

Works are soon to be established on the river Platte for the preparation of an extensive scale of Mr. T. F. Henley's desiccated meats and extracts. Mr. Henley squeezes a definite amount of juice out of the fibre, the fibre is then dried, and the juice evaporated in vacuum pans, each being exceedingly rich, palatable and nutritious. The system of partial desiccation, by currents of refrigerated air, which was so successfully applied to the cargo of Texas beef on the steamer Firefly, has been employed with equal success for the preservation of poultry, game and delicate fruits. Peaches in midwinter, and cheap poultry in midsummer may ere long be confidently looked for.

AN INFERNAL WELL.—In Sangamon county, Illinois, near the village of Laconi, in sinking a well recently, the workmen came to a body of water. A most remarkable feature about this strange body of water is that, though almost ice-cold, it is stirred by some hidden force, and boils and bubbles up to the height of several feet above the level when at rest, and that this commotion of the water occurs at regular intervals—an hour or rest succeeded by an hour of bubbling—and so on, alternating from calm to troubled waters.

Sir William R., being at a parish meeting, made some proposals which were objected to by a farmer. Highly enraged, he said to the farmer: "Sir, do you know that I have been at two universities, and at two colleges at each university?" "Well, sir," said the farmer, "what of that? I had a calf that sucked two cows, and the observation I made was, that the more he sucked, the greater calf he grew."

Monday, November 20th, will long be remembered by the printers of New York. On that day the venerable Joseph Bradley completed his ninety-sixth year. Mr. Bradley is the oldest living printer in the United States, if not in the world. He still works at the case in the Sun office, and, for correctness and speed, can put to blush many who are scores his juniors.

On the firm of Mr. Cyrus G. Smith, of Newmarket, N. H., are a white-oak, fifty feet tall, and a hemlock, ten feet less, the butts of which seem to be united one or two feet up. Further up a limb of the oak grows through the hemlock, and then a hemlock through the oak, beating the Siamese twins by long odds.

The question having arisen in a lawsuit whether certain animals were sheep or lambs, the decision was made, according to North and Home, not by the age, which was fifteen months, but by testimony as to whether they had their first permanent teeth. Legally, then, a lamb becomes a sheep when it gets its first permanent teeth.

A rich bachelor of New Jersey recently died, leaving by will several legacies, of from ten to twenty-five thousand dollars each, to ladies who had rejected him. He said that they had afterwards grown to be so ugly that he could not be sufficiently grateful.

Among the evidences of the productive power of Pennsylvania, noted in the census is Mr. William Parks, of Hare's Valley, Huntingdon county, about sixty-five years of age, twice married, and the father of twenty-six children, with the prospect of still increasing the number. Nearly all boys.

ENTHUSIAST.—An enthusiastic admirer of beautiful women recently started a friend: "Been to church this morning," he asserted, "To church?" "And such necks. Full and white and good enough to eat—six of them all in a row; watched 'em all through service. O, my! such necks!"

Profanity never did any man the least good. No man is richer, or happier, or wiser for it. It commends no one to any society. It is disrespectful to the refined, abominable to the good, insulting to those with whom we associate, degrading to the mind, unprofitable, needless and injurious to society.

CLASSIFICATION OF WOMEN.—The following foul slander is floating through the press: A heartless old cotton broker this classed the women of the present day: "As mothers and daughters from fair to middling; as wives very rarely low ordinary."

An old lady gave this as her idea of a great man: "One who is keener of his clothes, don't drink spittle, kin read the Bible without spilling the words, and eat a cold dinner on wash-day without grumbling."

Mrs. Thomas Keese, formerly of Baltimore, died recently at Canton, Ohio, of cancer. She tried the plant known as "conularago," with beneficial effects for about a fortnight, after which it appeared to aggravate the disease.

Marshal MacMahon is noted in the French army as a great snob. He disposes of about forty cigarettes a day, and this compares favorably, in this respect, with our Great American Smokist and Chief Executive.

The whole of human virtue may be reduced to speaking the truth, and doing good to others.

AGENTS WANTED FOR SATAN IN SOCIETY.
By an eminent physician and Professor in one of our large Medical Colleges. It deals fearlessly, but chastely, with evils from which spring physical and moral degradation, and domestic infelicity. It is being reviewed—praised and criticized, by all the leading religious and secular papers and magazines in the U. S., and the verdict of the press and public is that it is a remarkable Book; that it is timely; that it is needed; that it will make its mark, and do good.
It is of vital importance to every man and woman in the land, and is having a wonderful sale.
Agents will find this a rare opportunity to make money. Circulars, giving full particulars, with numerous notices of the press, sent free.
