as it were.

Ireland is the sort of a country which it is more agreeable to pass than to pacify.

WESTON SCHOOLS

Owing to the fact that Helix High school does not belong to the Oregon State High School Athletic association, the Weston five will not play the Helix team. Such an act would lay Weston open to the same fate that has overtaken Pendleton—expulsion from the league.

A half-holiday was enjoyed Tuesday by the school in commemoration of Washington's Birthday. Some of the grades held a fitting program.

The High school will soon figure with the Weston Mercantile on baseball suits for this year. Although the number of boys in High is only ten, a fair team may be "selected."

The movie presentation given by the school was attended by a fair crowd, in spite of the weather. The picture, "The Soul of Youth," was listed by the Board of Reviewers as one of the "40 best" for the year 1920.

A new shipment of laboratory equipment for the physics class has arrived. Much needed material is among the articles, and "lab" work will be carried on with more ease and speed than usual.

The school is still wondering why John Banister didn't make a speech during his recent visit. Maybe he's bashful.

Athena defeated Weston at basket ball last Friday by a score of 32 to 28 in a close and well contested game on the enemy's floor. Emery Worthington was referee.

Letters for basket ball were awarded to the following last Wednesday: Harold Phinney, Anson Payne, Walter Rayborn, Claude Snider, Leonard Snider, Leonard Bulfinch and Nard Jones.

The first baseball practice of the season was held by the High school last Tuesday.
